GI Bill Costs 12 Billion; 7 Million Vets Get Benefits

When the G.I. educational benefits bill disappeared Wednesday evening, it was estimated that extant programs, and training non-disabled vets will total a cool $12,400,000,000.

Approximate figures from the Veteran's Administration show that about 7,000,000 veterans have been training in training centers, many of whom are expected to complete training during the next five to fifteen months. Cost of subsistence, equipment, and training non-disabled vets will total a cool $12,400,000,000.

Another estimated, 1,450,000 ex-G.I.'s have taken advantage of the on-the-job training. January 1947, was the apex for enrollment of 725,000 veterans who had received books and marched off to classes.

A congressional investigating committee has uncovered many instances of abuse of G.I. benefits, but despite the findings, the veterans and VA officials feel that the educational program has produced the nation with a highly skilled and trained workforce.

In the last minute rush of the final week of summer school would be nearly impossible for me to write you a letter that helped make Dr. and Mrs. Prout's send off successful.

We do want to thank each of you for the tremendous job that you did, for the co-operation of the Social Committee of your student body. We wish to thank you for your interest and help in forming through our paper.
