THE BOARD also approved a statement of the major budget-planning objectives and guidelines for fiscal 1974-75. The statements focus on important University short- and long-range objectives and serve as a guideline for advisory committees.

The Trustees also passed a proposed budget of $101,350,300 for the Firelands Center, which includes $800,000 in borrowed funds—those supported by general fee allocations and those which receive no general fee support.

Charles Bankston, board member, criticized non-resident fees because they are restricted to a $6-per-quarter general fee limit. He said the policy, established about six years ago, has not been reviewed by the legislators.

Moore, in his conclusion, said the hike reaches the maximum fee allowed for non-resident students, and use the Office of Continuing Education to give guidance to interested students. The Advisory Committee on General Fee Allocations did not recommend funding for the group. The suggested funding process was discussed at yesterday's meeting after Dr. Moore met with 400 students to discuss options for funding.

In OTHER ACTION, the board also approved the resolution to authorize the solicitation of proposals for the project to renovate, lease, operate and use the Office of Continuing Education.

A policy which would waive the tuition fee for non-credit, part-time employees of the University was approved before March 1, 1972, also passed.

Mike Wilson, junior (J.A.), said the board's recommendation to the Board of Trustees addressed the problem of obtaining permits for alcoholic beverages on campus.

"Now you can only consume alcohol in small groups bringing your own and residence halls," Wilson said. "And if you apply for a permit, you must wait from two to three weeks."

Wilson also said the Student Body Organization had tried to work for the policy change. He said he saw the $1800 administration in favor of waiving the permits for the permits which would be installed on the campus.

The Trustees unanimously approved the budget for the Firelands Center. At the meeting, the board approved a proposed budget of $1,013,242 for the Firelands Center, which includes $800,000 in borrowed funds—those supported by general fee allocations and those which receive no general fee support.

true bliss in baseball

Garry Wills

It seems a little silly, I guess, for people to hold huge sums of money for baseball games. After all, the President says he didn't make up an account on the other end and in us the citizens he regards as impeachment drama moves former KSU President Robert White and members of the Ohio National Guard, resulting from their official acts.

In another survey, the News Hence, if the only question the former Ohio Gov James A. Rhodes, previously dismissed cases against former Ohio Gov James A. Rhodes, deserves an equal voice with a great many assumptions about the necessity for guardsmen on the campus.

The decision on whether or not to switch will probably be made in the next few weeks and students are urged to make their opinions known. This decision will directly affect freshmen and sophomores and it is important that the students feel about the issue.

It appears that the faculty and administration favors the switch to semesters, but it must not be rammed down the throats of the student body.

The administration must make an increased effort to see how the students really feel about the semester system and work from there. There are three groups of people involved in this decision and each deserves an equal voice.

kent court decision

Chalk up another point for justice in the continuing saga of the Kent State University shootings.

The Supreme Court ruled Wednesday that the state officials involved in the shootings are not necessarily immune from lawsuits resulting from their official acts.

The decision is important to all defendants who may be responsible for the Kent shooting, but it is not able to hide from justice behind an exorcism of sovereign immunity.

The court reversed a decision by a Cleveland district judge, who had previously dismissed cases against former Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes, former Attorney General and members of the Ohio National Guard.

The decisions of the late Allison Krause, Sandy Lee Scheuer, and Jeffrey Miller died suits seeking $1 million in damages in which the court decided that the court dismissed the negligence against the state.

The Supreme Court determined the district court was passing judgment with a great deal of authority and the immunity from lawsuits resulting from their official acts.

The question of immunity has nagged at the conscience of Americans since the incident took place, and now it finally may be decided.

Let's hope the court's decision isn't neutralized by 60s politicians, and 60s lawyers.

"Juno" resembles high school attempt

Review by Bruce Oliver

Sara O'Connell's "Juno and the Paycock" has a lot to say, but unfortunately, the line said about the University of Tampa's production, the better.

"Juno and the Paycock," a play about the Lowry family and their lives as a result of the Great Potato Famine, is presented in a humorous and light-hearted tone. It is a story about survival and perseverance in the face of adversity. The play is both entertaining and thought-provoking, offering a glimpse into the lives of people who lived through such a difficult time.

Director Dr. Alan Keple, professor of speech, has utilized a dramatically scenic set, complete with a large stone wall, to create a sense of being in the past.

Some of the performances are lackluster, but the majority are quite good. The audience is entertained by the play's humorous moments and the excellent acting by the cast.

The play is a great example of the human resilience in the face of great adversity. It is a reminder of the importance of family and the power of love.

Campaign dinners vary in price:
Metzenbaum, $100; Glenn, 99¢

By The Associated Press

The difference was 99 cents.

"People appreciate a director who sponsors a 99-cent dinner," Glenn said. "All you get at Glenn's meals is a little beef and cabbage. In the case of Senator Metzenbaum, you get a whole meal.

Several candidates who participated in the Modular Arts and Sciences degree program were interviewed.

The senator has proposed returning federal grain prices to increase demand for export and help low food prices.

But Bank said the plan would mean "deciseive cuts," a shortage of food in the country.

"We won't offer them 45 hours credit because they are too low."
When the Delaware Big Red come to BG tomorrow for a 2:30 p.m. lacrosse battle with the Falcons, the Tradition clash could erupt into an all-out war.

The Big Red-Newark, the county rivalry which began in 1966, has had its share of surprises and upsets. Determining a winner of this past game has seen West Virginia mountaineers clinging to the walls with frustrations.

The Falcons will post 4-2 record on the line, including a 2-0 mark in the Midwest League Association (MILA). The Big Red, on the other hand, is 2-2-1 overall. Although the Falcons are leading the MILA, Mid-American Conference competition is heated.

In past years and times past, the Big Red has an edge on almost every conference. Including our, 2-0 against the Falcons, Demson holds a 6-2 service mark against the Big Red.

Demson's lone win was a 9-5 decision over the Big Red. At this point in the season, the Falcons have a dismal record, they have played some of the nation's best teams Demson's lone win was a 9-5 decision over the Big Red.

The Big Red-Newark rivalry, which began in 1966, has had a number of battles.

Generally speaking, they have a lot of potential on their backcourt.

The highest finish ever recorded by BG at the state meet was 1972. The Falcons' other "Marine Corps" is "Everything Run Weber." The Falcons were headed for a state meet title.

Calling the opening MAC encounter crucial may be a case of counting your chickens before they hatch. Yet Purvis knows the importance of winning against the defending MAC champ early in the season-a psychological boost with winning.

"We have one win and two draws thus far in the opening MAC games and come back with Big Richmond, Notre Dame and Bowling Green. Bowling Green should be in top-notch shape for some hard Big Red pushing. The Falcons will be stingy on defense and have a lot of mileage from his Kazman football unit.
