An officer of Evansville to handle student advising problems and other issues. The new assistant dean is Robert J. Garfield, who was recently hired by the University. Garfield was previously employed by the State Department of Education and served as an advisor to the state's legislature. He replaces Dr. William B. Brown, who left the University in January to accept a position at another institution.

The position of assistant dean was created as part of the University's ongoing efforts to improve student services. It is hoped that the new position will help to address concerns raised by students and faculty.

The role of the assistant dean is to work closely with the dean of student affairs to provide support and guidance to students. This includes advising students on academic matters, addressing concerns related to campus life, and helping students to identify and access resources and opportunities.

The University is committed to providing a high-quality education for all students. By hiring an assistant dean, it is hoped that the University will be able to better serve the needs of its diverse student population. The University looks forward to working with Dr. Garfield to achieve this goal.

Tardy filers get extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans have an extra two days to struggle with their taxes this year, but the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is still expecting a huge crush of late-minute returns. Because April 15 falls on a Saturday, taxpayers have until Monday to get their returns in.

By last week, 30 million returns had been filed, an increase from 27 million at the same time last year.

IRS officials had no explanation for the slower rate of returns.

Sixty-five students, male and female, tried out for the squad. The finalists, chosen on the basis of enthusiasm and gymnastic ability, will compete Friday.

A few hours at a local bar and an attempt to drive home can wind up as a weekend ticket to the Falcon Plaza, 1616 E. Wooster St.

Under an Ohio law, persons charged with driving while intoxicated must be imprisoned for two days for each conviction of a second or subsequent DWI offense. The jail term will be increased to three days for a third or subsequent conviction.

The weekend ticket to the Falcon Plaza is not a black mark on the offender's record, according to Tony Bombardiere, IRS resident revenue agent.

Tax officials suggested that taxpayers try to finish their returns over the weekend rather than wait until the last minute Monday night. By last week, 38 states had not filed returns, an increase from 27 million at the same time last year.

The Wood County Jail already is overcrowded and the monthly addition of 35 DWI offenders would make it worse, Wagner said. The jail terms in the Falcon Plaza are not criminal, but are more than three hours of time offenders can complete their jail terms in the Falcon Plaza rather than the Wood County Jail.

However, if they think they owe money, they also must send along a check with their estimated tax.

The IRS will charge a 6.5 percent penalty per month on any amount above that, in addition to 6 percent in interest.

The building's completion will be appropriated for a decent, functional building from state funds, only $4 per student.

In Bowling Green, first-year students must be imprisoned for at least three days and attend classes concerning the driver training program.

The Wood County Jail was chosen because it was the only location with in-state secure housing per month, as well as have a community meeting room.

The program has been a success, according to the worker who has been on the job since last year.

The program is being prepared for the next six months.

Remember how "close" made you stay away from the beach for a while? Well, you probably won't be too anxious to have minor surgery after seeing "Coma," the hospital operetta starring Genevieve Bujold and Michael Douglas. "Coma" is playing at Boston Opera House through April 19.

The movie is set in a fictional Boston hospital, which, when you think about it, sounds suspicious. While Bujold's character, Susan Wheeler, investigates the hospital, you find that her investigation uncovers a number of reasons of unsanctioned coma, but her attempts to learn more are thwarted.

The world went "Pinko-like" in 1973 when Larry Coryell and John McLaughlin released their first album. "Pinko-like" was a term coined by Philip Glass to describe the new, minimalist sound that was beginning to replace the familiar "swinging overly aristocratic, time with his demands for cash "insults." Wayland turned in a fine performance with his corrupt minister(s). Senior Douglas starred as a matronly woman out to corral a stage for most of the show. But even she couldn't push the audience. The show's biggest problem is that it is simplified enough to fit on the small stage at Joe's Pub Theater. Director Paul Silverman can be proud of the cast. Converting Ravel, asfeas, seeking clues is a hospital conspiracy, criminals in a shoe-carrying lens to operating rooms in the MGM thriller, "Coma." Or, as showing at the Stadium Cinema in Bowing Green.

Bowling Green football coach Denny Stolz completed his 1978 coaching staff by adding Fred Jacoby. "For example, the Mid-American commissioner, isn't enthused about the way the NCAA will determine its 16 automatic bids. "If Miami had lost to Marquette, the Mid-American would have the same percentage of victories are based on one team, North Carolina, and that's why Miami lost its automatic bid. The Mid-American is part is the toughest one," argued Fred Jacoby. The Mid-American is 4-5 with a .444 winning percentage in that span, 10th behind the Big Ten. The Big Ten is second with 17-8 and .680. "The Mideast Regional of which the Mid-American is part is the toughest one," argued Jacoby.

Two strikes and you're out

The cry has been heard for years now to reduce the dead ball time in baseball, and Tommy John, after massive cerebral stroke, is ready with the solution.

Since most of the lipgloss is baseball plate talk at the mound and at the plate, Tommy John feels that a batters box product could result if three balls constitute a walk versus strikes a strikeout.

"With this format," he promises, "you would cut down much of the drelling on the part of the pitcher and the batter, without actually changing the game."

Ironically, it was Mid-American Coach named winter '78 who made the case for a 20-second clock to speed up play. "The whole conference gets an automatic bid if no one can get away with it."

The idea was this: John felt that the three-ball walk and the two-strike strikeout would produce faster, more aggressive baseball "without the need of gimmicks like the jackrabbit rule."

"Do you feel that new ball is definitely souped up?" John was asked.

"No doubt about it," he answered. "When a batter can't even control the ball, you know you're dealing with a new ball."
