Bee Gee Baseball Team Opens Season Today Against Wisconsin At Perrysburg

By DAVE REICHERT

Bacoon coats and ear muffs are officially put on aside this afternoon, as spirelling fans drag out short sleeves and bathe in Preparation for opening day against powerful University of Wisconsin.

Because of bad weather, the game has been moved to the Perrysburg City Diamond, where the first ball will be thrown off at 2:30. Attendance Saturday will provide the same opposition at the same place with the time moved up to 1 p.m.

Coach Warren Stiller will see to Bay Baggies and Leon Cross work both games. Ed Kesting is slated to work for spokes.

Last year, Wisconsin turned in a 9-18 record against some of the top collegiate teams in the country. Having lost but six, Stiller is planning on giving a wealth of material from the 2-4. Coach Art Mandel is expecting his best team since the Big Ten championship in 1946.

Bob Taylor, Jerry Kanstadt, Jerry Kromer and Joe Keating are slated to work for the Badgers.

Bowling Green, along with other powerful independent basketball teams, had the door opened for participating in the NCAA Tournament when that body ruled recently to expand next year's event to 18 teams. The winners of 18 novice contests are assured berths but the other six spots will be wide open.

It also appears likely that the finals will be held in an arena other than Madison Square Garden. The movement to get the tournament to the University of Minnesota's location has been stronger this year and the best bet now is that the 1961 championship game will be held in a new west-coast university's gymnasium.

The capacity there is comparable to the Garden and the location much nearer where traveling distances are concerned.

Bowling Green in now in NCAA District Four and, since the inauguration of the tournament in 1939, only one non-Western conference school has participated. That was San Francisco in 1943. With a half dozen berths thrown open to independents, it will be possible to bring in the best basketball talent available, even though several of the squads may be from the same area.

Seven Shows To Highlight Second Summer Playhouse

"My Sister Eileen" will be the first play given by the students attending the Horvath Playhouse when it reopens for its second season of operation on June 28.

During the season seven plays will be presented, a new opening each on successive Wednesdays. Under consideration are "Light Up The Sky," "Two Blind Mice," "The Tarpent," and "Portrait In Black." From the list of tentative selections will be chosen those plays which present a well-balanced musical and dramatic program.

The summer theater is operated by the Speech dept., and is under the direction of Ass't Prof. Frederick W. Walsh. It is composed of students from BGSU who want to increase their stage experience and receive up to six hours credit in speech courses.

Seven shows will be presented from the end of June 12 and ending Aug. 14. Students will be housed in two summer homes located in a secluded spot along the shore of Lake Erie.
