Dr. Mosely's Will Is Filed

Dr. Mosely died Sunday, June 6 in Johnston Hospital of coronary thrombosis.

The will stated that the money should be used to help students who are in need of financial assistance and to set up scholarships for graduate and undergraduate students.

He left his entire estate, valued between $50,000 and $100,000 in trust to Dr. Frank J. Prout, university president, after debts have been paid. The will was made in September, 1944 in the presence of attorneys S. W. Bowman and L. S. Middleton.

"Golden Spurt" was the title of the Commencement address which Dr. Ralph W. Sockman delivered Friday at Bowling Green graduation exercises. He is minister of Christ Church on Park Avenue, New York City, and of NBC's National Radio Pulpit, the oldest radio program on the air.

A vocal solo, "The Cross," was presented by senior Leah Sheperd.

Approximately 1,500 guests braved the threatening weather to witness the colorful ceremony.

BRAINS! BRAINS! BRAINS!

Hey! How Will You Rate In '48

Is your point average petrifying? Then you'll enjoy seeing how the campus sororities and fraternities stand when it comes to point averages for the past semester. Phi Beta Mu (now Zeta Beta Tau) upset Sigma Nu for the men's honors this semester and Sigma Rho Tau sorority kept the cup they had won two semesters ago for the highest average among the women.

The following are the scholastic standings of the sororities based on the first semester 1947-48:

- Sigma Rho Tau, 3.65870; Theta Phi, 2.54892; Chi Omega, 2.70082; Delta Gamma, 2.69018; Alpha Phi, 2.6500; Gamma Phi Beta, 2.60576; Alpha Gamma Delta, 2.50384; Alpha Chi Omega, 2.64729; Alpha Xi Delta, 2.62034; Phi Mu, 2.56936; and Kappa Sigma, 2.49641.

The following are the scholastic standings of the fraternities based on the first semester 1947-48:

- Phi Beta Mu, 2.62809; Sigma Nu, 2.62785; Pi Kappa Alpha, 2.47076; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 2.46433; Kappa Sigma, 2.90609; Pi Theta, 2.3058; Kappa Tau, 2.9967; Phi Delta, 2.2248; Alpha Tau Omega, 2.32309; Theta Chi, 2.11205; Sigma Chi, 2.07702; and Beta Sigma, 1.99459.

If "sufficient interest is shown," said Dr. Smith, "we hope to do a summer show." Dramatic production courses 144 and 346 will also meet in the Gate Theater at this time.
Falcons And Falconesses Are Frosh Handbook Stars

Think you're seeing things? Well, you're right! The falcons and falconesses have taken over the campus, at least the new freshmen will be led to believe. The above illustration is from the 1948 Freshman Handbook which is now at the printers.

The theme of the book this year is falcons. The "student falcon" (just like humans, almost) adorns its pages and are seen in the same pictures with actual photographs of students. The falcons are dressed in regular school clothes and are seen skating hand with Dr. Pout, lounging on Williams Hall steps, singing in church and pushing heavy foot locker around the dorms.

These clever drawings were created by the Handbook editor, Dick Lashart, and were drawn by Prof. Willard Wankelman and Ero Dottola of the art department. Mrs. Lee Z. Hafkin, instructor in the journalism, is adviser.

The publication is distributed to all incoming freshmen on being accepted at the University. It includes information on what to wear, campus building and living quarters, fraternities and sororities, clubs and organizations and many other features.

The Handbook is now at the printers and proof-reading will begin late this week.

Speaker Gives Rules For Living

The Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Stockman, New York, a native of Weston, O., addressed 380 seniors at commencement exercises last Friday at 4 p.m. in the University Amphitheater.

Widely known as one of the outstanding ministers and speakers in the United States, Dr. Stockman presented an inspiring address centered around four principal aims or "golden spurs" which he believes everyone should be conscious throughout life.

The pastor declared that possessing valid ideas is of great importance. "One function of religion," he explained, "is to give us those ideals which are of permanent value."

Groups Gas For Stassen

Two University mock elections showed Harold Stassen to be the leading candidate for president. If you had wandered into the meetings held several weeks ago by SCF and the Emerson Literary Society, this is what you would have heard. It was time for a rivaling mock convention to nominate a candidate for the presidential election.

At a regular meeting of the SCF public affairs group a short convention was held, giving five-minute speeches for each of the candidates up for nomination, with a resulting victory for Stassen.

The Emerson Literary Society held a complete mock convention with a student acting as head of the convention and other students giving short, lively speeches to convince the members of the convention that their man was the only man for president. A recess was called, during which time campaign managers tried to get votes for their candidates.

The second vote again revealed no majority vote for any candidate. After a third recess, and some very neat political maneuvering, a third vote was taken, with Stassen winning the nomination.

Critic Discusses The Novel

"The Miracle of The Bells" By A. L. McClain

(Editor's note: "The Miracle of the Bells" just completed its run at the Cinema Playhouse. It is one of those who might want to read the book, the review by Mr. McClain is printed below.)

"The Miracle of the Bells" is a book with a religious theme interwoven with the art of being a press agent.

Olga Treskovna is discovered by Bill Dunningan, a press agent, in the chorus of a burlesque show.

Through his efforts she goes to Hollywood and has a leading role in a picture. Before the release of "Garden of the Soul" she was the victim of a laborious press campaign. Her dying wish is that the bells of Coalstown, her hometown, be rung for herself and her late father.

Bill Dunningan goes to Coal-town and hires Father Paul, a coal-town pastor, to fulfill Olga's dying wish. The "miracle," the turning of two immovable statues inside the church actually is not a miracle, but a physical reaction to the underground structure of the church.

In an attempt to satisfy two classifications of readers two reviews will be given:

First for the sentimental—"Miracle of the Bells" is a sentiment piece of writing which reveals what can be accomplished in em-bittered people after their faith is restored. In his writing, Russell Janney generates a warmth for all those capable of being reached.

Second for the cautious — The book is a conglomerate of mand-arin nonsense designed by the author to play upon the commercial sentiment of a gullible mass.

There has proved that Olga is worthy of such an honor and one feels that the good priest has been rung, for herself and her late father.
