Baseball Team Opens At Ohio State Tomorrow

Southwestern Trip Ripens Bucks; Teams To Meet Here Tuesday

By KAYE RECHER

With the weather man's okay, Bowling Green's "indoor" baseball team invaded potent Ohio State for their opening game of the season with both teams returning to the Buckeye chill for the Falcons' first home game Tuesday afternoon.

During the cold weather and rain, Coach Stewart has been able to get his 50-man roster outside for only two rather abbreviated intrasquad scrimmages. Two of the 32 fielders desiring a chance to win a starting position of the team remain on the butt.

Coach Stewart has named his starting lineup for his twenty-seventh Big Ten game. Jerry Goodwin, with a .350 batting average, is starting at shortstop. Jerry Goro, a first-year man, will be in center, followed by last year's leading hitter, John Grid, in left, and Dave Tenzer in right, batting cleanup.

Pitting it at first will be Ray Williams, batting fifth, Don Dennis, second, and Dave Tenzer, third, with Fred Williams, with a 6-3 record last year, the leading pitcher, and Will Smethers probably working one of the games against Bowling Green. Coach Stewart announced Wednesday that Tony Bonito, Falcon wrestling coach, has been named to the All-Conference second team.

Two of the Blue and White's will be in the starting lineup for their first 9-to-12 record. He was also able to announce that the Ohio State game looks like a real thriller for this year. Bill Stough, Bob Lyden and Ray Hegstrom are ready for relief chores.

Ohio State's leading hitter, Jim Perrill, back at second. Perrill had 70 last year in leading the Bucks to their 12-12 record. He was also able to announce that the All-Conference second team.

Freshmen's record of a 5-3 record last year, is the leading pitcher, and will probably work one of the games against Bowling Green.

Andy, who has taken over his old desk for half a day, indicated that Bowling Green would probably not return to New York, for next year at least.
