Instead of eliminating greek houses, the University undertakes a summer-long project to renovate the small housing units.

Weather

Partly cloudy and warm throughout tomorrow with a chance of afternoon thunderstorms. A 30 percent chance of showers. High 90s and lows in the low 70s. All 30 units have air conditioning.

Remodeling project nears completion; greek houses get improved looks

Work is nearing completion on a $9.9 million remodeling project. Campus greek houses will be much more livable with recent improvements including new bathrooms, new heating and cooling systems, and better surroundings.

Academic goals suggested

Moore, Rothe view University

The University is in an enviable position as it faces a crucial event, strong admissions and capacity enrollment increases. This program was presented by University President Holle M. Moore Jr. and the faculty members and staff members attended.

However, a serious warning was given. Moore said there were some disquieting signs for higher education, including moves toward more government involvement in universities. The faculty members must be prepared to deal with these changes.

INADEQUATE PLANNING

As students became increasingly aware of their goals, they began to question their responsibilities in the academic setting. As the number of students increased, the faculty began to feel the pressure to provide quality education.

IMPEACHMENT

A major decision was taken by the faculty in the form of an impeachment vote. This decision was made to remove the President of the University who was found to be inadequate in his duties.

The faculty members were divided on this decision, with some feeling that it was necessary to maintain the integrity of the University, while others believed that it was a step too far.

In the end, the faculty members voted to impeach the President, setting a precedent for future challenges in the University.

Power curb suggested

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The power of the presidency has become "insipid," according to Stephen A. Wakefield, issued his warning in a society's goals for the next decade, he said. The faculty must be aware of the need to set the academic standards high and maintain a high standard of excellence.

The faculty members were happy to outline goals for the next 10 years, but they also warned of the need for more effective planning and development. They emphasized the importance of the school's goals for the next decade, and they suggested that the University consider arranging mental lines rather than using traditional departmental organization. The approach has the advantage of bringing together people from different backgrounds to develop new programs, he said.

Dr. Moore said he was surprised by the faculty's suggestions. He agreed that the University must focus on the development of new programs and outlined goals for the next 10 years.

Hunt suggests betrayal theory

WASHINGTON (AP) - Convicted conspirator E. Howard Hunt told the Senate Watergate committee a quickly-quoted theory of betrayal by a double agent and then threw out broad hints yesterday of CIA domestic activity as required by law.

The committee, in its second day of public testimony from Hunt following a seven-week recess, did not immediately pursue the veiled CIA or political-operation references.

Sen. Howard B. Baker Jr. (R-Tenn.), after reciting assistance Hunt had received from the CIA, asked whether he cooperated with Watergate investigations, presented his double agent theory, and then immediately turned over the session to the senator's fellow White House consultant, said Hunt's answers had stirred out of domestic activity as required by law.

"No, I CAN'T," said Hunt, "nor can I ever say the CIA has interfered out of domestic activities."

When Baker asked for elaboration, Hunt said he was asked to submit his answers on national security aspects of Baker's inquiry.

The senator withdrew his question and asked whether Hunt had ever said the CIA had stayed out of domestic activities.

Hunt, a longtime CIA operative and recruited by James W. McCord Jr. to enter the Watergate office building the night of the break-in, and said Baldwin should have reacted faster.

Baker wouldn't discard totally the double agent theory, saying, "I suspect we may hear more about that as time goes on."

Baldwin never has been charged in the case and appeared as a prosecution witness at the January 1973 Watergate case the Democratic party head-

What's the buzz? 'Superstar'

Joe Walsh and Barnstorm to kick off year's concerts

By Rose Ham

The Universal film release, Jesus Christ Superstar, has opened a Pandora's box of controversy. The American Jewish Committee, representing one of the groups concerned, has issued a statement charging its depiction of certain elements in the film with anti-Semitism. The statement demands that the representation of Christ's crucifixion has also been considered misleading. Some reviewers, however, have found the film's treatment of this event disturbing.

One of the important things to remember is that the material presented in the film is not to be considered a historical account but rather a creative interpretation. The film aims to explore the themes of conflict, betrayal, and redemption.

The film also addresses issues of race and gender, highlighting the struggles faced by various groups in society.

Walsh is a multi-talented musician known for his innovative approach to music. He has been a member of popular bands such as the Jimi Hendrix Experience and the Eagles, and has worked on numerous projects throughout his career.

Walsh's contributions to the music industry have been significant, and his influence can be heard in the work of many contemporary musicians.

The film has received mixed reviews, with some critics praising its creativity and others expressing concern over its depiction of religious themes.

Despite the controversy, Jesus Christ Superstar remains a widely acclaimed film, showcasing the talent and vision of its creators.

The film's release has sparked a debate about the representation of religious themes in popular culture, prompting discussions about the impact of media on viewers and the role of creativity in the arts.

Because popular culture encompasses such a broad field, Gregg said that many instructors are at the beginning of their work in the program, but are on the verge of availability job openings over the summer.

"We're pushing for certification of popular culture as a teaching area," he said. "For teachers, we think there's a definite need for training.

Gregg Kupfer, professor of popular culture, said he concurred in the decision. "You've got to be careful about what you teach," he said. "This is the first time that we've been able to see the material, and also because we're moving into new areas of research.

Naga' shows truth
Polish stage rock play

LOUIS POLAND AP

Poland's latest rock show—probably the area's first ever in Communist Europe—is packing theater audiences in this textile town with a combination of nakedness, raucous rock and hard rumors.

Called Naga' meaning naked, it's billed as a rock opera. The show will be going farther south this fall.

Contracts are signed with Czarnobukowski and the best Union is reportedly interviewer granted the girls' favor on a list of clothing.

"Naga's" underlying theme is to show the danger of a world rendered to vehicular destruction, and a good program.

Three of Poland's top pops portray lightning frightened heroine being chased and captured by mortal and human robots. They also cope with giant blonde trousers that resemble the protruding body of an amputee.

Rugby team faces rebuilding season

News Special

For the first time since its inception in 1968, the Bowling Green Rugby team will begin the season under a cloud of uncertainty. In past years, strong players enabled the team to rank as high as fifth in the nation while winning a season since 1968, the Buccaneers have neither experienced a losing season and shut out more than half the opponents. No use of pads even though the ball carrier must be tackled. Rallied to take first place, including a 52-0 pasting of the No. 2 team, the Buccaneers were sentenced to third place.

time. He said he expected them to leave the Twin Falls area, and that he was going to try to find his way back to town. He said he had been walking for two weeks and was desperate to get home. He was carrying a backpack with some clothes and a small amount of food.

By the way, the town of Twin Falls in Idaho is located at the end of the road. It is the westernmost town in the United States, with the Continental Divide marking the eastern boundary.

FOLLOW UP: On the morning of the 2nd day, Kenny was found walking alone by the local police, located about 20 miles west of Twin Falls. He was taken to the hospital for a check-up and discharged with some minor injuries. He was informed that the police would be looking for him again in the next few days. He was also told to stay away from the area and not to return until he had received proper care.

The police were able to locate some of his belongings, including a backpack with some clothes and a small amount of food. They were also able to trace some money and other items that he had left behind. Kenny was informed that he would be charged with trespassing and was released on a $500 bond. He was given a date for a court appearance.
