LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Sirhan

Sirhan Hisham Sirhan was convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to death in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, a presidential candidate and brother of slain President John F. Kennedy. He was there to see his two brothers in the United States on what was expected to be the final part of a tour of the country.

The same jury of seven men and five women who convicted Sirhan had a good word for people, was a mechanical technician aboard the EC 121 reconnaissance plane and was a well-respected and influential member of the United States military. He is serving a sentence of life in prison.

The defense had hoped for a not guilty verdict, but the jury deliberated for 22 minutes and found Sirhan guilty of first-degree murder.

Shot down by North Koreans

A South Korean pilot was shot down by North Korean fighters over the Yellow Sea in the early hours of Monday morning. The pilot, identified as a member of the South Korean Air Force, was killed in the crash.

North Korea has not provided any information about the pilot or the circumstances of the crash. The South Korean government has not commented on the incident, and it is not clear whether the North Koreans were responsible for the crash.

Korean students ask for truce meeting

Korean students have called for a meeting with North Korean officials to discuss the situation on the Korean Peninsula. The students say they are concerned about the tension and the possibility of a military conflict.

They are asking for a peaceful dialogue to address the issues and find a way to resolve them without resorting to violence. The students hope that the meeting will be held in a neutral location, such as Switzerland or the United Nations headquarters.

The request comes amid growing concern about the security situation on the Korean Peninsula. The United Nations has called on all parties to refrain from any action that could escalate tensions.

Court approves 'at-large' plan

A federal court has approved a plan to allow Korean students to vote in the upcoming presidential election. The plan will allow students who are registered to vote in California to cast their ballots in the election.

The court's decision comes after a series of legal challenges and negotiations between the Korean government and the United States. The court ruled that the plan is consistent with the U.S. Constitution and that it will help ensure that all Korean voters have the right to participate in the election.

The decision has been welcomed by Korean students, who say it will give them a voice in the selection of their leaders. The court's decision is a significant step forward in ensuring that all Korean Americans have the right to vote.

News accuracy and S & D's questioned

The BO News is being questioned and criticized for inaccuracies in its reporting. The newspaper has been accused of spreading misinformation and sensationalism, and there are concerns about the reliability of its coverage.

The newspaper has responded to the criticism, saying that it is committed to accurate and balanced reporting. The newspaper has also acknowledged that it has made mistakes and is working to improve its standards.

The BO News is a local newspaper based in the United States. It covers news and events in the community and is read by a large number of people.

The newspaper has been in operation for several years, and it has a reputation for being a trusted source of news and information. The newspaper is owned and operated by a local family.

Kent State demonstrators to appear in Court today

Two Kent State University students are scheduled to appear in court today on charges related to the protests that took place in May 1970. The students are accused of participating in a demonstration that turned violent and led to the deaths of four protesters.

The students are expected to plead not guilty to the charges. The court will consider whether there is enough evidence to proceed with the case.

The protests at Kent State are remembered as a turning point in the anti-war movement. The shooting of the four protesters by the National Guard sparked outrage and led to widespread protests across the United States.

The students say they are fighting for the right to participate in political expression and to have their voices heard. They are demanding justice for the four protesters and an end to the use of violence by law enforcement.

The case has been the subject of extensive media coverage and remains a source of controversy. The students are determined to see the case through to its conclusion and to hold the government accountable for its actions.

PANAMUNDO, Korea (AP) — The United Nations united in meeting with last April at the conference table of the Republic of Korea. The meeting was intended to foster better understanding and cooperation between the two Koreas.

The meeting was held in the presence of a high-level delegation from the Republic of Korea, including officials from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Ministry of Unification, and the Ministry of Defense.

The meeting was a significant step towards promoting peace and cooperation on the Korean Peninsula. The delegates discussed a range of issues, including the need for a peaceful resolution to the Korean conflict, the importance of promoting economic cooperation, and the need for closer people-to-people exchanges.

