The Student Arbitration Board (SAB) yesterday ruled unanimously that the Cleveland State University Student Body Constitution and By-Laws are constitutional and concerned dormitory residents last week, said: "The vote was an unexpected setback for Sen. Marigene Valiquette (D-ID)."

"We then compile a list of blue-chip athletes, the ones that can't miss." Nehlen said. "We also have a prospect in two-a-day summer workouts that we hope will become a three-a-day in the fall. We have to be on top of it all the time, it is a continuous process." Nehlen said. "I would change it so that when a kid signs his letter, you would know how they (the coach) felt at the time."

The Student Arbitration Board, established in 1973, provides an avenue for students to appeal decisions made by University officials.

The SAB's decision is final and cannot be appealed to a higher body within the University. However, the decision can be appealed to the Board of Trustees, which has the final say in all University matters.

"It's fantastic. They give up two hours on a football team to be with our kids," Nehlen said.

"Without the help of the Union and its staff, we would be in real trouble," he added.

"I am very pleased with the outcome," Nehlen said. "We have a new returnee, and we now have the opportunity to start building a new program."

The committee defeated 5-4 a motion by Sen. Tom Edwards (D-ID) to delay the House-passed resolution until May 17, noting that it had been before the legislature for two years. Edwards said he would make any difference, he said: "I am very pleased with the outcome," Nehlen said. "We have a new returnee, and we now have the opportunity to start building a new program."

President Nixon's actions in the Watergate scandal have been most questionable. During the Bush administration, Nixon was charged with obstruction of justice and was successfully found guilty on three counts. He was subsequently forced to resign in 1974. The scandal led to a constitutional crisis and a series of reforms, including the creation of new laws to prevent future abuse of power. The Watergate incident was a turning point in American political history, and its legacy continues to shape the country's approach to governance and accountability.
Ellsberg cites 'crimes'

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Daniel Ellsberg told jurors yesterday that the Pentagon Papers reveal possible American "war crimes" by Vietnam, "some of which, I regret to say, I participated in myself."

Ellsberg said that high U.S. officials planned to profit from the war under the peace. Under the accords of 1954 and probably IS officials planned to American "war crimes" in under the 1973 accords.

Ellsberg did not support the policies of his own country, Ellsberg said there are about 1,000 pages of evidence in the top-secret Pentagon study of the Vietnam war. He had been involved helping his colleagues to hope they would alert Congress to the need to end the war.

Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo are charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft in connection with the copying, and distribution of the documents known as the Pentagon Papers.

American blacks have been ignored or misrepresented in literature because they are an embarrassment to whites, Dr. Marian Barnett said Tuesday night.

"It is asinine even to mention the word 'blacks' in the same sentence with any reference to sexual involvement either while or after sighting with black males," she said.

Black's perceived trouble. But he warned that white America's interest also was involved.

"It is a shame to take a very close look at what is happening at Wounded Knee, "he said, then you don't know what your country is all about-and you don't know yourself." Of course, none of the AIM leaders in the original Wounded Knee occupation, the North Dakota Indians under an agreement to give themselves up in return for a temporary triumph, is little reference to sexual involvement between races. Instead, blacks are usually portrayed as childhood friends, boys young for sexual involvement.

Until the 1960s, whites wrote about the only white-black female situation in love affairs, while black writers killed the black opposite," she said.

Tuesday, April 24-The Talent Show, which will feature international talent from the University and members of the Foreign Club and the International Film Festival will be held in the Grand Ballroom, Union. The show will be on display in the Promenade Lounge, second floor, Union.

Gasoline price hike predicted

COLUMBUS (AP) - Two petroleum industry representatives in Ohio agree the cost of gasoline in the state by midsummer will be up to seven cents per gallon.

Jerry Jorge, executive director of the Central Ohio Gasoline Dealers Association, said, "I expect prices to start rising between five and seven cents at the major companies as a result of national shortages, not unusual shortages."

Jorge said Ohio retailers will be paying 61 cents a gallon by midsummer," said Roger Dreyer, executive director of the Ohio Petroleum Marketers Association.

