Myllykoski, a junior at the University of Cincinnati, was home for Christmas vacation when the accident occurred on the route between Eastlake and Painesville. O. He had intended to work for the post office during the holidays.

The tragedy took place when the car he had been following failed to come to a stop at an intersection because of slippery pavement. Professional Scout Career
Charted By A Phi O Prexy

By HILBERT BLACK

Fred Bickels, by failing the office of president of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, is laying the ground work in his plans for later life.

Fred plans to offer professional scouting after finishing school; and by working with APKO, a scouting organization, he is helping himself by helping others.

Now a junior, majoring in industrial arts, Fred is a jovial sort of person whom everyone loves.

He is president of the Industrial Arts Club, as well as the Industrial Arts National Honor Society, Kappa Pi Yota.

Fred comes from New Philadelphia, Ohio, and has been in the Navy for the three years of service with the Naval Air Corps. He is still on active duty.

When not occupied with the duties of these other organizations, Fred devotes his time to the Student Council and Alpha Phi Omega.

With social studies as a minor, Fred has been building his future on a plane of living that makes others think he is guarding against his own.

One of the ingredients of the "death" common which is reproduced below is "commeconosis." It is one of the greatest causes of tragic deaths ever entered on accident reports. Yet, nearly everyone thinks it can only happen to the "other fellow..." that other fellow" simply could be anyone we know.

The truth is that everyone gets careless once in a while, no matter who he is. It has been asmallized before by Bowling Green students, both resulting in death.
In the first case, the youth did not properly judge the speed of the car he was driving according to the curved surface of the highway. In the second case, the driver of the car bailed out reality of slipperiness prevent.

Both of these cases should make a person stop and think whether or not it could happen and attempt to cut carelessness to a mini-

The Christmas vacation provides bittersweet notions of carelessness.

The holiday will undeniably be filled with stolen drivers, icy highways, and accidents involving0 involving pedestrians, automobiles, buses, sober and drunk persons.

That point is, if you are driving during the holidays, make it your business to look out for the other person's carelessness as well as yours against your own.

Festive Weekend Hits Campus

In keeping with the festive holiday season, Bowling Green last week end had a gala array of all-campus socials, sponsored by the Association of Women Students’ "Winter Wonderland" formal.

Besides the formal dance, a square dance, a play, and campus movies were other activities filling the pre-vacation work end.

Held in both the Women’s Bldg. and the Nest, the "Winter Wonderland," one of the biggest dances of the school year, had about 1,500 students present, pavonizing the area. Bernard, dancer, chairman.

Formally, flowers, and 2 o’clock, 2 p.m. performances were some of the highlights that made the dance special.

Women of the various sororities and women’s dorms formed bands and long to make the decorations at the dance measure up to the importance of the occasion.

The Women’s Gym was transfigured into a wondrous "Winter Wonderland," as Uncle-covered evergreens in the four corners of the main gym were spotlighted in red, and glittering snow flake hung from the white ceiling.

Over the whole scene played the music of Carl Lueke’s band.

In the small gym of the WSU Hill, another red spotlight shone on the red and black lights of a decorative feature.

"Santa’s" house, the most beautiful of the stage decorations, was located in the center of the WSU Hill. "Santa’s" office was given in the Nest, the "Wonders of Bagdad," Saturday, was other all-campus events.
