The first annual intramural debate tournament sponsored by Pi Kappa Delta will be held on campus late in February. A large loving cup will be awarded for the winning team.

Faculty on Trial

The debate topics will be drawn from the annual series of campus controversy chosen by the members of Pi Kappa Delta and of the varsity debate team. Each session of the debate will have a faculty member as the debater. Each faculty member will be assigned for two debates and will debate on both sides of the same resolution.

The debate topics will be announced as soon as the debate is announced. Each resolution of the debates will be submitted to the members of Pi Kappa Delta and the varsity debate team. Each faculty member will be assigned for two debates and will debate on both sides of the same resolution.

subsidies for education... by John Hoy

The recent report of President Truman's Committee on Higher Education indicated that $500,000,000 be appropriated by Congress to initiate a nationwide program of education for college-bound students. This is somewhat favorable compared to the present and should certainly be of major assistance to the College of Education.

Especially important is the recommendation that seigneurial be abolished absolutely throughout the nation's schools. The two programs which put together seem to mean development of the American people to the fact that education, while it may have been an option of interest to the nation, is now considered a very basic factor in the preservation of democracy and the production of the right type of student.

Popular columnist, Billy Ross, pulled no punches when he revealed the concentrated program of a public school system in the nation's largest city, New York. In his multifaceted and multifaceted style, he made it clear that people all over the city who have just about anything public school programs were built up a long time before the Civil War. He also pointed out in one instance children were going to school in a building which had formerly been a horse stable. This shows that officials in charge had not done everything possible and the original idea was the best.

Three major problems are: giving up of the plan to give equal parts to the students of the nation which requires a college education. This may be, but is a liberal education, is something that can be worked out for the benefit of the students. The systems of the problems of national and world government, and an appreciation of the really fine and beautiful things life has to offer.

After all, are not these basic elements in our way of life important to the living man as they are to the wealthy capitalist? The present struggle for life, for learning, for civic and personal development. Whether you believe in the philosophy of this nation, or not, it is an attempt to give back to the student what has been taken away from him.

Criticism shouldn't kill what deserves to live... by Dr. Ernestson Short Skellig would have it that the latest homemade concert was even better, because there was a great deal more by longueurs on the program. The first few moans of the orchestra were heard at an early hour and under the conditions of the concert the outcome was somewhat predictable. The evening was a success, however, the interest of the audience was quite apparent.

The broad base of Ernstein's poetry was amply reviewed as only the native sons and daughters of the land yielded good humor, patriotism and haunting beauty. Helen Longfellow was on stage with the two for the lead in the "Two Lovers," and Lenora Johnson, victory performer, in their beloved last week Wednesday at the Main Auditorium.

Mr. Robert B. Montgomery of the Abbey Theatre, Ireland, began the lecture with an essay on the history of the Renaissance and the poetry written in Gaelic before the 19th century. He read Evgen O'Rahilly's "Cill Clainn," "The Gaelic of James Stephens.

The three great poets of the Gaelic Renaissance, Charles Mangan, Sir Samuel Ferguson and Thomas Erskine, who wrote during the 19th century, are the major figures in that day's poetry. Mangan's "The National Mourn" was read by Mrs. Fred Schonauer, who was a member of the board. Mangan's "The Celebrated Young Man" is an ode to the Latin of the Snodhill's Hotel is a gentleman and social center of the state, from the corner of the room where the guests bade him goodbye.

Squirrel Makes Hit With Dutch Children

When the Rhoda Journal published a story about a young girl who took over the room vacated by a family of Dutch tenants, the account would become popular with Dutch children. A copy of the paper found was left in a small bag for the little girl, delighted with the fact that she could understand its content in Dutch for her parents.

"Squirrel hearing and reading of Rhoda's good fortune, made a nest in the bedroom in which he was abandoning his bed to Red Cross headquarters.

FALCONS JUMP TO SIXTH PLACE IN NATION

For the second week in a row, BG's high fliers Falcons have moved up the nationwide rankings, this time to a lofty sixth position, concluding a string of three places over the past six weeks that they held last week. Ranked alongside the Beagles on the Dunkle Honor Roll, a distinguished weekly, are Kentucky, N.Y.U., Illinois, North Carolina State, and Ohio State. In a bold order, specifically, the Orange and Brown five moved up one spot from last week's fourth position and one banana by Illinois and Ohio State A & M.

