June Grads Will Find Jobs Available, If...

By HAL FRALEY

June graduates, both men and women, face a very good job market in 1951. That IP stands for the unknown factor of a man's draft status is not a problem. The Pool Plan will assure them that they will be employed.

According to general survival tactics of the Associated Press, it doesn't matter too much what his grades were in college or what field he chose to enter. The job market will still be there.

Esperanto Group

Initiates 41 Herb

Into Epsilon Alpha, first Esperanto group in the United States, initiated 41 charter members last Thursday, May 24, in a ceremony at the Fine Arts Building.

This recognition was founded by Dr. John Y. Haystack of the foreign language dept., at the University last fall for the purpose of furthering the study of the international auxiliary language, Esperanto.

Esperanto was created by Dr. L. L. Zamenhoff of Warsaw, Poland, and was first published in 1887. It does not aim at replacing natural languages, but acts as a second language for everyone.

The United Nations has before the present time a petition to the secretary general asking for over 14 million persons asking the U.N. to promote the teaching of Esperanto in schools and colleges.

Plans have been made for the continuation of Epsilon Alpha into the following year, with the hopes of incorporating, with the Bowling Green chapter the hopeless.

Prom Starts Tradition...

It would now seem that the University has fallen heir to still another tradition, the Senior Prom. During the past several years, several events have taken place which give promise of becoming traditions. Of these, the Senior Prom is one of the first.

Much credit should be given Senior Class Pres. Bill Bishop and his committee for seeing that the event went off so well. Approximately 75 couples attended the dance. Normally this would not be indicative of success, but in this case it is. That this number of people would pay a dollar to attend the dance indicates that the Senior Prom belongs on the list of University spring activities.

For the couples who attended, a dollar was pretty cheap for such a dance that will mean so much in their memories of University life.

TOMORROW afternoon, the senior class of 1951 will march to the Amphitheater, weather permitting, to participate in Bicentennial ceremonies.

For most students who march to the ceremonies, it will be a prelude to the commencement and conferring of degrees on June 8. For a few, it will mean the beginning of a world of opportunity awaiting them when they leave the Bowling Green State University campus.

To spectators, Honors Day will be an impressive affair with the University all decked and hon- orized for the occasion. The "robes of d i s- tinction" sol- emnly will un- fold as the order of the day is taken up.

T h e n a g a i n , there are those, who, as on cam- pus, wonder a little, what the future holds for them. Still, they are grateful for the opportunity to participate in Honors Day and to put the last year of their college lives behind them.

Son of William E. Zumbrunn, managing editor of the Bowling Green News, Duane Zumbrunn, will be the recipient of many slams, most of them being legitimate. To the editor, the journalism dept. has a certain element of professionalism to it. Although the task of running a college paper is done in laboratory classes on the whole, criticism by students is quite often and there are classes on the whole, criticism by students is quite often.

SAEs Wear Fraternity Track Crown After Edging Phi Dels

By FERNIE JACKSON

Sigma Alpha Epsilon wore the fraternity track crown today after having edged out a well-conditioned Phi Delta Theta aggregation 37-32 in last Thursday's fraternity track meet.

Phi Delta Theta, however, is protesting the victory due to ineligibility of one of the SAE contestants. The protest states that the contestant has at Toledo University, thereby making him ineligible for intercollegiate competition in that sport. If the protest is upheld the Phi Delta will move into first place.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon finished in third place with seven markers followed by Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Nu, and Sigma Chi with seven markers each and Delta Tau Delta each with five markers wound up in fourth place.

The decision on the eligibility status will be handed down this week by the interfraternity athletic committee.

Belle of Phi Delta Theta was high-point man with seven points by virtue of a first and third in the 100 and 220. Previously of SAE was run-up with five points, with a second in the high jump and third in the broad jump.

The decision on the eligibility status will be handed down this week by the interfraternity athletic committee.
