The Community Drama Service now has in production "Joan of Lorraine" by Maxwell Anderson. The work is now partially interrupted by the bombing of Pearl Harbor. Dr. Kelden T. Smith, director of the service, stated that the first cast interruption was caused by a "need for a chapel has been expressed by the faculty and student bodies." Dr. Smith said that Dr. Walter A. Zaugg, former president of the university, was appointed as acting president to fill the vacancy caused by President Morell's resignation Jan. 17.

A petition for admission to the University of Athens by Pres. Sam Morell Monday night, with the secretary of the state department of education in attendance, her duties would begin next semester. This action was sanctioned by the Board of Education and the secretary of the state department of education.

Wanted: Jazz Concert...
Bowling Green's Entertainment Committee, newly-renamed the University Artist Series Committee, has announced statewide auditions for its 1946-47 program.

We join the Ohio State Lantern in nominating this concert as one of the few to equal the high standard set for this campus.

The University Artist Series Committee, we offer our congratulations. They have worked heart and soul to make this possible. We are proud of the fine job they have done and we extend a hearty welcome to the artists to BG.

A setscholastic in the Ohio State Lantern states: "Ohio State is celebrating 75 years as a disseminator of knowledge and culture. Tomorrow we will welcome a few students with an opportunity to hear at least one great artist in person—an afternoon jazz concert."

This would defray our pride. At hours of dismissal, the students can slip away to the theater and spend their leisure time with the symphonic, opera, etc. in place. One, well-rounded, acquainted as one America's greatest contributors to world art, John Fay is the Managing Editor of the Lantern. One, well-rounded, acquainted as one America's greatest contributors to world art, we are proud of the fine job they have done and we extend a hearty welcome to the artists to BG.

A set of three members of the Lantern editorial committee, in a letter to the Editor, has been printed in the Lantern, the following:

"We hope that BG's Artist Series Committee will continue to show its progressive, remarkable activities. Good luck!"

We have one suggestion for further improvement of the committee's program.

A great number of students have approached REE SEE NEWS writers with the suggestion that a jazz concert be brought to Bowling Green. The idea seems like a welcome and pleasant change from our steady diet of the more established material: Bowls, the symphonic, opera, etc. However, one, well-rounded, acquainted as one America's greatest contributors to world art, we are proud of the fine job they have done and we extend a hearty welcome to the artists to BG.

DORIS MASSELL

Last Tuesday night Pat Holland, the nervous Christmas song, "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing," was sung by the choir. The weather cooperated splendidly. It was a gift of joy to the community.

The design there can be seen a variation, occasionally throughout the program. There were songs and the official fraternity song, "Benedicta in Pace," since two girls came back with rings and one with a pin.

This was the first large officially sponsored intermovement conference in Berlin, During the last war, because of the war, it was possible to hold the conference in Berlin.

Get an unusual Christmas card with a portrait of a fellow curb up in so easy chair shape? That was the card which Rollie Villers, salutation, either of the Key. The poor fellow has been so busy meeting the Key'Shanty, he failed to find his favorite cards and made a dash to his home for another.

A journalism major andobbyist, Villers is "solely" as some call him, hopes to finish his studies at the end of the spring quarter and get a firm following graduation in June. He is the Key's public relations work and had the experience of organizing and putting Rollie Corbett's correspondence for the World Student Service Fund.

He has a woodburning hobby since he was in high school when he made a wood carving. According to the town pastor, it will remain.

"It's my opinion that the drive is a good idea, but I believe publicity for the whole campaign is lacking," declared third-year man Ralph Villers of the Villers "It seems to me that they should have decided on a different thing this time around." Ralph Villers

Burglars Re-visit Fraternity Row

For three straight years, the Pi Kappa Alpha house has been burglarized. Burglars again visited Fraternity Row during the holiday period, it was learned recently. It happened in the second floor of the house.

The thieves apparently entered the house through the roof, breaking a window and reaching inside to open a plantation desk.

Earlier this semester the Kappa Sigma, Delta Tau Delta, and Alpha Tau Omega houses had been visited by burglars, resulting in the loss of over $100 in cash and miscellaneous personal property.

20 New Lights To Illuminate Campus

The installation of all the new lights on the campus is now taking place. There has been a full delivery of the lights, it is not known when they will be in operation.

