Artist Series Brings Noted Correspondent To Campus

Rocose Drummond, noted political and international correspondent for the Fol- liard Science Monitor, will dis- cuss "The State of the World" during a 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. in the Main AID.

This will be the last event in the 1952-63 Artist Series, and no admission will be charged. Reserve seats will be held for students presenting 20-page tickets. Following the speech, a reception will be held in Studio B of the PA Bldg. Newmen of Northwestern Ohio and area representatives of Delta Sigma Phi and Sigma Phi, local journalism, however, will not be invited. Members of Delta Sigma Phi and area representatives of the International Press Exhibit Committee, sponsored by the American Red Cross, will act as ushers.

Drummond is recognized as one of the outstanding personalities in his profession. Mr. Drummond is chief of the Christian Science Monitor bureau in Washington, having held that position since 1948. He is one of the foremost correspondents of the Washington press, and is a keen analyst of foreign and domestic political and develop- ments.

In 1942, Mr. Drummond was appointed Executive director of the United States Economic Cooperation Administration in the high post of the nation's capital.

Drummond joined the staff of the Christian Science Monitor in 1924, and was the first editorial writer, appointed under the late Arthur Schlesinger, where he remained until his retirement. He was editor of the school paper in his senior year.

Starting as a reporter on the Monitor, his successive titles were assistant city editor, assistant in the editorial department, world editor, European editorial manager, and from 1948-49 held the post of executive editor, having been awarded an award for the best series motion picture, "The International Press Exhibit at the U.S. Exhibit in World." He also received the George P. Baker award, with the citation, "For his 1948-1949 reporting on the British government, and his handling of the signing of the accord with Wood- harmon and his head." The prize would be awarded by the National Board of Review. Science Award Won
