Teachers May Continue Summer Graduate Work Under GI Bill

Teacher-veterans will be able to continue graduate work during the summer in spite of the July 25, 1951 cut-off date for entrance into training under the G.I. Bill, according to a directive received in the Veterans Administration here.

Veterans who teach during the winter and pursue a summer course leading to a graduate de- gree will not be required to be in continuous training after the July 25, 1951 deadline.

The directive emphasized the following points:

1. The teacher-veteran may re- enter training only if he is pursuing graduate studies.

2. The graduate study must be continued during consecutive sum- mer semesters.

3. The teacher-veteran must be employed as a teacher during the school year prior to the summer of study.

For those who are not teachers the G.I. Bill specifies that the t r a i n i n g o r education must be started by July 25, 1951 or four years after the veteran's discharge, whichever is later. It must be completed by July 25, 1956.

Only a few exceptions to this rule are permitted.

New Auto Rules

Green schools will not, for this reason alone, be considered as having a justifiable need.

IV. Students who live at home with parents in Bowling Green may be granted, upon request of the parents, a permit to operate an automobile, but they will be required to comply with all university regulations in regard to the use and operation of it.

V. It is expected that one who secures a permit to operate an automobile will ordinarily be the only one to drive it. To a limited extent, and for a justifiable need, other students may be given permission to drive it by the holder of the permit upon approval of the Dean of Students, but a student to whom a permit is granted is charged with the responsibility to see that in the use of the automobile no university regulation is violated.

VI. One who aids another to violate any provision herein will be considered equally at fault. A student's permit for the operation of an automobile may be revoked at any time upon evidence that he has no real need for the car or for a flagrant violation.

VII. Any violation of the above regulations will constitute grounds for disciplinary action by the administration which will include one or more of the following: (a.) The payment of a minimum fee of $10, or (b.) requiring assurance from the students that he will cease using or operating an automobile in Bowling Green, or (c.) a required withdrawal from the University.

VIII. The responsibility rests on every student who operates an automobile to see that decades are properly attached and not destroyed and to become familiar with University automobile, traffic, and parking regulations. In the absence of extenuating circumstances, upon a student's third violation in any year of the regulation pertaining to proper attachment of decals, traffic, or parking as determined by the Student Court, the student's permit to operate an automobile will be revoked.

IX. The term automobile is considered as having a different and defined meaning in this regulation than in the University regulations in regard to the ownership of motor vehicles.

Applications For ROTC Increase

A steady flow of applications for enrollment in the Reserve Officer Training Corps has been coming in since the beginning of the Korean War, Colonel William C. Lucas, local ROTC Commander, said today.

However, the ROTC unit will have to be held down to a maximum of 160 men this fall because of the lack of instructors, he said.

Colonel Lucas attributes the shortage of trained personnel to the Korean crisis. The Army has changed the orders of many officers and instructors, pulling them back into combat outfits.

Nevertheless, the ROTC Military Science II class is still open to students on the sophomore level who are veterans and to transfer students who have previous ROTC training. There is room for about 60 men in the class.

Many students whose applications were turned down at the close of the spring semester are again applying.

In the American League, the Ramblers and Skiddilikats met for the very successful intra-mural program carried out this summer. Through their work and planning, an otherwise dull summer has passed with fewer complaints. The first major football game will be played Aug. 11, when the 1950 College All-Stars tackle the Philadelphia Eagles at Chicago. The All-Stars have a 31-man squad and should let the Eagles know that they were in a football game. The Browns will open their season with a night game against the Eagles at Philadelphia, Sept. 18.
