Monitor Newsletter August 01, 1988

Bowling Green State University

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.bgsu.edu/monitor

Recommended Citation

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the University Publications at ScholarWorks@BGSU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Monitor by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks@BGSU.
Approval needed to use University logos

Sweatshirts, hats, bumper stickers, stationery, mugs and any other product using a Bowling Green logo or symbol must now be approved through the University’s Licensing program, according to John Buckenmyer, director of the Bookstore.

Currently, a formalized effort to enforce the proper use of logos and symbols associated with the University has been started by the Board of Trustees.

The program was initiated after a Board of Trustees resolution was passed on Sept. 11, 1987, but the idea has been discussed at the University since the mid-1970s.

Several marks associated with the University have been registered with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. These marks include the block BGSU used primarily in admissions and recruitment literature, the falcon head logo, the traditional University seal, the updated University seal (1970) and the name Bowling Green State University.

But prior to the licensing program there was not a formalized effort to enforce the proper use of logos to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University.

But prior to the licensing program there was not a formalized effort to enforce the proper use of logos to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.

Licensing agreements are prevalent around the country and originally were started by the larger schools such as Michigan State University and Ohio State University. Within the Mid-American Conference the University of Toledo, Miami University and Kent State University already have implemented similar licensing programs and other conference schools are considering the action, he added.

The program applies to companies as well as individuals wanting to produce merchandise using logos and symbols associated with the University, Buckenmyer said.
Register for new parking decals

All transferrable hanging decals and bumper decals currently in use on University employee vehicles will expire Aug. 13. New parking decals will be needed by all faculty and staff at the start of the 1988-89 academic year.

Employees will be given a choice between one transferrable hanging decal or one non-transferrable bumper decal. To obtain a decal, each staff member must present a fee waiver form completed and signed by the budget administrator. Only one fee waiver will be accepted for each employee and only one decal will be issued per each staff member.

Various registration points are being set up on campus for parking registration. Prior to arriving at the registration site, employees should fill in the information on the fee waiver and the parking registration form obtained from the budget administrator. Staff requesting bumper decals should include the year, make, state and license number information for their vehicle in the "Comments" section of the registration form.

Registered points and times are:

- On Aug. 1, registration will take place from 7:45-10 a.m. at plant operations and maintenance in the grounds department.
- From 10:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. in the west lobby of the Administration Building.
- On Aug. 2, employees can register at the Education Building from 7:45-10 a.m. in the second floor south lobby or from 11 a.m.-1 p.m. in the first floor east lobby of the Life Science Building.
- On Aug. 3, registration will occur from 7:45-10 a.m. on the first floor of Jerome Library, or from 10:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. on the second floor lounge of the Student Services Building.

The final day, Aug. 4, registration will take place from 7:45-10 a.m. at the second floor corridor of the University Union; or from 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m. in the east side conference room of the stadium.

Employees unable to register on one of these dates can register after Aug. 8 from 7 a.m.-7 p.m. Monday through Thursday at Parking and Traffic, 104 Commons.

Datebook

Monday, Aug. 1

UAO Monday Musicians, featuring The Sex Beadles, 11:30 a.m., Union Oval. Free.

Tuesday, Aug. 2

Photography Exhibit, "Reclaiming Paradise: American Women Photograph the Land," Gallery, Fine Arts Building, through Aug. 11. Gallery hours are 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday and 2-5 p.m. on Sunday. Free.

Huron Playhouse, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," 8 p.m., McCormick School, Ohio Street, Huron, through Friday (Aug. 5). Also, 3 p.m. matinee performances on Friday (Aug. 5) and Saturday (Aug. 6). For ticket information, call 433-4744.

Wednesday, Aug. 3

UAO Sweet Wednesday, free popsicles or watermelon, 11:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., Off-Campus Student Center (across from Grainger). Free.

UAO Movie, "The Blues Brothers," 8 p.m., Eva Marie Saint Theatre, University Hall. Free.

Thursday, Aug. 4

POM Staff Appreciation Picnic, 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m., next to Central Services.

Keep records updated

In order to keep employee records accurate and up-to-date, Personnel Support Services and the benefits/insurance office are requesting staff to contact the offices with any personal data changes.

These changes include new addresses, name changes, marital status changes or new additions to the family.