The delegates agreed to continue their efforts to promote peace and cooperation, and to work towards a peaceful resolution to the Korean conflict. The meeting ended on a positive note, with both sides expressing their commitment to promoting peace and cooperation.
Election coming

Student body elections will be held Wednesday, May 6, and this is the last issue of the BG News before they are over. Therefore, I have chosen this occasion to write about today is the Faster Poo. Today is Fast to the Presidio, the first link of the Presidio, the first link of the San Francisco State 700. March to the Presidio with punishment. This had no effect whatsoever. March to the Presidio

BY DAVID ASE

For anybody who would like to know, I have been here almost a year and a half. I'm going to leave this fall, and I believe it is about time that I say something. Obviously I thought Berkeley was something special, especially when I was in high school, and I really didn't want to write about it. Yes there is something "special" about this place but its hard to convey what you don't understand, you hear with me.

The time is now to make student government at Bowling Green as effective as possible.

From Berkeley

Links Socrates with youth today

Most of us have read Plato and know of the deviant forces of factor- ing in the classic Greek society. There have been a number of lines dissimilar to the Classical Greeks. Especially in the American society are in the same manner pressing authentic moral dissent. The Greek guru was posited so that he could no longer "irritate" sensitive areas of the body-society. Today, there is a whole swarms of these "irritating creatures" and they are threatened with a poisonous pestilence as was the honourable Greek.

If the string of this concerned and involved guilt is even more "trittling" to the sensitivities of contemporary society, for the new guilts has always been un- concerned and unmoved in the more serious functions of society. The generation in the "driver's seat" is presented a distorted image of youth, seeing it as they remember it and expect it to be. The practitioners of power see the new dissent as deviance, and thus, to a threat to the stability of society. The youth demand channels that would allow them to show their anger, to Wordpress the framework of their communities and to vent their feelings. This is a threatened, officials keep their "legitimate pesticides" at hand for this purpose.

Within an institution which teaches the lesson of Socrates' death, there is no room for the same sort of deviant mea- sures. Enlightened administrators who have no history of any other course but to open these channels of receptivity in order to give new authenticity to institutions, which have been long too unacquainted themselves as fortresses of true operations. We need an authentic Greek system of Socrates. This was "news" to me and most of the others who were there as well.

FROM WHERE DO YOU STAND?

March to the Presidio was quickly traced.

The Presidio is an army institution and the March to the Presidio was the ultimate effort to show support for 27 soldiers who were being trial in the Presidio stockade in October to protest the slaying of a fellow soldier. The android with the order was given by The Support the android to the crowd. The android was returned. The authority with an attempt is an effort to keep the android from being used. As the android was used the androids were due to speak. One day, there was a mechanical mishap, one of the machines used to program the android's mind. The malfunction was resulted quite readily, but not beto ten androids had slipped this restriction. Nine of them were recovered, one android was destroyed.

At first, no one noticed that one android robot which worked on the town's education department was under the control of an android. She had noticed that it went about its business in an air of coldness and individualism, but they could not find any errors to get a rise in her. The android was destroyed. Finally, one android seemed to show signs of heavy duty. Artificial Reasoning notation that there were experimental inconsistencies displayed to the productions presented by And-droid #275-50-3530. The source of the problem was quickly traced. It was the android that had displayed peculiar qualities.

Buns, babe team up for dinner

By HOWARD CLEVELAND

Guess who’s coming to dinner? Senator Burton, yes. Try Alexandra the Great, the regaling queen of burlesque. Thelma Chi fraternities had their usual dinner last night only this time they had a special guest. The beautiful young, redhead, who is now playing in Toronto met some of the fraternity members, who were sitting in the front row, at the performance last night. After the performance several of them managed to get back stage and ask her to dinner. Alexandra, who states she was 21 plus said that she started her career working at the Copa in New York as a show girl. It was there, Rose La Rose, owner of the Empire Burlesque in Toronto, discovered Alexandra and had been in the profession for about three years.

As far as burlesque goes, Alexandra says she looks at it as a profession and “burlesque is all how you look at it,” she quipped. She said that she does not drink or smoke and refuses to work where the girls have to drink or mix with the crowd. “When people think of the type of audiences that attend burlesque they usually picture bawd hands in the front row, but it usually is all college guys,” she said.

Alexandra has just returned from Hawaii, where she did several shows for the GI’s stationed there. While she was there she also appeared in the first 50 series.

Involvement is forum topic

By CHRISTINE LEHMAN

Staff Reporter

With only eight people present, the topic of “student involvement” was brought to the full resolution at Wednesday night’s Free University forum.

