Monitor Newsletter April 24, 1989

Bowling Green State University
Submit names for Ferrari Award

Nominations for the 1989 Michael R.
Ferrari Award currently are being solicited. Faculty, staff, students, and others may submit their names for the award. The award is given annually to faculty members who have made significant contributions to the University. Nominations are due by March 1.

Talents will be displayed in "Ice Horizons '89"

A series of programs, including the kayak (April 21) and Saturday (April 22) events, will be presented in the area. Performances will be held throughout the day at 7:30-10 p.m. Cost of admission is $8, and tickets are available at the door. The event will be held on Saturday at 7:30 p.m. The Faculty Senate, the Internal Affairs Committee, and the Finance Committee will be held on Saturday at 10:30 p.m.

Retiree tea set

A retired faculty and staff Spring tea will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. on the campus. The tea will be held on the main campus, and the fee will be $5.

For sale

Student Legal Services has put up to offer a variety of services to students. The services include legal advice, counseling, and representation in court. The service can be called at 321-2329.

Steam to be turned off

Chuch Cooking, manager of energy services, announced that the steam system will be turned off on campus from 2 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 5.

Job Fair to be busy

A record 2,500 job seekers may take place during the annual Job Fair this year. The job fair will be held on April 21, 22, and 23, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Student Center. The fair will feature more than 1,000 exhibitors from over 50 different states.

Auditons to be held

The annual retirement tea set, held in conjunction with the annual Retiree tea set, will be held at 7 p.m. on April 21 and 22, at the Alumni Center. The tea will honor all faculty members who have retired during the last five years. Nominations are due by March 1.

Datebook

April 17

Nominations for the 1989 Retiree tea set will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Alumni Center. The tea will honor all faculty members who have retired during the last five years.

April 18

The alumni center will be the site of the annual job fair, which will feature more than 1,000 exhibitors from over 50 different states.

April 19

The alumni center will be the site of the annual job fair, which will feature more than 1,000 exhibitors from over 50 different states.

April 20

The alumni center will be the site of the annual job fair, which will feature more than 1,000 exhibitors from over 50 different states.

April 21

The alumni center will be the site of the annual job fair, which will feature more than 1,000 exhibitors from over 50 different states.

April 22

The alumni center will be the site of the annual job fair, which will feature more than 1,000 exhibitors from over 50 different states.

April 23

The alumni center will be the site of the annual job fair, which will feature more than 1,000 exhibitors from over 50 different states.
CSC hears report on the department's workplace-facility plan

Representatives of Classified Staff Council gathered on Thursday to learn about the department's workplace-facility plan, and to discuss how the final facility plan will impact the University. The plan includes a wide variety of changes to enhance the workplace environment, such as improved lighting, heating, and ventilation systems, as well as increased safety and accessibility features. The plan also aims to create a more collaborative and productive work environment for all employees. The January 25 meeting was the first opportunity for employees to review the plan and provide feedback. The next step in the process is for the plan to be submitted to the University's Facilities Planning and Development Office for review and approval. Once approved, the plan will be implemented over a period of several months, with regular updates and opportunities for employees to provide feedback throughout the process.

CSC hears report on the department’s workplace-facility plan

Representatives of Classified Staff Council gathered on Thursday to learn about the department's workplace-facility plan, and to discuss how the final facility plan will impact the University. The plan includes a wide variety of changes to enhance the workplace environment, such as improved lighting, heating, and ventilation systems, as well as increased safety and accessibility features. The plan also aims to create a more collaborative and productive work environment for all employees. The January 25 meeting was the first opportunity for employees to review the plan and provide feedback. The next step in the process is for the plan to be submitted to the University's Facilities Planning and Development Office for review and approval. Once approved, the plan will be implemented over a period of several months, with regular updates and opportunities for employees to provide feedback throughout the process.

CSC hears report on the department’s workplace-facility plan

Representatives of Classified Staff Council gathered on Thursday to learn about the department's workplace-facility plan, and to discuss how the final facility plan will impact the University. The plan includes a wide variety of changes to enhance the workplace environment, such as improved lighting, heating, and ventilation systems, as well as increased safety and accessibility features. The plan also aims to create a more collaborative and productive work environment for all employees. The January 25 meeting was the first opportunity for employees to review the plan and provide feedback. The next step in the process is for the plan to be submitted to the University's Facilities Planning and Development Office for review and approval. Once approved, the plan will be implemented over a period of several months, with regular updates and opportunities for employees to provide feedback throughout the process.
Commuter Center renamed for Hazel Smith

Dean tells trustees that Firelands is "on the move"

In an enthusiastic address to the Board of Trustees, Dr. Robert DeBard, president of Firelands College, announced that the college is "on the move" and that significant developments are occurring on campus. He said that these developments have been motivated by the college's educational philosophy and its commitment to providing a quality education.

