Tommy Dorsey Band To Play At Homecoming

By CAROL BREDDER

The Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, featuring Warren Covington, will re-create the never-to-be forgotten music of the "Sentimental Gentleman" at the annual Homecoming Dance. Sponsored by the sophomore class, headed by Ed Shirkey, president, the dance will be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Union at 9 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 25.

This will be the first time that the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra has ever appeared on this campus. Tickets for the dance, at $1 per person, are going on sale today at the windows of the old business office on the second floor of the Administration Bldg. They are also being sold to alumni now, and students are urged to buy theirs early.

The Dorsey story is well known; he was often referred to as the "world's greatest" trombone player. In 1934, with brother Jimmy he formed a band. By 1936, after separating with Jimmy Dorsey, his band was on its way up. Tommy Dorsey was the first band leader in the country to use the trombone as a solo instrument.

Two of the most famous Dorsey recordings, "Marie" and "Song of India," started records back on the road to big-time business, setting trends in popular arrangements that lasted to this day. The present hit record of the Orchestra is the popular platter, "Tea for Two Cha-Cha."

No story of the Tommy Dorsey music would be complete without a mention of the musicians and vocalists who got their start with the orchestra. Such names appear as Glenn Miller, Ray McKinley, Bob Crosby, Buddy Rich and Gene Krupa. Among the vocalists who served their apprenticeships with Tommy are such greats as Frank Sinatra, Dick Haymes, Jo Stafford and the Pied Pipers.

With the death of Dorsey, Warren Covington, a brilliant trombonist, was the outstanding choice to head the great Tommy Dorsey Orchestra. Covington was established as one of New York's most respected, and highest paid musicians—playing for such names as Jackie Gleason, Ed Sullivan, Perry Como, Robert Q. Lewis and Arthur Godfrey.

Add Warren Covington's talent, combined with the music of the "Sentimental Gentleman" plus the spirit of Homecoming ought to make this a great evening—something to remember.

Criticism Brings Kiss Restriction, Dean Declares

In response to criticisms from visitors leaving the University Union, the residents of Alice Prout Hall have been asked to stop kissing their dates at the main door of the residence hall. The request was a joint action on the part of Mrs. Florence Currier, dean of women, and Mrs. Loma Urschel, Prout's head resident.

Mrs. Currier stated in an interview that each year there are a number of criticisms directed towards some of the displays of affection that occur on the steps of the women's residence halls when the women are returning from dates. These criticisms come particularly from townspeople and are directed principally to the large residence halls such as Prout or Founders.

"Usually the residents themselves, through corridor meetings, etc., decide what will be accepted as good taste when a man and woman return to the hall," Dean Currier said "but as the house board at Prout was not in operation and as there were several examples of extremely bad taste in displays of affection, the ruling came from Mrs. Urschel and myself."

The reasons for the ruling were explained to the residents by Mrs. Urschel at meetings. Mrs. Currier added, and practically all of them saw the need for it.

She emphasized the fact that the ruling is nothing completely new. "Every year," she said, "such a situation arises and it draws criticism not only from outsiders, but from other students and even residents of the hall itself."

Frosh Team Gets New Cheerleaders

Names of the cheerleaders for freshman athletic contests were announced recently by Miss Sara Banks, assistant to the dean of students.

Selected after preliminary judging were Gwen Ward, Marilyn Yocum, Mary Haas, and Dot Vincent. These four will work at all the home games of the freshman football and basketball teams.

All freshman football games will be held at 3 p.m. starting with the Kent State game Friday. The Detroit frosh will be at Bowling Green on Thursday, Oct. 23. The last home game will be Friday, Oct. 31, with Toledo.

Kennedy Promotes Series For Lovers Of Classical Music

A series of programs of classical music and lectures is being presented in the recital auditorium of the Hall of Music every Thursday at 2:30 p.m., announced Dr. James P. Kennedy, chairman of the music department.

This Thursday's program will be a panel discussion on the role of music in liberal education and will be concerned with the contributions of musical understanding in non-music fields. The panel will consist of professors in non-musical areas.

Future programs will include recitals by guest performers and students. This year, for the first time, said Dr. Kennedy, faculty recitals will be included in the programs.