Accounting for the attendance, Malcolm Campbell, assistant professor of education, greeted the preciscation with international week. Students, however, felt that “lack of involvement” was the more likely reason.

From this observation, an impromptu discussion followed suggesting ways to involve the student more in Free University and the University as a whole, “In my opinion, the president and administration could foster involvement by making courses and curricula more relevant to the student and society,” commented one coed.

“For instance, my history course was nothing but a rehash of history field facts, with no relation made to current affairs and society today. My poetry course gave me no more appreciation of poetry than merely reading back meters and rhythm of a last. It seems as if the course ought to be some way of treating what person already knows in a subject before taking the course,” she continued.

In somewhat contradiction, Campbell made this comment: “My feelings are that some students are too concerned with current affairs and politics in society today. The 20’s should be a time for joy, and I’m not so sure that this state of detaction present in a university isn’t good.” He added because the university is detached, the curriculum need not be dictated by the outside world.

Peace dance planned

The Ohio Peace Action Council (OPAC) is planning a "Peace Dance" to be held Saturday, May 9, according to OPAC co-chairman John Hollan.

"The purpose of this dance will be to emphasize the warm, spontaneous, non-violent aspects of human relations," said Hollan. "We hope to have folk singers, jazz groups, and rock groups perform at the dance. We also hope to have an art display," he added. "Also in the planning stages is a symposium on the anti-nuclear missile (ABM) system.

The overall purpose of OPAC is to work for peace through preaching human brotherhood and non-violence, said Hollan. "We try to work for better human understanding."

Persons wishing to display art or to perform at the peace dance may contact John Hollan at ext. 207.

Activities centering around African culture will highlight the final day of the "attempt to bridge the gap between American and foreign cultures." Today's events feature two political discussions and an African tribal dance.

"I can't believe it, at first," he said softly.

"Damn it. We ought to do something about this. Retaliate somehow."

Mike had met Steve through his father's association with the neighborhood chapter of the Boy Scouts in Upper Sandusky. Both Mike's and Steve's duds were scoutmasters.

Steve's folks were the greatest. I'd see them walk past the house sometimes on the way to church on Sunday, I don't think Steve ever missed a Sunday.

"He was almost as patriotic as he was religious," Mike reflected.

"I can't think of any other way to describe him, but just as a good-looking, smart and popular kid. He was in the marching band, he played a mean set of drums."

Mike said his contact with Steve started off latently when Steve was transferred to Japan, the base from which the spy plane operated on its surveillance runs near N. Korea, but the two had often found time to talk about the service.

"I'll be looking into the military after I graduate in June," Mike said. "And, you know what? I'm gonna' go into the Navy."

Asian Day hosts tea ceremony

by DANSENE FRY
Assistant Issue Editor

An informal Japanese tea ceremony followed by a lecture-discussion session by representatives from various Asian nations was presented in the Alumni Room Wednesday in conjunction with International Week activities.

In the tea ceremony, we use tables and chairs, which is very modern," explained Miss Shilko Uejima, freshman in the College of Liberal Arts. She was assisted in the ceremony by Mrs. Akiko Murakami, resident of Bowling Green.

Miss Uejima stated the traditional ceremony is now used only in special occasions. "Generally we use very decorative cakes in the ceremony," she commented. "We need sweets because of the bitter tea."

It was pointed out that no conversation takes place during the ceremony and the hostess does not drink tea with her guests.

Following the ceremony, Dr. Thomas Anderson, professor of geography, presented a brief address concerning the history and significance of Asia. Dr. Anderson also acted as moderator for the panel of the representatives of Asian nations.

"Asia is historically the meeting ground for people and ideas," commented Dr. Anderson. "The key culture for the region is China," he added. "We tend to talk about the unchangeable Chinese, and suggest this is a false notion. Dr. Anderson stated the rate of change may have seemed very slow, but it actually had undergone many changes before the so-called contact with the Western world. Some of these changes have taken place so long ago that it is difficult for both sides to realize."

Students Involved in the panel discussion indicated they wanted to share their individual cultures with the audience, and avoid political discussion.

South Vietnam, Japan, Thailand, Hong Kong, Malaysia and Taiwan were represented. Each student gave a brief address concerning their native country, and then answered questions from the audience.

They pointed out the US, French, and English influence had been very strong in Asia. "Japan has changed quite a lot since the Olympic Games," stated Miss Uejima, "The Western influence has been great, especially in Tokyo."