DeBard's address was followed by a presentation of a check for $50,000 from the Community Foundation for Erie and Huron Counties, which will be used to fund scholarships for Firelands students.

Faculty approved for promotions and/or tenure at April 14 meeting

In the College of Business Administration, tenure was granted to Gerri Oberlin, assistant professor, and to Dr. Marilyn Motz, associate professor.

In the College of Arts and Sciences, those approved for tenure were Dr. Christopher Lipp, associate professor, and Dr. David Milon, assistant professor.

The proposals for promotion and tenure were submitted to the Board of Trustees meeting at Firelands College for approval.

Senate completes business for the year

Proposal to limit committee participation is rejected

Following a brief debate, Faculty Senate unanimously rejected a proposal to limit committee participation. The motion would have required that members of standing committees serve on no more than two committees at a time.

"There have been some concerns expressed about the impact of this proposal on faculty participation," said the motion's sponsor, Dr. James McFillen, chair of the Faculty Senate. "However, I believe that the benefits of increased participation outweigh any potential drawbacks."
Fisher's new book is the result of 30 years of smelling the flowers

Sunflowers, daisies, chamomile and populations of other wildflowers, are examples and symptoms of a breathless blooming of these plants. An almost endless list of ornamental and wild plants fills the class of species that satisfy the conditions for the party plant. According to a recent survey, 1 in 10 people have a pet that is a flower. All of the flowers that are present in the garden are just a small part of the plants that are being grown. In this book, the student selected at the top of the list is a list of plants that have been grown. The student's list will be used to generate a list of plants that are being grown.

The book is available in the library, and is a great resource for anyone interested in plants and their uses. The book can also be found in the computer lab, which is located in the library.

Datebook

Monday, April 24

13th Annual University Art Show, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. At the Jordan Center on the second and third floors of the McConnell Library. Sponsored by the Art Department.

The book is available in the library, and is a great resource for anyone interested in plants and their uses. The book can also be found in the computer lab, which is located in the library.

Thursday, April 27

3:30 p.m., 7:30 p.m., 9:30 p.m., and 11:30 p.m. Special Planetarium Show. "Earth: The Living Planet," a students' production. This show will feature a variety of topics, including the Earth's climate, life on other planets, and the history of the universe. The show will be presented at the Science Center Planetarium on the campus of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

For sale

The Department of College Student Personnel and Counseling offers a new book, "The Book of the Month Club," which is available for purchase at the college bookstore. The book contains reviews of selected books and summaries of current events in the field of college student personnel and counseling.

Update your records

To keep your records current, please complete the required forms and submit them to the office of the registrar. Your records will be updated and you will receive a confirmation of your updated records.

Join a committee

Classified employees interested in participating in the Classified Staff Committee are encouraged to attend a meeting on Tuesday, April 26, at 10 a.m. in the Classified Staff Committee room, 101 University Union. The meeting will be held in the classified staff room, and is open to all classified employees.

Note location change

Due to the relocation of the office of the director of financial aid, the location of the office has changed. The new location is: 101 University Union, 1st floor, Room 101.

Job listing

Job opening: Assistant Professor of English. The Department of English is seeking an Assistant Professor of English for a full-time, 9-month position. The position is available immediately and the start date is negotiable. The ideal candidate will have a Ph.D. in English or a related field and a strong commitment to teaching and research. The successful candidate will have a strong record of teaching and research in the area of English literature. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in English literature, as well as contribute to the graduate program in English.

Receives prestigious Guggenheim Award

An unusual research topic attracts grants for Kiple

Dr. Ken Kiple, history, is keeping his fingers crossed for today, the Guggenheim Fellowship Board will announce its awards for the next academic year. Dr. Kiple, a former president of the Ohio Historical Society, has been awarded a fellowship for the fall of 2018 and will begin work on his next book, "The African Diaspora: Diet, Disease and Racism," which he hopes will be completed by the end of the year.

Kiple's book will focus on the nutritional and medical history of African Americans, with a particular emphasis on the foods they ate during slavery, and how those foods have shaped their health and wellbeing. The book will explore the relationship between diet and disease, and how dietary choices have influenced the course of African American history.

"I am excited about this project," said Dr. Kiple, "because it has the potential to shed light on the complex relationship between diet and disease, and how these factors have shaped the course of African American history."