U.S. Firms Surveyed By Professor, Student

Dr. Robert D. Henderson, chairman of the department of business administration, and William G. Bernard, psychology graduate student, have recently completed a survey of the methods of American firms for employee contributions to managerial planning.

The "suggestion system" was found to be most common, with most companies presenting some type of award for worthwhile suggestions. Every company included in the survey but one felt that this system pays for itself.

Phi Kappa Psi and Zeta Beta Tau did not receive any pledges.

IFC Orientates Actives, Pledges At Convocation

Orientating incoming pledges to fraternity life was the main purpose of the first Interfraternity Council Convocation held Sunday night in the Grand Ballroom of the University Union.

All fraternity men, both active members and new pledges, began the program with an invocation. Following the prayer, Ronald Harmon, president of IFC, introduced the officers of the organization, plus Wallace W. Taylor Jr., adviser and dean of men, and Arch B. Conklin, past adviser and present associate dean of student affairs. The presidents of all the fraternities were then introduced to the audience.

President McDonald was also present, and expressed his wishes for success on the part of the fraternities on campus. Dr. Elden T. Smith, dean of student affairs, spoke of what the fraternity has to offer to the pledges and what the pledges have to offer in return.

World Views...

LEBANON—Violence has erupted again in Lebanon. Street assassinations ushered in the bloody fourth week of an anti-government strike. At the same time Lebanese leaders are working anxiously for a political compromise to avert the growing shadow of civil war. With the phalangist followers of ex-president Chamoun threatening an even stiffer strike, President Chehab has called phalangist leaders to meet in a new attempt to end political violence.

ROME—Yesterday the final funeral ceremony was held for the late Pope. He was entombed in a temporary crypt below the great church of St. Peter. In a year the body of the Pope will be entombed in a permanent tomb.

YUCCA FLAT TESTING GROUNDS—The Atomic Energy Commission exploded another nuclear device in Nevada early yesterday. The blast was so powerful it was seen in San Francisco, 500 miles away. The explosion was described as a 10-kiloton blast—meaning it had the force of 10-thousand tons of TNT.

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court has agreed to examine the validity of three of Virginia's 1956 laws directed against the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. A special three-judge federal court in Richmond held the state laws unconstitutional last April.

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court has refused to review Federal Court actions forbidding Governor Faubus of Arkansas to use National Guard troops to keep Negroes out of Little Rock Central High School. Technically, the high court rejected Faubus' request that it review an April ruling of the eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis.

HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA—A hearing has been scheduled for November at Pomeroy, Ohio, by U.S. engineers for the proposed construction of a New Ohio River dam near Racine, Ohio.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The curtain of space has rung down on America's Pioneer moon rocket, but scientists are still talking about that final leap.

Officials say Pioneer apparently crashed into the atmosphere over the South Pacific Sunday night. It is believed to have smacked into the atmosphere at a speed of nearly 25,000 miles an hour and to have been consumed by friction shortly after.

But in all, officials say that Pioneer traveled more than 79,000 miles high in an unprecedented 43-hour exploration of outer space.

CLEVELAND—The Cleveland Indians' Board Chairman, William R. Daley, said yesterday that he hadn't decided whether to vote for a transfer of the team to another city.

'Visit To Small Planet' Opening Night To Be Thursday In Main Auditorium

"Visit to a Small Planet," the first major production of the year, opens 8:15 p.m., Thursday. This comedy, by Gore Vidal, will run Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in the Main Auditorium. Tickets will be sold at the windows of the old Business Office located on the second floor of the Administration Bldg. from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and from 2 to 4 p.m. Monday thru Friday.

Tickets may be purchased at the door for all performances between 7:15 and curtain time. All tickets will be five cents with the presentation of an Activity Card.

Joseph Cloutier has the role of Kreton, the visitor who arrives on the earth via spaceship. Lewis Bove will portray General Tom Powers, the military politician. Harold Obee, assistant professor of speech, is directing "Small Planet" and John Hepler is designing the set.

Other cast members are Albert Ronke as Roger Spelding; Auden Matiscik as Ellen Spelding; Virginia Johnson as Reba Spelding; David Riggs as Conrad Mayberry; Ronald O'Leary as the Aide; Bruce Wagner as Delton Four; Murray Ferderber and Michael Parker as the TV technicians; and John Benedict as a policeman.

