Our fees in Bahamas?

For the last two weeks, the Advisory Council on General Fee Allocation has been listening to budget requests from student organizations. It was a long process. Members reportedly had trouble justifying high student fees for proposed projects. The Board of Black Cultural Activities asked for $2,700 to subsidize trips for members to Cedar Point, Ohio.

Representatives told the committee that a trip to Cedar Point would be a chance to come in contact with many out-of-town travelers and it would be a "cultural experience." We would believe that anyone needs to visit an amusement park to have a "cultural experience."

Maybe the members of the Board of Black Cultural Activities should take a free trip around the campus where they can find people from France, Turkey, Iran, Sri Lanka and other cultures.

Saturday, ACGFA will decide how each organization can function within its recommended 1981-82 budget. It will decide where all of the organizations can best place their money. We hope that in these times of cutbacks and inflation, ACGFA will make sure that our valuable student money is not being taken for a ride in the Bahamas.

Gun control should up control

In response to the prophetic statements made by John Throckmorton in the Focus in the News on April 18, I would like to take a look at the gun control story.

In general, the gun control target marksman who fired shots in front of the Union. We had gotten in only about ten people between us and for the fact that there was room for places for six other people. This would have been all right except for the fact that there was room for six other people. We packed our gear and went to camp out.

After spending 10 hours outside, we decided that we should make the most of what we had and move on. At this point we were wondering about the restrictions on the use of weapons (automatic weapons) by simply paying the appropriate fees. After being up from 3:00 a.m. to 7:00 a.m., we realized that we were in trouble for the day, and that we needed to do something about it.

The rest of the story is a bit of a blur, but we managed to make it through the day and get home.

MBB fans find waiting in bitter cold in New York

Upon hearing that Michael Stanley hadn't set foot on campus before last night's game, my roommate and I proceeded to camp out in front of the Union. We had gotten in line by 10:00 a.m. on Friday, and were one of the first ten people in line. I had read in the newspaper that we should leave school at 6:00 a.m. on Saturday, and I was one of the first ten people in line to get tickets. We managed to get a seat about three hours later and didn't have to move a muscle.

At one point we were wondering what the next weather forecast would be like, but finally, we settled in and waited.

When it was time to get on the bus, we had to wait an additional hour due to traffic. We finally left campus at 11:00 a.m., and were able to get to the stadium before the game started.

Stricter gun control would probably be counter-productive since any criminal element does not obey laws. The first place that illegal guns are bought is from criminals, not criminals. A good example is the case of a fellow student tried to insinuate.
