Test Policy Clarified In Deferment Plans

By HENRY TUREK

If you are one of the 700 students being deferred to another class, you are the protagonist of a weekly radio program entitled "Youth and the Draft" presented by the University and WBOV, under the sponsorship of Capt. D. C. Here is a summary of the April 22 broadcast which had a panel of experts headed by Brigadier General Louis H. Benford, deputy director of Selective Service.

Emergency Selective Service Bulletin No. 87, pertaining to higher education and national affairs, had this directed toward college students:

"In order that local boards may have a list of the names of all draft eligible students, all students will be called to report immediately to their local draft boards for application to take the scheduled deferment tests. The deferred order for enrolled college students of March 31:"

Morale Low: Bullets Or Books?

By GENE DENT

After surveying 15 men from different classes in an effort to get at the root of the cause for low grades and even lower morale among the male population, the results are evidently enough to cause many a man to give pause and think. This survey made no attempt to break sharp facts or figures particular.

Many of the reasons given were so similar that they were grouped together in order to save space and avoid repetition.

When queried, "I, John Doe, in Ohio College (ircenhill, won first place in the twenty-fifth annual Ohio College..."

One round should have noticed them. But apparently there are their tee shots before you putt on par three holes, and signaling determining conduct on the golf course. Hitters Shell “Crazy Legs” Hirsch In Defeating Baldwin-Wallace, 14-3

Bowing Green’s baseball team will be running for its second win over Wayne University and its sixth straight victory of the season tomorrow afternoon in Detroit.

Off to a slow start when they dropped their first three games, the Falcons swung into high gear in their upward surge Tuesday by routing Baldwin-Wallace, 14-3, on the local diamond for their fifth consecutive victory.

Coach Warren Studebaker’s mound staff, the only department in which the Falcons have been consistently strong since the opening day, continued to lock impressive. Ray Hewigton tossed an eight-hitter, allowing only two walks while fanning nine.

The shaky right-hander found ample support at the plate as his mates provided 14 hits, including two doubles, two triples, and a home run to shell a trio of Yellow Jacket hurlers from the mound, including Elroy "Crazy Legs" Hirsch of pro football fame.

Hewigton was a hit slat at the start. The Jackets reached him for their three runs on five hits in the first three frames but the Falcons were there, pitching scoreless ball over the final six innings, limiting the visitors to three hits.

"White" Hepigton was baffling the visitors as his mates blanked out four runs in the first three innings, seven in the third, and three more in the eighth to give Bow Green its largest run total of the year.

To that by sixth inning the Falcon continued four walks an error, and three hits to rack up the seven runs that clinched the victory.

Senior hailed a home run with two men aboard in the eighth and gave the Falcons their third hit of the year.

Too Good was the big man at the plate for the Falcons. The third mack rapped a pair of singles and two doubles in four times at bat.

Saturday the Falcons capped their fourth win when Wally Serv- er and Dick Cooper teamed up to take out a 5-2 decision over Fenn College in Cleveland.

Notice that Philip Morris is definitely less irritating, distinctly milder.

Thatch, Minds making a cotton copy?

In an eight o'clock political science class, the professor was having trouble keeping the class with him in a discussion of the constitution.

After becoming extremely irritated he spotted a particularly sleepy fellow in the back row and snipped, "Sir, if the president of the United States were to die, who would act the job?"

The student puzzled a moment and then replied, "A Democratic undertaker!"