The play will open with a flying saucer landing off stage.

Kreton, the spaceman, has come to our planet to observe the Civil War, but because of an error in timing, he arrives in 1959.

Kreton is amused by the customs of the earth people, especially the actions of the two lovers, Conrad and Ellen. Later the Spelding's cat carries on a mental conversation with the visitor, who has mind reading powers. Kreton makes a vase fly off the shelf, a globe disintegrate, and a rifle jump out of an officer's hands.

According to Obee, "Small Planet," with its satirical and broad humor, should appeal to the college audience.

OBSERVING YOUNG LOVERS, which is something that he wanted to do while on Earth, is Kreton, the visitor from outer space, at the right. Portraying the visitor when the University Theatre's first major production of the year opens Thursday night will be Joseph Cloutier. The happy pair at the left are Auden Matiscik and Dave Riggs as Ellen and Conrad. Looking on approvingly is General Powers, portrayed by Lewis Bove.

Double Casts Chosen For BG 'Family Plays'

Double casts for the annual family plays were announced recently by Nancy Brown, director and graduate assistant in the speech department. The plays, "The Room Upstairs," "The Case of the Missing Handshake," and "Scattered Showers," are each approximately a half hour in length.

The double cast for "The Room Upstairs" includes: stage manager: Mike Parker and Sam Mehrlay; Anna: Barbara Gaines and Sharon Mutner; Fran Harrod: Mary Hunter and Judy Edwards; Robert Harrod: Tom Kassay and Bob Burger; and Mrs. Johnson: Jane Voneman and Linda Foettlinger.

The play is about old and young people living together. It is designed to give young people "who've never been old" an insight into what being old is really like.

Cast in "The Case of the Missing Handshake" are: stage manager: Dan Maurer and Mike Parker; Sara Jessup: Barbara Uhl and Gloria Shelley; Frank Jessup: Jon Benedict and Tom Kassay; Valerie: Barbara Krauss and Nancy Traxler; and Miss Crosby: Joan Niemes and Gayle Madson.

This play centers around the problems of good manners in pre-teenagers. It tries to help parents understand the baffling and inconsistent behavior that often characterizes children of this age.

"Scattered Showers" is concerned with three mothers and how their pre-school youngsters act in a crisis when each child has been reared according to a different method of discipline.

Cast members include: stage manager: Don Maurer and Edward Krute; Jane: Carol Simmons and Judy Brock; Elise: Brenda Kitzler and Pauline Clark; and Harriet: Carol Toth and Nancy Holloway.

Approximately fifteen bookings have been made for the three plays so far. They will be performed for various organizations in northwestern Ohio throughout the academic year.

Democracy Reversed

In a democracy, the majority of the people decide which political party shall have control of the government. The majority of the people also decide what rules shall govern the entire nation when it casts its votes in elections for either the rules themselves or for the men who will establish the rules.

This is one of the basic principles upon which the democratic form of government is based. It is the word "majority" which is important. Not "all of the people," but "the majority" makes the decisions which affect the welfare and lives of a democracy's citizens, and people not counted in "the majority" must abide by them.

Usually it is not too painful for those not belonging to "the majority" to exist under these rules and men chosen by it. But if the situation is reversed and if a form of punishment is involved, then a great many people are hurt because of the ideas of actions of only a few or "the minority." Numbers of people are punished when it is only the guilty few who actually deserve harsh treatment. Unfortunately, these situations occur in a democracy also.

Such an unfair situation exists now at the Alice Prout Residence Hall, where residents have been asked not to allow men to kiss them at the main door. Because a few residents were not wise enough to see that their displays of affection were not in good taste, none of the women living there are now permitted to give an innocent, simple, good-night kiss to their dates.

Some of the persons which the restriction affects—a few of the innocent residents, probably all of the ones guilty of the distasteful exhibitions, and probably all men who date women living in the residence hall—contend that the cause for the ban lies with the persons who made the complaints to Dean Currier and Mrs. Urschel, the head resident. It could easily be said that they were all "busybodies and old maids," yet they should know that this is not sound thinking.

The bad taste of only a few residents was responsible for the ban, and the sooner that these guilty persons realize this, then the sooner the restriction will be eased or suspended.