Employees with changes should notify the personnel office at 372-8412 or the benefits insurance office at 372-2112.

Monitor

The Monitor is published weekly by the Office of Public Relations for faculty and staff of Bowling Green State University. The deadline to submit material for the Aug. 8 issue is 5 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 2.

Summer hours end

The Office of Personnel Support Services reminds faculty and staff that the summer work schedule will end Aug. 15.

Beginning Aug. 15, regular work hours will resume. In most cases, offices will be open from 8 a.m. and noon and 1-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Walkers challenged for summer exercise

The Student Recreation Center's Walker's Challenge has kept University employees on their feet during the summer months.

Participating department units and the number of miles its employees walk each week and at the end of August awards will be given to individuals and offices with the most miles.

Tammy Summers, Recreation Center, said the public relations office had the highest total for June with 414 miles and nine staff members participating. Linda Swastgood, public relations, led the pack with 108 miles that month. A few steps behind is the Musical Arts Building staff with six participants walking 354 miles. Edwin Betts, musical performance director, leads the staff with 95.5 miles.

Other participating departments include the Student Recreation Center with six participants covering 213 miles in June; Continuing Education with six participants covering 159 miles; and the Instructional Media Center with one participant, Deb Weirough, covering 70.5 miles.

Total mileage for June was 1,211.5 miles with 28 walkers. Any employees who would like to join Walker's Challenge should contact Summer 372-2711.

Flooding from the front page

This isn't the first time the library's first floor has been flooded. Sherri Gray, circulation desk, said a similar storm occurred nine years ago in July and water gushed in through the main entrance that time, too. However, the water flooded only the front lobby area before volunteers managed to sweep it out.

"We've been open 21 years and this is only the second flood," Gray said. "Both times there was plenty of help. But thank heavens the storm didn't happen at 5 a.m. - no one would have been around to catch it then."

Volunteers, including library and University staff members, who helped during the Library flood, were: Mary Beth Zachary, Angela Lindsey, Victor Wagner, Sue Anderson, Ann Bowers, Charlene York, Regina Kostyu, Faye Lam, John King, Paul Yon, Bob Heidler, Eric Honestoff, Old Clavano, Joan Repp, Matt Hupling, Gloria Greg, Jean Geist, Chris Geist, Russ Miller, Lee Norden, Laurene Zaporozchek, Paul Kostyu, Patty Turcotte and Kim Sebert.

Students, graduate assistants and volunteers included Linda Geyer, Richelle Frabott, Kathryn Kepke Rudd, Scott Juhneke, Greg Miller, Ann Halsey, Bethanna Williams, Susan J. Jenke, Kenny Miligan, Pam Boehm, Lisa Evans, George Vasili, Eugene Van Vorths, Kelly Burdine, Mar Kenn, Joanna Wojtczak and Jim Corbuss.

There also were many staff members from plant operations who took care of the custodial work, water pumping, oval clean-up and carpet cleaning.

Classified Employment Opportunities

The following classified positions are available:

New vacancies

Posting completion date for employees to apply: 10:30 a.m. Friday, Aug. 5.

6-5-1 to 6-5-2

- 6-5-3
  - CASHER
  - Pay Range 1
  - Food Operations
  - Academic year, part-time

- 6-5-4
  - Food Service Worker
  - Pay Range 1
  - Food Operations (Bake Shop)
  - Academic year, full-time

- 6-5-5
  - Food Service Worker
  - Pay Range 1
  - Food Operations
  - Academic year, full-time

- 6-5-6
  - SECRETARY 2
  - Pay Range 27
  - Vice president for academic affairs

Faculty/staff positions

The following faculty positions are available:

- Special Education: Assistant professor/instructor (temporary). Contact Edward Fuscus (7293). Deadline: Aug. 1.

The following administrative positions are available:

- Admissions: Assistant/associate director. Contact Annmarie Heldt (2-2558). Deadline: August 5.

- Athletic Department: Assistant men's hockey coach. Contact Chair of the Search and Screening Committee, c/o the athletic department (2-2401). Deadline: August 1.

Acknowledgments:

- Employees unable to register on one of these dates can register after Aug. 8 from 7 a.m.-7 p.m. Monday through Thursday at Parking and Traffic, 104 Commons.