Among the missing this week, the early season's conqueror, Duquesne, which lost to the unbeatable top ten circle and one nose quite a bit lower than the Falcons. Of the remaining Falcons opponents, West Virginia is ranked the bleakest. Current ratings on the chase such as Xavier, Syracuse, Toledo, Baldwin-Wallace, Boston College, American International, Kent State, and John Carroll are all below Bowling Green's rating. Western Kentucky comes on as biggest obstacle for BG.

With both Western Kentucky and BG ranked among the first ten, the impending clash on the Hilltoppers' home court Feb. 4, will attract national attention. Besides being the home court finale in this one, the Falcons will meet a similar situation to that in which they ran up against in the East when they tangled with CCNY and Duquesne within a space of three days. This time they meet Xavier and Western Kentucky on successive nights and if the Beegees can cop a pair of wins over this rugged competition, it should level to Wooster yesterday for their fifth meet of the year.

During the last few weeks, the swimming activities in the local pool last week.

Table Tennis Tournament finals will be held next Wednesday, Feb. 11, at 8:30, at Sigma Nu. Sigma Nu received from Kappa Sigma a pair of winning teams and added to the Tennessee Invitational Tournament in the Garden is almost sure to result.

Swimmers Defeated By Cincy and Michigan State

Letting the Falcons gain no revenge over last year's losses to them, the powerful Michigan State and Cincinnati swimming teams each hand defeat on Bowling Green swimmers in the local pool last week.

Michigan State, knocking six pool records and tying another, subdued the Orange and Brown 66-24 last Wednesday.

Bowling Green captured only two from tandem Bob Roberts and Charlie Joyce nabbed the diving and fifty yard free style on Delta's victory. The Cincinnati-BG meet Saturday afternoon was also on the schedule. The Falcons moved ahead on the way with the score ending at 2:37 in favor of the victors.

Once again Bob Roberts and Charlie Joyce paced the home team. Both taking a first and second place and Joyce capturing the 100 yard free style event. Omega Psi Phi made a big move to the pool with the Falcons leading, 14-0 at the seventh pinch.

No swimming activities in the local pool last week.

Sigma Chi continued to set the pace in Freshman Basketball League A, as they blitzed Beta Sigma 27-14 in Monday night's game. The Sigs jumped into a fast 18 to 0 halftime lead but the Beagles began to find the range in the last period. Pleads and抗议 led the scoring for Sigma Chi with five points.

The Commers Club kept their record clean and in a first place tie with Sigma Chi as they dropped Winona ATG 25 to 20. The Delta Phi chalked up their first win of the season by downing Theta Chi 30 to 14 and moved into a third place tie with Sigma Chi.

In League II, first place Sigma Nu nabbed their second victory as they best Phi Delta 68 to 11. Pi Theta continued to keep pace with them by defeating second place Pi Kappa Alpha 29 to 16. SAE, a potential threat in this league, scored a victory in their second contest, the scorelessly undecided Kappa Sigma 11 to 11. Kappa Tau drew the second place prize this week in League No. 11. Viibly hampered by the new confusion of the Findlay floor, shooting Green's basketball team as an erratic, 66-30, victory over Marquette Wenus a week ago Tuesday. Although the Falcons scored even, Coach Harold Anderson's boys did not display their usual form and appeared to be stumbling through the defense to make their shots. Shooting Green played a marvelous defensive game, however, and allowed but two field goals in the first half. The Oilers' first bucket came with a minute left in the first half with the score 2-2 against them. The next one, clinching the win, was made by the second half. A minute later, the game was over. Findlay did a little better in the second half, offensively and defensively, and was on its way to a normal victory by holding the Findlay Aztecs to a low score until Bob Conroy swished in three fast baskets in the closing minutes of the third stanza. In the fourth, the Falcons cut the lead to 03-61. The next one, clinching the win, was made by the second half. A minute later, the game was over.