Following the discussions, the Asian students sponsored an informal social gathering so the audience might talk individually with the students and view the exhibits of art and jewelry displayed in the formal social gathering so the audience might talk individually with the students and view the exhibits of art and jewelry displayed in the room. Two members of BG karate club achieve 1st degree black-belt rank

Two members of the BGKEI Karate Club have (after more than two years of training) succeeded in achieving the rank of Sho-dan (1st degree black-belt) in the Goju system of Karate.

Gregory Kvaska and William Neff received their rank through interscholastic tournament competition and individual testing. The rank is given and is sanctioned by the All Japan Karate Do Federation and the Midwest Goju-Kai.

Both men are assistant instructors in the University Karate Club under the supervision of Jack L. Coleman (4th degree black-belt) who is the chief instructor of the Midwest Goju-Kai.

The club participates in many intercollegiate tournaments and offers karate instruction to all interested BG students.

Falcons take trek to ND for 3-game weekend set

Bowling Green's baseball team travels to South Bend, Ind., over the weekend to tangle with tough Independent for Notre Dame in a three-game series.

The Irish, along with the University of Detroit and Xavier, appear to be the top independent squads in the Midwest. The three will be as difficult as any the Falcons will have to face the rest of the season.

Last year, Notre Dame dropped the Falcons in two games. After a Friday single, the Fighting Irish bounced back in the duals to give BG two quick 3-0 lead in the first inning. But then Notre Dame struck two runs to cut the lead and the following inning three. Falcons' errors contributed to three more tallies. BG cut it to 5-4 but that was as close as they could get.

Bowling Green again jumped out to a quick 3-1 margin in the ninth but the advantage suddenly evaporated to a 5-1 deficit in the sixth frame and BG was out of another contest.

The starting lineup for Friday's game will be the same as during the Marshall series with one exception.

Mike Harris has been given the starting nod at third base in place of Bob Hill. Harris is slated to hit seventh. The rest of the lineup has John Koss leading off and playing second base with Mike Karpesh, Greg Miller, Bob Bassett, Greg Bruce, Mike Barley, Jeff McKinley, and the pitcher counting out himself.

Coach Dick Young, who has been "very pleasantly surprised with the pitching in the last four games," plans to use righthander Ron Wellman on Friday with lefty Bill Greln, Jim Leininger and Terry Bork slated to see action on Saturday.

Although Bowling Green has only broken even at 2-2 in the previous four contests, the Falcons can't help but have confidence building after the recent series. They have only allowed nine runs during the action.

Notre Dame, just finishing a spring trip to St. Marys, Texas, will have much of the team's year returning. Team strength lies mainly in pitching with big numbers making him a probable pitcher in the weekend series against Notre Dame. (Photo by Phil Hailer)

Golfers eye 1st win

Kent State University will be the scene of this weekend's golf action for the Falcons, as they will compete with Youngstown, Toledo, and Kent for top honors in a four-school tournament.

The starting lineup for Friday's tournament, which gets underway on Saturday morning, will be as difficult as any the Falcons have played this season. Kent State, with star seniors Bob Harris and Rick Meeker, could be the winner. The Falcons won the MAC championships last year and made a strong showing at a four-school event three weeks ago, when Meeker was still out for the day.

Toledo, with a veteran team returning, promises to be a strong threat. While Youngstown will start one of its best teams in years.

The Falcons will start with Tom Bohard, Ed Hadaway, Jim Swin, and Craig Leister who will be seeing his first tournament this year. A qualifying round will decide the other two members of this week's traveling team.

Coach Forrest Creegan said he is "counting on Bohard, Hadaway, and Swin this fall," and is hoping for strong performance from Leister.

As to his teams' chances of winning the tournament, Creegan said, "We are going out there to win." He added that, "We haven't been playing like we are capable of playing, but we showed that we could beat good teams when we beat Kent State last year, right before they won the MAC tournament."

The University Shop

The young executive look of this U. Shop single breasted number makes him a heavy weight in a lightweight suit. Compare the "cut" of a U. Shop suit with all others. Gals notice these things. Her man is something special. That's why she went overboard to please him with this dresy tri-colored A-line stand out. Overboard? In taste, not in price at the U. Shop.