BULK FUELS keepers in Ohio say they are finding purchasing wholesale fuel at prices that can't support a sufficient amount to satisfy the requirements, and Walter McCrory, the state's deputy director for purchasing.

Ohio needs is heating fuel double next year because of new Environmental Protection Agency regulations. If we have respected that an energy order be imposed to to establish priorities," McCrory said.

The state had to purchase 202 million gallons of fuel in 1972, 203 million gallons in 1973, and 300 million gallons this year. "For the first time in history, every gallon of gasoline we have this year, we have to assume that there will be shortages and fuel needs will be met. And the future is eight to nine months further," said Robert McCreary, president of Commercial Motor Fuel....

A STANDARD OIL, Co. official said he would not speculate on any price increase during the summer. He said the company would "meet the demand for our product." The official said the company "will watch the trend on the retail level..." at Marathon Oil Co. in Findlay, a spokesman said.

"We DO NOT forecast any price increases during the summer. We do not anticipate any rate increase in our retail marketing area in the Midwest.

Campus police blotter

Dale F. Shaffer, director of Campus Safety, said yesterday an arrest was issued Tuesday for Dwight H. Coleman, 19, enrolled in Bowling Green State University, in connection with an alleged assault on a 57-year-old woman in Treadway Hall on April 6. The starting point of the assault was Coleman's room, the head and required 10 stitches to close the wound.

Coleman was arrested by the Toledo police Monday and charged with breaking and entering in Toledo. He is being held in Toledo awaiting appearance in Toledo court.

Shaffer said the charges stem from an investigation by Campus Safety. Coleman will be brought to Bowling Green to answer the assault charges.

More than $300 was collected from the walk last year.

The fund-raising event is sponsored by the Student Council for Exceptional Children. Anyone interested in participating should call 37-4800.

Players participating in the annual "Walk for the Handicapped Children" yesterday. May it be time to select sponsors to donate money toward the walk.

Sponsors may pledge any amount of money. For example, if a sponsor pledges $1 per mile and the walker bikes 20 miles, $20 will go to handicapped children.

Walkers may select more than one sponsor.

Buses will be in front of the University Union May at 6:45 p.m. to take participants to Findlay, where the walk will begin. Participants will then walk into Findlay to Bowling Green.

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon said oil import quotas limiting imports of crude oil and refined products will be added in 1973, with emphasis on new supplies of natural gas. He offered a variety of resources, all aimed at ensuring U.S. energy supplies for the future and avoiding over-reliance on foreign sources.

Nixon said deregulation of natural gas would permit prices of new gas to rise. He said the idea was to enhance against opposition to new gas pipelines, "we could face a genuine energy crisis." The most immediate step taken was to remove the barrier, of present quotas limiting imports of foreign oil.

He said oil importers could bring in as much as permitted under existing quotas without paying further tariffs. He said they must, however, import their way into new contracts, because 114 gas fields open payment of a fine.

In other major points of his message, Nixon asked Congress to deregulate the price control of new natural gas supplies on the interstate market by the Federal Power Commission.

Federal law requires achievement of a separate standard by 1973 for protecting public health but sets no specific deadline for achieving the environmental protection standards. At least 12 states, however, have proposed to meet both standards by 1975.

Nixon also proposed to Congress to deregulate the price control of new natural gas supplies on the interstate market by the Federal Power Commission.

The coach couldn't have asked for a better spring practice for his quarterback this spring. The defense couldn't have asked for a better offense to work against. The offense couldn't have asked for a better defense to work against. But the quarterback couldn't have asked for a better passing game to work against.

Derek Brown, the senior quarterback for the Falcons, said he was pleased with the way his passing game developed during spring practice.

"I thought it went very well, Brown said. "We were able to work on some things we need to work on."

He said he was pleased with the way the quarterback's depth chart was set up.

"We have three quarterbacks fighting for the starting job," Brown said. "I think we're in a good position to have a good quarterback."
