New Workshop Starts Monday

“Problems in Teaching The Language Arts” in the topic of the third and final session of the special summer Work Conferences for Elementary Teachers in Service, commencing Aug. 2. Miss Cora Day, supervising teacher of the second grade at Ridge Street School, now studying for her M.A. degree at O.S.U. will conduct the third session together with William S. Wagner, assistant professor in the Education Dept.

Committee study, discussion groups as well as lecture sessions, film strips and recordings will comprise the major part of the work, according to Prof. Wagner.

Library facilities are remaining open to teachers. The library arranged for the workshop courses will contain material especially applicable to this session. “Outside reading will be necessary as no specific textbook is being used," declared Prof. Wagner.

Three songa in this West African group of English songs which followed—"Out In The Fields" by Dawsun; "Revelation by Sasco; "The Narrative" by Nagushi and "Joy" by Watts were only fairly done. Perhaps Miss Moten had forgotten that the sliding tones often give over well in spirituals and in semi-classical music have no place in the classics.

The third part of the program was excellent. It included two Spanish folk songs by Manuel de Falla, "Cancion" and "Lullabye," a group of West African folk songs collected by Miss Moten in West Africa and three Negro spirituals, "The Pe Li! Orphan" and "March Down to Jordan" arranged by Eva Jessye, and "O, What a Beautiful City" by Keeth.

Taught Audience Tone

Before singing the West African folk songs Miss Moten not only taught the audience one of the tunes, but also gave the listeners a glimpse into the lives and beliefs of the inhabitants of this strange country. There were three songs in this West African group: "Esto, Esto," the story of a snail who travels slowly but finally arrives at its destination; "Gbe Wani Palla Saldaig" translated means everybody loves Saturday night; "An African Chant," in which the wife of an African chief mourns his death.

Proud Of Ancestry

Besides telling a few of her experiences while touring West Africa, Miss Moten gave some very valid reasons for her pride in her ancestry. Then, and again when she sang her two encores, "Summer Time" from the musical Porgy and Bess in which she played the title role and "Carloca," from the movie Flying Down to Rio, the soloist, portrayed her sparkling humor and dynamic personality.

Moten Concert Receives Acclaim

by Helen Mueller

Dynamic, attractive, poised, all describe Etta Moten, negro mezzo-soprano, who was so well liked by the audience gathered in the University's Main Auditorium, Wednesday, July 21.

The first and second portions of the program consisted entirely of classical numbers including "When I Am Lost In Earth" by Henry Purcell; "O La Sui" by Verdi; "Che Fiero Costume" by Giovanni Legrenzi; "Suicidio" from the opera La Gioconda by Puccchelli; "Disappointed Lover" by Brahms; "Death and the Maiden" and "Erl King" by Schubert and an aria from the opera Carmen by Bizet.

Some Numbers Only Fair

The third section and the group of English songs which followed—"Out In The Fields" by Dawsun; "Revelation by Sasco; "The Narrative" by Nagushi and "Joy" by Watts were only fairly done. Perhaps Miss Moten had forgotten that the sliding tones often give over well in spirituals and in semi-classical music have no place in the classics.

Your Help Needed...

I read a letter recently which started me to thinking. It was a beautifully-penned letter from a Filipino named Tevelo V. Calcutt and was addressed to John Conquest, a university senior.

John told me the story behind it. During the war, when the Navy landed on the Philippines, they had to shoot a few shells. One of these shells hit Mr. Cabrera’s house and killed his wife and mother and two sisters. You can all imagine how he felt about the entire incident.

When he was called in a few days later to aid the Navy in mapping out the island, he was very cooperative and aided them greatly in getting established there. He and John became friends.

The teacher asked John, who is a member of the SCT cabinet and a local church choir, to contact some persons and send him some song books, such as 101 Favorite Songs, Gray Song Book and list the books you would like to contribute, or you may send a few song books directly to Heidelberg.

If you can help, you may call at the SCF office from 1 to 5 p.m. and the lists the books you would like to contribute, or you may send them directly to Mr. Tevelo V. Cabrera, Manggahan, Panay Island, Philippine Islands.

Inside Bowling Green...

by The Man on the Inside

Elza Moten’s performance was an excellent effort to send a bright ray of understanding through the dark clouds of misunderstanding which are trying to blot out ALL of our country’s achievements. “All My Sons,” the Arthur Miller play which was presented by the University Theater last semester, is now having its first movie in New York, and is Mary Christmas. Edward G. Robinson and Bert Lancaster.

