Trelle Clef Arouses Curiosity During Tour

By Jim Spooner

At a West Orange career recently, a group of high school students had the opportunity to attend a cultural presentation at the University of New York. The event was hosted by the University's Department of Performing Arts, under the direction of Dr. John Mires. The audience was composed of approximately 500 students from various high schools throughout the area.

The afternoon began with a lecture by Dr. Mires, who discussed the history and significance of the University's Department of Performing Arts. He emphasized the importance of cultural education and the role it plays in fostering a better understanding of the world.

Following the lecture, the audience was divided into smaller groups and given the opportunity to perform various activities. One such activity involved the creation of a mural using different materials and techniques. This activity was designed to encourage creativity and collaboration among the students.

Another activity involved the performance of a short play adapted from a classic Greek play. The students were divided into groups and assigned roles based on their interests and abilities. The play was performed in front of the audience, who were encouraged to provide feedback and suggestions for improvement.

In conclusion, the event was a resounding success, and the students left with a greater appreciation for the arts and a deeper understanding of their potential. The University's Department of Performing Arts is committed to providing opportunities for cultural education and artistic expression, and this event was a testament to their dedication.

Spring Sports Take Over Bee Gee Athletic Spotlight

Baseball, Golf, Tennis, and Track Programs To Begin

With the call of "play ball!" just two weeks away, the members of the Bee Gee baseball team are working under Assistant Coach Ray Low, most of whom have already begun the job of winning the squad down to 25 players.

One of the most important factors of potential baseball ability is recent experience in the sport, and unless a majority of the players have had some significant game experience, it is hard to make any amount of the team that they will carry.

The "new look" in the Falcon baseball team should prove an asset to the club, providing that Coach Roy Lee, who has spent most of his time in the Journalism Dept., returns to the coaching staff. Lee, who is in charge of the Falcon football squad, must reduce the squad down to 25 players or less a different agreement is made with the Falcon Athletic Council.

From there it will extend around the backstop and continue to the right field foul fence. The field is to start at the backstop, extend for 102 feet along the fence, and turn at the midpoint in the backstop.

One of the returning seniors is an indication of the team's strength. Paul Krotzer, a catcher on the varsity team last year, and newcomer, who has 210 pounds to swing, is expected to be a hitter's paradise. This year's team is an indication of the trend which has been established at Bee Gee over the past few years.

Assistant Coach Roy Lee, must also be anxious to acquire new talent and to receive the Most Valuable Player Award and final statistics showed that he earned the school's afternoon scoring award.

"The #11" former Cincinnati Western Hills performer tossed in 521 points in 31 games. This mark surpasses the 503 counter of another Wally Gray during the regular season of 1942-43. Harold Anderson's first year as Bee Gee's hardwood sheriff. Shaw tallied 444 in the 27 season games but added 76 in the NIT.

This makes the second year that the Falcon club has had the Falcon scoring column. Last season he counted 385. His three year total is 1142, only 178 short of Don Otten's four year mark of 1312.

Share also tucked up a very impressive shooting average from the field, hitting 47.1, a mark which should place him among the nation's top leaders in this department.

Mac Otten, who was Shaw's big conditioner for the valuable player award, was second in the scoring column with 387. Otten, one of the three seniors on the squad, scored 210 points for the Bowling Green造成 his three years of play. He was the recipient of the Most Valuable Player Award for the past two seasons.

In All-Opponent teams announced to date there has been a first string of Dayton, Toledo, Hillsdale, Lafayette, and Kent. He was also put on the second and All-NIT combine. The big first man was chosen for All-American honorable mention by Associated Press, United News, and the Press, Sporting News, and other influential authorities.

TO OUR FALCONS...

Our boys lost to Pratts in the NIT Tournament, but there is no need to worry. Each year in all Bee Gee basketball history has had a team been accepted the respect and admiration we a team.

Regardless of our location, the prevailing conversation was about the Bee Gee team. They were praised for their sportsmanship, their ability to take it and offering none in the losing game.

Andy and the boys are fighters. They are going back next year and with— all the will.

We want to New York, we lost the game but gained something in the hearts of everyone. Lots of luck next year boys.