Letter To Editor

To The Editor:

I am writing this in regard to the article in the paper of Oct. 7 concerning the three students commended for high scholarship. Our school has, in the past months, been striving for an increase in high scholastic standing and initiative among its students. The two hundred dollar award stands as one reward for achieving this high standing.

This last year, three students became eligible for this honor by receiving perfect grades. As it was stated in the paper, Shu Sum Cheuk was not the recipient of anything but an honorable mention because he "carried a lighter load." This "lighter load" consisted merely of chemistry, algebra, German and biology—the subjects required for a pre-medical student.

I am not concerned with the right of the other students to receive the award, but only with the terrible wrong committed when an award equal to theirs was not awarded to Shu Sum. After the hours of constant study in the classroom, laboratory and library, and the right earned for an award such as this, what a discouraging, cruel, and unfair award is an honorable mention.

What sort of initiative for high scholarship is this, when a student who has made a 4.0 average is not able to feel anything but discouragement, and whose entire year of diligent effort is termed as a light load? The question also could be raised as to why there is only one $200 award for high scholarship. Does this mean that only one student out of the hundreds that enter is expected to be eligible?

I know that I am not the only person who shares the above opinions, and I am sure that if everyone put himself in Shu Sum's place and thought of the work, made harder because of the language barrier, that had gone into the preparation and completion to the maximum of all his requirements, he would readily see how unjust the presentation of the awards has been.

Nancy Felt

To The Editor:

In lieu of what happened at the October 7 seminar for students and faculty, with Mr. Seares giving a very informative, stimulating and challenging speech to only a handful of curious business students and a few faculty members, I would like to pose some questions to the persons concerned.

Why are persons majoring in the areas that will be discussed during the course of the speech not required to attend?

Why, when such an opportunity arises, does the student prefer to sweat and strain to acquire information from usually out-of-date books, instead of listening to men who present up-to-date information, and are experts in their field, and who are, for the most part, dynamic and invigorating personalities?

I believe that COBUS is the best thing to arise out of these ivy halls for some time. It will continue because it is interesting—it gives the student an insight into his instructors' personal philosophies in many areas, and because of the atmosphere in which the program is conducted—one of friendly and warm relations between student and faculty. It is succeeding beyond expectations.

The student who is able to attend these dynamic meetings, and chooses not to, is missing the boat completely.

SAIL ON, SAIL ON!

I suppose October 12 is just another day to you. You get up in the ordinary way and do all the ordinary things you ordinarily do. You have your breakfast, you walk your ocelot, you go to classes, you write home for money, you burn the dean in effigy, you watch Disneyland, and you go to bed. And do you give one little thought to the fact that October 12 is Columbus Day? No, you do not.

Nobody thinks about Columbus these days. Let us, therefore, pause for a moment and retell his ever-glorious, endlessly stirring saga.

Christopher Columbus was born in Genoa on August 25, 1451. His father, Ralph T. Columbus, was in the three-minute auto wash game. His mother, Eleanor (Swiftly) Columbus, was a sprinter. Christopher was an only child, except for his four brothers and eight sisters. With his father busy all day at the auto wash and his mother constantly away at track meets, young Columbus was left pretty much to his own devices. However, the lad did not sulk or brood. He was an avid reader and spent all his waking hours immersed in a book. Unfortunately, there was only one book in Genoa at the time—Care of the Horse by Aristotle—and after several years of reading Care of the Horse, Columbus grew restless. So when rumor reached him that there was another book in Barcelona, off he ran as fast as his fat little legs would carry him.

The rumor, alas, proved false. The only book in Barcelona was Cuidar un Caballo by Aristotle, which proved to be nothing more than a Spanish translation of Care of the Horse.

Bitterly disappointed, Columbus began to dream of going to India where, according to legend, there were thousands of books. But the only way to go to India was on horseback, and after so many years of reading Care of the Horse, Columbus never wanted to clap eyes on a horse again. Then a new thought struck him: perhaps it was possible to get to India by sea!

Fired with his revolutionary new idea, Columbus raced to the court of Ferdinand and Isabella on his little fat legs (Columbus was plagued with little fat legs all his life) and pleaded his case with such fervor that the rulers were persuaded.