The Wesleyan Players turned in an almost professional performances with their streamlined version of Shakespeare’s plays. The work of Richard Snider on Macbeth was especially praised by our own Professor Eldan T. Smith.

Bob French and wife are pinning diapers on their brand new baby boy, Bob French, Jr. Also in the stock department—the John Reeder are pacing the floor nights with John Reeder, Jr. just arrived... Lee and Bert Hufnig celebrated their third wedding anniversary last week. They are the housemother and father for the PIAK house this summer.

More sensational stuff next week. Until then T.T.F.N.

Cleveland Browns Begin Pre-Season Grid Practice

Much of the best football talent in the world is among the 50 players of the All-America Conference champion Cleveland Browns taking part in two daily workouts on the Bowline Green practice field. Six players, Quarterback Otto Graham, Fullback Marion Motley, Guard Bill Willis, Tackle Lou Rymbus and Ends Dante Lavelli and Mac Speedie, were all-league selections last season. Rookie guard Alex Agase, of Illinois, is one of the few men to receive All-American rating three times.

Workouts take place at 9:30 and 3. Coach Brown is very anxious for students to come out and observe. "But," he adds, "I hope none of them get in the way because we don't want anybody getting run over."

Bowling Green has been the only training site used in the three year existence of the only champion the embryo league has known. In two years of competities Cleveland has lost but three games: one last season to the San Francisco 49'ers and to the Los Angeles Dons and the 49'ers in the 1948 campaign.

Conference Tougher This Year

"And how!" was Coach Paul Brown's answer when asked if he thought the All-America Conference would be tougher this year.

"But," he hastened to add, "we'll be a lot tougher ourselves."

In addition to the above mentioned all-league selections, Brown has picked up some of the outstanding college talent in the country. Ohio State stars Ollie James and Bob Brugge are mentioned all-league selections, Brown's roster. They are: Ed Susich, the Findlay fullback; Ara Parseghian, Miami halfback and quarterback Stan Magdziak, of William and Mary. Rookie Holda Veterans

Otto Graham heads the veteran strength. This former Northwestern All-American led the conference when he completed 60 per cent of his passes last season. Horace Gillom was the second best passer in the league with a 44 yard average. Diffusive center Lou Saban is considered one of the best line-backers in the business and the hard-changing 230-lb. fullback, Marion Motley should also help to carry out Brown's prediction.

An intra-squad game will be played here for a local charity on Saturday, Aug. 14, and the team engages in two exhibitions before the regular season gets underway. The first will be with the Baltimore Colts in Toledo and the last in Akron with the Buffalo Bills.

The squad usually works out in groups under its expert coaches. Bill Edwards handles the tackles; Frits Heisler, the guards; Dick Hallbacher, ends; John Brickies and Blanton Collier supervise the backs.

IM Champs Crowned in Links-Court Playoffs

Joe "Doggie" McCleary won the campus golf singles championship last night by defeating Curley Hoffman seven up and six to play in the scheduled 36 hole finals.

Golfers Curley Hoffman and Homer Millikan are BG's new intramural champs by virtue of their thrilling 37-hole 1-up victory over the Joe McCleary-Eddie Kuntz duo Saturday. Individual low scoring honors for the day long match went to Hoffman with a 120 total. McCleary and Millikan followed in that order with 128, 132 and 134 respectively.

On the tennis courts, Atkin and Holfsworth combined to trounce basketballers Chuck Share and Peanuts Long 6-0; 6-2 in the finals of the tennis doubles tourney and thus capture top honors for themselves in that event.

This week, the winners will participate in Toledo's Acquarama Tennis Tourney. The golf singles finals, a 36-hole affair between Hoffman and McCleary which was to have been played Sunday was postponed to a later date. The two finalists will play the match in 18-hole morning and afternoon sessions.

The tennis singles finals will be played between Holfsworth and the winner of the Rais-Atkins semi-final match.

Florida Cops Driving Match

Bay Florian walked away with a double win as he took long ball and average distance honors in the driving contest held on the university links with 25 contestants slated to participate.

Due to the poor weather conditions, Ray Whittaker announced that another contest will be held Thursday to decide the official winner.

Program Proves Success

Under the capable direction of Ray Whittaker, this summer's IM program has been very successful with a record number of contestants participating. Besides the golf and tennis tourneys, softball games and a horseshoe throwing contest were also held.
