2-29-1988

Monitor Newsletter February 29, 1988

Bowling Green State University

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.bgsu.edu/monitor

Recommended Citation
https://scholarworks.bgsu.edu/monitor/910

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the University Publications at ScholarWorks@BGSU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Monitor by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks@BGSU.
Annual Tuition Raffle being held

The University Student Association (USA) is sponsoring an annual Tuition Raffle from Feb. 29 through March 15. Tickets are on sale now. The winner of the Raffle will be drawn on Friday, March 15.

To obtain a ticket, stop in the USA Office, PA 305, or enter the Student Union information desk. Tickets are available at the following locations:

- Student Union information desk
- USA office, PA 305
- University Bookstore
- Student Union
- Dining Halls
- Office of Student Affairs

Tickets can also be purchased online. To purchase a ticket, visit the USA Office, PA 305, or contact USA Office, PA 305, 400 University Hall, Bowling Green, OH 43403, or call 419-372-8550.

The winner of the Raffle will receive a 90% tuition credit toward any 18 credit hour full-time academic program for the 2013-2014 academic year. The winner must declare their intention to enter the Raffle within 10 days of notification by the USA office. The winner will be required to complete six sessions of registration for the 2013-2014 academic year. The winner will be required to pay the remaining tuition and fees for the 2013-2014 academic year as well as any fees associated with the registration process.

Auditions

The university theatre department will hold auditions for several upcoming productions. Auditions for the following productions will be held on specific dates and times:

- "Golden Boy" on March 21
- "Death of a Salesman" on April 9
- "The Country" on May 1
- "Othello" on June 9

The auditions will be held in the new theatre building located at 1201 University Blvd. Auditions are open to all students, and no previous acting experience is required. Interested students should contact the theatre department at 419-372-8550 for more information.

Scholarship Opportunities

Bowling Green State University offers a variety of scholarship opportunities for students. These scholarships are designed to support students in various fields of study.

Scholarship Eligibility:

- Undergraduate students
- Graduating seniors
- Current students

Scholarship Information:

- Application requirements
- Eligibility criteria
- Scholarship amount

For more information on scholarship opportunities, students should contact the Office of Student Financial Aid at 419-372-8550 or visit the university website.

Residence

The University offers a variety of residence options for students.

- On-campus housing
- Off-campus housing
- Virtual housing

For more information on residence options, students should contact the Office of Student Housing at 419-372-8550 or visit the university website.

Contact Us

For more information, please contact the University of Bowling Green at 419-372-8550 or visit the university website.
UGC examines proposal to revise course level policy

Undergraduate Council is examining a proposed revision to the 300/400 level course policy of Ferris State University. At its January meetings this fall, the Council was asked to consider a proposal that would allow professorial title holders to make class-level changes to their classes without a faculty meeting. The Council then voted 8-4 in favor of the proposal.

In spite of the program's success, said one of the committee members, "there were several programs that needed to be improved in order to make sure the program met the needs of our students." The committee was unanimous in its support of the proposal.

The Council's decision was based on the need to improve the quality of education and provide better opportunities for students.

Faculty invited to open house

Faculty members are invited to the open house on Saturday, February 12, 10 a.m.-noon. The event will be held in the Taft Room of the Academic Honesty Center. It will feature a chance to meet with members of the Honor Committee.

Faculty members are invited to the open house on Saturday, February 12, 10 a.m.-noon. The event will be held in the Taft Room of the Academic Honesty Center. It will feature a chance to meet with members of the Honor Committee.

Successful United Way campaign wins top honors for communications

The University has two new first place recipients in the 2006 United Way campaign. The University's United Way campaign, which is held annually, is sponsored by the United Way of Mid-Michigan.

The two first place recipients are the United Way of Mid-Michigan and the United Way of Michigan. The University's United Way campaign is held annually, and is sponsored by the United Way of Mid-Michigan.

Moorehead talk

A member of the Board of Trustees will give the keynote address at the 2007 University of Missouri-Columbia Spring Conference on Friday, February 16, at 10 a.m. The event will be held in the Taft Room of the University Union. A reception will follow at noon.