On October 12, 1492, Columbus set foot on the New World. The following year he returned to Spain with a cargo of wonders never before seen in Europe—spices and metals and plants and flowers and—most wondrous of all—tobacco! Oh, what a sensation tobacco caused in Europe! The filter had long since been invented (by Aristotle, curiously enough) but nobody knew what to do with it. Now Columbus, the Great Discoverer, made still another great discovery: he took a filter, put tobacco in front of it, and invented the world's first filter cigarette!

Through the centuries filters have been steadily improved and so has tobacco, until today we have achieved the ultimate in the filter cigarette—Marlboro, of course! Oh, what a piece of work is Marlboro! Great tobacco, great filter, great smoke! And so, good friends, when next you enjoy a fine Marlboro Cigarette, give a thought to the plucky Genoese, Christopher Columbus, whose vision and perseverance made the whole lovely thing possible.

BG Stops Nation's Top Groundgainer To Trounce Western Michigan, 40-6

Undeclared Bowling Green took revenge for last year's upset tie by completely overpowering Western Michigan 40-6 in their first Mid-American Conference game Saturday afternoon, at Waldo Stadium.

Bob Ramlow led the attack with three touchdowns and an average of 6.91 yards per carry, as BG pushed to a new offensive record of 504 yards in one game while holding the highly touted Bronco offense to only 93 yards.

Flashy Lovell Coleman, the nation's small-college rushing leader, thrilled the 6,500 spectators as he took a BG second quarter kickoff three yards deep in his end zone and rocketed 103 yards through Falcon defenders for a touchdown, the longest of the year in collegiate football.

Aside from this one spark, the day was a complete loss for the spunky fighting halfback. He gained a grand total of 38 yards rushing, being unable to crack through or around the Falcon defenses from scrimmage.

The scoring started early in the game as Ramlow scampered 35 yards off tackle and through the Western Michigan secondary for the first tally. Ramlow again climaxed a 57 yard Falcon drive with a seven yard spurt early in the second period. The second extra point was missed and the score was 12-0.

It was on this kick-off that Coleman chilled the hearts of the Bowling Green fans with his spectacular run, but the thaw quickly set in as BG's second team ramblé 70 yards in 11 plays with Chuck Comer hitting pay dirt on a 4 yard drive.

Recovering a WM fumble, BG drove to the Bronco 21 where its drive sputtered and Western took possession. On fourth down the Falcon forward wall partially blocked Jesse Madden's attempted punt from his end zone and the ball was brought to rest on the Broncos' one yard line.

Quarterback Bob Colburn sneaked the ball across and Chuck Perry's kick made the score 25-6 at the half.

In the second half the Falcons scored only two touchdowns but completely dominated the ball. Western could grind out only four first downs during the game and except for Coleman's dash, never penetrated the BG 40 yard line.

Starting quarterback Colburn hit on eight of fourteen passes as the Falcons completed 12 of 24 for 213 yards. Fullback Jerry Dianiska chewed up 80 yards in his 15 carries gaining many extra yards on sheer drive.

Sigma Chi and Phi Kappa Tau started the fraternity football leagues off with a highly contested game last Wednesday. Sigma Chi came out on top with a 26-13 victory over the Phi Taus. Harold De Vinney scored two touchdowns for the winners.

In other fraternity action, the Pikes defeated the ATO's, 21-6 and Tau Kappa Epsilon won by forfeit over Alpha Kappa Omega. Hal Wassink scored 12 points for Delta Tau Delta but the DU's garnered 13 points to win, 13-12. Larry Schmith scored 7 points for Kappa Sigma as they defeated Zeta Beta Tau, 27-6.

Starky Stalks

By Bob Starkweather

The Falcons were able to dodinner that we indulged in was what had to be done to win the Western Michigan game last Saturday. The task put before them—STOP COLEMAN. As the final score indicated, the local gridders were successful. Coleman who had been averaging nine yards per carry and was leading the nation in small college rushing, was held to only 38 yards in 13 carries.

Coleman's one stellar performance came with the Falcons leading, 12-0, during the second quarter. Chuck Comer sent the ball flying deep into the Western Michigan end zone on a kickoff, into Coleman's waiting arms. The speedy fullback tucked the ball under his arm and scampered along the sideline 103 yards for Western's only score of the game.

