4-16-1990

Monitor Newsletter April 16, 1990

Bowling Green State University

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.bgsu.edu/monitor

Recommended Citation

https://scholarworks.bgsu.edu/monitor/1012

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the University Publications at ScholarWorks@BGSU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Monitor by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks@BGSU.
Language/Music Festival to be held April 16, 17

Performers, poets and composers will provide the entertainment at the Language/Music Festival to be held on Saturday, April 16 and 17, at 8 p.m., at the Festival Hall. The festival is an attempt to open a dialogue through artistic and literary expression among students, faculty and community members.

Maj. Norval, creative writing, who has organized the festival, said that the intent is to provide a forum for the exchange of ideas and to promote understanding and respect for different cultures. He said that the festival is a way for students to express themselves and to share their ideas with others.

The festival opens Monday from 9 to 11 a.m. in the Green Room of the Moore Musical Arts Center. Tickets for the festival are $20 for adults and $15 for students.

The festival will feature a variety of performances, including poetry readings and musical performances. Some of the featured artists include Professor Mary K. Jackson, who will perform a reading of her poetry, and Professor John E. Lee, who will perform a musical composition. Other featured artists include Professor David Crooks, who will perform a musical composition, and Professor John E. Lee, who will perform a musical composition.

The festival will also feature a variety of workshops, including a workshop on the history of poetry and a workshop on the history of music. Some of the featured workshops include a workshop on the history of poetry and a workshop on the history of music.

The festival will also feature a variety of exhibits, including an exhibit of poetry and an exhibit of music. Some of the featured exhibits include an exhibit of poetry and an exhibit of music.

The festival will also feature a variety of lectures, including a lecture on the history of poetry and a lecture on the history of music. Some of the featured lectures include a lecture on the history of poetry and a lecture on the history of music.

The festival will also feature a variety of concerts, including a concert of poetry and a concert of music. Some of the featured concerts include a concert of poetry and a concert of music.

The festival will also feature a variety of films, including a film on the history of poetry and a film on the history of music. Some of the featured films include a film on the history of poetry and a film on the history of music.

The festival will also feature a variety of lectures, including a lecture on the history of poetry and a lecture on the history of music. Some of the featured lectures include a lecture on the history of poetry and a lecture on the history of music.

The festival will also feature a variety of concerts, including a concert of poetry and a concert of music. Some of the featured concerts include a concert of poetry and a concert of music.

The festival will also feature a variety of films, including a film on the history of poetry and a film on the history of music. Some of the featured films include a film on the history of poetry and a film on the history of music.
Hyslop honored as top educator

Dr. David E. Hyslop, chair of the business education department, has been honored by the Business Education Teachers Association at the College Teacher of the Year Award and the NEATEA Outstanding Service Award.

Dr. Hyslop is currently serving as the chair of the California State University, Fullerton, College of Business Administration and Economics. He has received numerous awards and recognitions for his contributions to the field of business education, including the Outstanding Teacher Award from the Long Beach Business Journal and the Outstanding Educator Award from the California Private Colleges Association.

Faculty/staff recognitions

Faculty members from the College of Education and Allied Professions were recognized for their outstanding contributions to the university.

Robert Disston, Professor of Education, was honored for his dedication to the teaching and mentoring of future educators. He has been recognized for his innovative teaching methods and his commitment to student success.

Kathleen Williams, Assistant Professor of Education, was recognized for her work in curriculum development and her contributions to the field of educational policy.

The following faculty members were presented with awards at the College Teacher of the Year Awards Ceremony.

• Dr. Robert Disston, Professor of Education
• Dr. Kathleen Williams, Assistant Professor of Education

Friends bring storyteller to banquet

The Friends of the Fine and Performing Arts, most honored student will be the guest speaker at the Friends' spring banquet.

The event will feature a keynote address by a distinguished scholar, and a performance by a student ensemble. The Friends will also present an award to an outstanding staff member.

Committee is looking for outstanding staff

The Committee is looking for members who are outstanding in their field. The Committee is seeking candidates for Outstanding Staff Awards, Outstanding Faculty, and Outstanding Student Awards.

The Committee is currently accepting nominations for outstanding staff members. Nominations must be received by the end of this month.

Planning to retire?

The following faculty members have announced their intention to retire:

• Dr. Richard Taylor, Professor of Education
• Dr. Elizabeth Smith, Associate Professor of Education

Planning to retire?