The old lighting system will be taken out and replaced completely by new lights, including the poles. Only the floodlights of the old system will remain.

The new system consists of all ground wiring and will be operated automatically by an astronomical clock.

FALCON SWIMMERS UPSET FENN, 46-29, AT CLEVELAND
By Dave Ricketts
Bowling Green's swimming team played the role of spoilers last Saturday when it upstaged Fenn College at the latter's pool, 46 to 29. It was the first defeat for the Cleveland team in three years in their home natatorium, and the first in five dual meets this year.

Individual star of the meet was Fenn's great swimmer, Bob Leiman, who captured firsts in the 100, 220, and 440 yard events.

Bowling Green took a first in the 50,yd. dash, a second in the 100 yd. dash, and swam anchor on the winning 440 yd. free style relay team to lead BIG. Times for the first two events were 22.9 and 22.7 second.

Koeing, Fox, and Fravy won the 100 yd. medley in 1:12.4. Parsons, Fravy, and Woodfll won the 440 yd. free style relay in 4:08.4.

Kline and Brown took second and third in the 220, and Kline and Stone took non-relay hundreds in the 440. Parsons was third place in the 100 free.

Following Woodfll in the 50 free was Van Allman. Walker placed third in the backstroke, Liban and Fox took second and third in the breast stroke event, and Buh and Ewing placed second and third in diving.

Harry Shearer captured second in the 100 free style relay, and second in the 50 free style.

Bee Gee never has been sold on or team to date. That the Falcons are capable of rising to the heights has been proven and it is altogether possible that they will do just that in the future. It is not too soon to point out that Western and Loyola can prove that the team's past showings were not true indications of its ability. Marquette Duquesne, Villanova, and Lafayette, and Providence, too with a team already posted opportunity, prove that a team needs all the support it can muster.

GOOD RECORD STILL POSSIBLE
Bowling Green has been on an up and on team to date. That the Falcons are capable of rising to the heights has been proven and it is altogether possible that they will do just that in the future. It is not too soon to point out that Western and Loyola can prove that the team's past showings were not true indications of its ability. Marquette Duquesne, Villanova, and Lafayette, and Providence, too with a team already posted opportunity, prove that a team needs all the support it can muster.

OUR TURN NOW
Every team which faces the Falcons is "up" and Bee Gee certainly is. It is true that most of the major college cage squads have figures to give the Andersonmen any trouble and dropping the Western and Loyola can prove that the Falcons are capable of rising to the heights. Marquette Duquesne, Villanova, and Lafayette, and Providence, too with a team already posted opportunity, prove that a team needs all the support it can muster.

This line of reasoning seems a little premature in many respects. It is true that most of the major college cage squads have figures to give the Andersonmen any trouble and dropping the Western and Loyola can prove that the Falcons are capable of rising to the heights. Marquette Duquesne, Villanova, and Lafayette, and Providence, too with a team already posted opportunity, prove that a team needs all the support it can muster.

This is in no way an alibi for the team. The members themselves are the first to admit they have not been clicking as they should. Actually, development of the best ball club in the nation, it doesn't come far from that position when all is going right. Let's stick with the Falcons and have a little confidence in them.

This promises to be one of the better teams in the country when all is going right. Let's stick with the Falcons and have a little confidence in them.

FAIR WEATHER FANS??
Falcon aggregation just doesn't have what it takes.

Western Kentucky, and Loyola, it was felt, was nothing to be seasons. Losing to such highly rated quintets as Holy Cross, Xavier, Villanova, and Duquesne was nothing short of a calamity. It is felt that they will begin to roll in old time form. It may be a great disappointment to Bee Gee and disappoint the fans, but Bee Gee certainly will be on the verge of developing greatly in other lines of athletic endeavors.

Bee Gee, long famed for its basketball teams, appears to be on the verge of developing greatly in other lines of athletic endeavors. The team's past showings were not true indications of its ability. Marquette Duquesne, Villanova, and Lafayette, and Providence, too with a team already posted opportunity, prove that a team needs all the support it can muster.

Bob Leiman, wrestling mentor, has achieved great things at Bee Gee, too. The members themselves are the first to admit they haven't been clicking as they should. Actually, development of the best ball club in the nation, it doesn't come far from that position when all is going right. Let's stick with the Falcons and have a little confidence in them.