The game was a bad one all around for the sensational groundgainer. On one of the many Falcon kickoffs Coleman yelled at one of his teammates who was receiving the ball. The Bronco turned to see what Coleman was saying and dropped it. On another play Coleman was a victim of circumstance and was thrown for a 17 yard loss.

Coach Doyt Perry said after the game that the team played their best ball so far this season. We'll go along with that.

The Falcons were ranked seventh in the weekly United Press International small college football ratings last week. Mississippi Southern led the way followed by East Texas State, Idaho State, Connecticut, and Chattanooga. Kent State was sixth; Bowling Green, seventh; Butler, eighth; Central Michigan, ninth; and Montana State, tenth.

Also from the wire service we find that Miami University will meet Army in 1960. The Redskins will play the Cadets at West Point on October 29th, 1960.

The Falcons victory dinner Saturday was held at Schensuls Cafeteria in Kalamazoo. The steak

Congratulations to the two new cheerleaders, Judy Perry and Marilyn Wigger joined the ranks prior to the Dayton game two weeks ago.

The cheerleaders have been making an appearance at all the games this year, except the Wichita game, and will continue to cheer the team on to victory the rest of the season, whether at home or on the road. Let's have a good delegation at the rest of the games and help them out. It's pretty disheartening to them to cheer themselves hoarse only to find that they are the only ones yelling. It's an old saying around Bowling Green, but where's the spirit.

The Miami game, Nov. 1, will provide all with a chance to be heard. A special train will leave Bowling Green for the game as will several caravans. The tickets have been reserved for one section. Let's all sit in this section and help the cheerleaders cheer the team on to a win over OVER RATED, Miami.

MAC Roundup

The University of Toledo dropped its second game in four decisions as the Rockets lost to Marshall, 35-12, in a Mid-American Conference night game.

Miami (Ohio) took the lead in the MAC with an impressive 35-0 football victory over previously undefeated Kent State. The hard-hitting Miami line ripped holes in the Kent State wall and held the Golden Flashes to a total of 82 yards rushing. Miami pushed through for 394 yards on the ground. Kent State got no farther than the Miami 36-yard line during the whole game.

Ohio University's Bobcats ran wild over a fumbling Dayton University squad and posted its third win of the season, 27-8, in a non-conference game.

Neiswander Winner Of Many Trophies For Baton Twirling

By LARRY COFFMAN

To Lucylee Neiswander, the pert, talented, and nationally recognized baton twirling expert of the University Marching Band, large crowds and the pressure of competition are nothing new.

From Briggs Stadium in Detroit to the green turfs of Kentucky, from the University of Iowa stadium to crowded New York City, she has displayed her amazing abilities to countless thousands of appreciative fans in halftime shows, parades, and national baton twirling contests.

Entering the University from Adrian, Mich., this fall, Miss Neiswander began "twirling" at the age of 10. One year later she entered state competition in the the freshman division and was crowned champion.

At 12 she pulled down like honors in the junior, or intermediate, division. The next three years she maintained the title of champion in the senior division. This gave her a total of five consecutive state championships by the age of 15.

At this point, Lucylee set out for national honors by traveling to Dayton to compete in the National Baton Twirler's Association Meet. Again she came in first. Later that same year it was on to St. Paul for the Drum Major's Association National Championships. What happened? You guessed it! Another title was added to her long list of triumphs.

Having attained the highest possible acclaim, Lucylee decided to quit national competition and concentrate on more normal pursuits. To remind her of the past will always be the more than 100 medals and 60 trophies which she has won.

In talking to Miss Neiswander you become acquainted with new terms, but terms that are an everyday part of her vocabulary. She speaks of "fingerwork," "full hand," "rolls," "aerials," and "leg-work." Self explanatory yes, but still unfamiliar to the average spectator.

To gain variety, there are many types of routines: fire (where both ends of the baton are dipped in kerosene and set afire), hoop (the baton is encased in a hoop) flag (flags are attached to each end of the baton), and two and three baton twirling.

Miss Neiswander readily confesses that two or three hours of practice a day are required to keep in top form. In addition to all this and her classwork she still finds time to play the bassoon in the newly organized Woodwind Quintet. An education major, she plans to teach in elementary schools after her graduation.