Threats

The University received a check for $450,000 at the Feb. 13 Board of Trustees meeting for the Academic Honesty Center. The check was presented by Board President Will Gipson, Representative Frank Gaidis and Ohio Board of Regents' Secretary Charles Williams. The check was presented by Board President Will Gipson, Representative Frank Gaidis and Ohio Board of Regents' Secretary Charles Williams.
In brief

UT president to guest on Olscape program

Dr. James McComas, president of the University of Toledo, will preside Over President's Olscape on the UMTV Monday, 1:50 p.m., in the Union. Dr. McComas will talk about the various academic, physical and student affairs problems. He will discuss such topics as computer literacy among faculty and students, changes in student life, and the role of the president in the decision-making process. The program will be repeated on Tuesday, 1:50 p.m., in the Student Union.

Monitor

Watchers meet

An information session will be from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. March 15 at the University Union from room 112.

Classified Employment Opportunities

The following classified positions are available. Resumes should be sent to employees department at the University Center by March 15.

Faculty/staff positions

The following faculty positions are available: (Continued)

ABC correspondent to speak Mar. 3

If you know about the nuclear disaster of Chernobyl, you have a close interest in the world of nuclear safety and the future of nuclear power. "The Chernobyl Disaster: The Nuclear Aftermath," a 16-week course coordinated by State University's Nuclear Science Department, starts in February. There will be a limited number of courses.

Monitor

Faculty Senate makes revisions to the charter

Faculty Senate focused attention on changes at March 17th. An amendment removing the wording on the charter concerning "improvement legislation." The new wording would state, "The faculty of the university shall follow the recommendations of the Board of Trustees in the operation of the university." This amendment was adopted at the Senate meeting and was presented to the Board of Trustees for consideration.

Employees raise money for scholarship

When a student employee began raising money for scholarship, the idea was to help people in need. But the employee decided to buy help by digging into their own pockets. They managed to pull off $1,384. Richard Zona, director of administrative computer services, said he didn't see the scholarships generally being divided among too many students. The funds will be used to honor scholarships at the University of Toledo Foundation's annual meeting on March 15. Zona said that the scholarship was not to be used to purchase any computer equipment and that the money would be used for other computer repairs. The scholar-ship would be a nice idea for the students.

Computer Services lends a helping hand

When a student employee began raising money for scholarship, the idea was to help people in need. But the employee decided to buy help by digging into their own pockets. They managed to pull off $1,384. Richard Zona, director of administrative computer services, said he didn't see the scholarships generally being divided among too many students. The funds will be used to honor scholarships at the University of Toledo Foundation's annual meeting on March 15. Zona said that the scholarship was not to be used to purchase any computer equipment and that the money would be used for other computer repairs. The scholar-ship would be a nice idea for the students.

Employees raise money for scholarship

When a student employee began raising money for scholarship, the idea was to help people in need. But the employee decided to buy help by digging into their own pockets. They managed to pull off $1,384. Richard Zona, director of administrative computer services, said he didn't see the scholarships generally being divided among too many students. The funds will be used to honor scholarships at the University of Toledo Foundation's annual meeting on March 15. Zona said that the scholarship was not to be used to purchase any computer equipment and that the money would be used for other computer repairs. The scholar-ship would be a nice idea for the students.

Computer Services lends a helping hand

When a student employee began raising money for scholarship, the idea was to help people in need. But the employee decided to buy help by digging into their own pockets. They managed to pull off $1,384. Richard Zona, director of administrative computer services, said he didn't see the scholarships generally being divided among too many students. The funds will be used to honor scholarships at the University of Toledo Foundation's annual meeting on March 15. Zona said that the scholarship was not to be used to purchase any computer equipment and that the money would be used for other computer repairs. The scholar-ship would be a nice idea for the students.

Employees raise money for scholarship

When a student employee began raising money for scholarship, the idea was to help people in need. But the employee decided to buy help by digging into their own pockets. They managed to pull off $1,384. Richard Zona, director of administrative computer services, said he didn't see the scholarships generally being divided among too many students. The funds will be used to honor scholarships at the University of Toledo Foundation's annual meeting on March 15. Zona said that the scholarship was not to be used to purchase any computer equipment and that the money would be used for other computer repairs. The scholar-ship would be a nice idea for the students.