The following faculty members have announced their intention to retire:

• Dr. Richard Taylor, Professor of Education
• Dr. Elizabeth Smith, Associate Professor of Education

Finalists are named

More than 50 students were named as finalists for the Outstanding Students Awards.

Marti Brown is a senior majoring in commerce and management. She has been recognized for her leadership qualities and her contribution to the community.

Susan Johnson is a senior majoring in education. She has been recognized for her dedication to teaching and her commitment to student success.

The following students have been named as finalists for the Outstanding Students Awards:

• Marti Brown, senior majoring in commerce and management
• Susan Johnson, senior majoring in education

Hyslop honored as top educator

Dr. David E. Hyslop, chair of the business education department, has been honored by the Business Education Teachers Association at the College Teacher of the Year Award and the NEATEA Outstanding Service Award.

Dr. Hyslop is currently serving as the chair of the California State University, Fullerton, College of Business Administration and Economics. He has received numerous awards and recognitions for his contributions to the field of business education, including the Outstanding Teacher Award from the Long Beach Business Journal and the Outstanding Educator Award from the California Private Colleges Association.
Hyslop honored as top educator

Dr. David H. Hyslop, chair of the business education department, has been named the Outstanding Educator of the Year by the College Teachers of the Year Award and the Outstanding Service Award by the National Association of Colleges of Business Education.

Hyslop's work has been recognized by his colleagues and students alike. He has served as a consultant for several state and national organizations and has received numerous awards for his contributions to the field of business education.

He received his undergraduate degree from Ohio State University and his graduate degrees from the University of Wisconsin and the University of Illinois.

In addition to his teaching responsibilities, Hyslop has been actively involved in community service and has served on numerous boards and committees.

He is a member of the American Association of Colleges of Business Education and has been honored by the Ohio Association of Colleges and Universities.

Hyslop has also been a recipient of several prestigious awards, including the Distinguished Service Award from the College Teachers of the Year Award and the Outstanding Service Award from the National Association of Colleges of Business Education.

Hyslop has contributed significantly to the field of business education through his research, publications, and service. He is a frequent speaker at conferences and has published numerous articles in professional journals.

The award was presented at a special ceremony held at the university, where Hyslop was recognized for his contributions to the field of business education.

Friends join Sidebar to tell their story

Friends of the University have been selected to participate in the inaugural Sidebar program, which recognizes the contributions of alumni and friends.

The Sidebar program highlights the achievements and accomplishments of these individuals, who have demonstrated exemplary commitment to the university and its mission.

The program, designed to honor and celebrate the contributions of friends and alumni, is an initiative of the university's Development Office.

The Sidebar program is open to all friends and alumni of the university, and selections are made based on the criteria of exemplary service, leadership, and dedication to the university.

Selections will be announced regularly, with new events scheduled throughout the year.

The program provides a platform for friends and alumni to share their stories, connect with others who share similar passions, and celebrate the legacy of the university.

For more information, visit the university's Development Office website or contact the Development Office directly.
Office studying possible program administrators

Following a large number of complaints with the Board of Directors over the University of Health grant to the University’s health program, a number of university officials have requested the resignation of the current board of directors. The decision was made at a meeting on Thursday, March 30.

Make travel requests

Faculty planning to submit requests for Faculty Research Committee (FRC) travel grants should submit their applications by May 1 in order to ensure priority for travel for the summer.

New York

Ashcraft, an assistant professor of music, will be traveling to New York City to represent the Department of Music at the New York State University at Purchase.

New Zealand

Pressers from University will arrive in New Zealand on April 30 and will return on May 5.

Oklahoma

Alley, an assistant professor of English, will be traveling to Oklahoma for a three-week research trip. She will return on May 15.

Oblivious

Dr. Joseph Balog, 75, died April 5 in his office. He was the founding dean of the College of Health and Human Services and started the department in 1969. He was born on July 28, 1921, in Cleveland, Ohio.

Oriental

Joseph Chapin, 64, of Portland, Oregon, died on May 7 in Portland.

Outlet

Reserve officers have been requested by the army to defend the United States against possible threats.

Poultry

One of the poultry farms in the United States is facing financial difficulties due to a lack of feed. The farm, which has been in operation for over 50 years, is struggling to meet the demands of the market.

Quakers

A group of Quakers have been protesting against the construction of a new airport in their community. They believe the airport will have a negative impact on the environment and the local economy.