Student reports abduction, rape

by Teresa Tarantino
staff reporter

A University woman reported early Saturday that she had been kidnapped near the heating plant and raped by four males. A Toledo man has been arrested and charged with complicity in the kidnapping.

The male, Floyd Boatman, 19, of 1454 Fernwood Ave., Toledo, is one of the four persons suspected in the alleged abduction and rape. Rape charges have not been filed pending further investigation, according to William Bess, director of Public Safety.

Arrest warrants are pending on two other suspects and the identity of a fourth suspect is being sought.

Bess said the student was abducted from the south entrance of University Lot E, east of the University heating plant, around 1:15 a.m. Saturday.

According to reports by the victim, the car traveled north, possibly as far as Toledo, before she was dropped off along South College Street in Bowling Green.

POLICE ARE trying to determine what occurred during the time the girl was in the car.

After being dropped off, the victim walked from South College Drive to the Math/Science Building where she stopped an officer in a passing University police cruiser. The victim was taken to Wood County Hospital where she was treated and released.

Bess said the girl reported she was raped a number of times by at least three of the suspects.

Police have not determined how long the victim was in the car or where exactly she was taken.

Bess said police were able to obtain a full description of the vehicle from the victim. The vehicle was later sighted and stopped going northbound on Interstate 75.

When the driver of the vehicle saw police back-up units arriving at the scene they sped off and a chase ensued.

THE CHASE, involving members of the State Highway Patrol and University, city, Rossford, Perrysburg Township and Toledo police departments, reached speeds in excess of 100 miles per hour. The police lost the suspects near the Maumee River bridge when they were obscured by three cars driving along the interstate.

The vehicle is being processed for evidence by the Toledo police department.

Toledo police later recovered the vehicle which had been abandoned south of downtown at City Park and Hamilton Streets.

The car is registered to Troy Hill, of 1375 Grand Ave., Toledo, according to Bowling Green city police.

Most wanted Nazi plans to surrender under conditions

MUNICH, West Germany (AP) — Alois Brunner, one of the world's most wanted Nazi war criminals, says he is ready to surrender after living for years in Syria, a West German magazine reported yesterday.

The magazine Bunte reported the 73-year-old Brunner, who was an associate of Adolf Eichmann in the Nazi SS and the deportation of Jews to death camps, said he would give himself up for trial on condition he not be sent to Israel.

The Israelis captured Eichmann in Argentina and took him to Israel where he was tried, convicted and put to death in 1962 for crimes against Jews.

Brunner is considered the most wanted Nazi war criminal since the discovery this year in Brazil of a body believed to be that of concentration camp doctor Josef Mengele.

Nazi hunters such as Beate Klarsfeld have alleged that Brunner was responsible for the deaths of at least 100,000 Jews.

The magazine Bunte quoted the Nazi fugitive as saying that in his escape after World War II, he received official documents under a false name from American authorities and worked for the U.S. Army as a driver.

"I AM READY to go and respond before an international court," Bunte quoted Brunner as saying.

Norbert Sakowski, Bunte deputy chief editor, said in a telephone interview with The Associated Press that Brunner set the condition that he "not be handed over to the Israelis."

In Vienna, Austria, Simon Wiesenthal, who has traced many Nazi war criminals, said the reported offer by Brunner is "rhetoric." Wiesenthal said, "There is no such (international) court. He wants to surrender to a non-existent court of justice."

Sakowski said the Austrian-born Brunner "is extremely sick and old." The magazine article said Brunner showed "no remorse" for his crimes.

Bunte said that it had found Brunner in Damascus, where it said he has lived for many years under the assumed name "Dr. Fischer."

SLS board grants lawyer temporary power of appeal

by Don Lee
staff reporter

Student Legal Services attorney Sandra Scott was given tentative permission at a closed Sunday meeting to appeal court cases involving students, James Shaffer, SLS board chairman, said yesterday.

Scott's contract does not mention whether or not she can appeal cases. The board granted tentative permission pending changes to her contract which would give her formal right to appeal students' cases, Shaffer said.

"We didn't want to take any flack" about Scott appealing cases without contractual authority, he said.

Scott said she was "happy" with the decision.

"(If I'm) not permitted to appeal, it will hinder my ability to do criminal cases as a whole," she said.

Steve Ludd, SLS board adviser, said the Board of Trustees would make the final interpretation of Scott's contract regarding her right to appeal.

Ludd said he felt the attorney and the SLS board should determine together whether an individual case should be appealed.

THE RESIGNATION of Curt Seditz, education chairman and past board chairman, was announced Sunday. Seditz, a graduate student, said his class load made it necessary for him to resign. Shaffer said he needed formal notice from David Anderson, Graduate Student Senate president, to make the resignation official.

Jason Gray, Student Consumer Union representative, will assume Seditz's duties until formal elections can be held "in a couple of weeks," Shaffer said. Also at Sunday's meeting, the board voted to go ahead with three projects designed to increase communication between city residents and University students.

A so-called "party pamphlet" detailing the legal responsibilities of students, is being adapted from a similar pamphlet put out by the student legal service at

Musician enjoys 'singin' the blues'

by Janet Pavasko
staff reporter

When he was 17, Art Griswald traded his Harley-Davidson for a guitar. His friends thought he was crazy. Almost forty years later, Griswald still thinks he got the better deal.

Griswald, co-founder of The Organics a four-piece band from Toledo, has made playing and singing the blues his life.

"Blues is a good feeling. I put my feelings to music and write about what's happening," Griswald said. "I think college students are listening to blues more because it's basic music, something you can relate to."

Griswald said The Organics have played soul, rock and country music, but the band prefers playing the blues.

"IN ROCK, a band must always compete and write new songs and change according to what's in," he said. "(The) blues is different; the style is the same whether it be old or new material. Kids can relate to our old songs and our new songs."

Griswald said his mother is the reason he loves music, and he says she was a big inspiration in his career.

"My mother was a big influence of my music, she was a spiritual singer and was always singing about the house," he said. "My brother and I played and sang together for many moons as kids before starting The Organics."

According to Griswald, The Organics, who have three singles to their credit, and who have appeared on local television shows, are still waiting to record an album.

"When I hear one of our songs on the radio, I feel all right, like it's the big one, and I wonder how many other

Renewal doubtful

City officials' insurance to expire

by Philip B. Wilson
staff reporter

As their Nov. 1 deadline nears, it appears Bowling Green's city officials will not have any insurance renewed for them, according to the assistant city administrator.

Colleen Smith said last week that the public officials coverage doesn't look probable by that date, the termination of their policy.

The situation has aroused anger in councilman and city officials, she said.

"These people really serve on an independent basis and for them to expose their personal assets for a decision made for the betterment of the city seems totally unfair," Smith said.

For the time being, Smith said the municipal administration staff is to submit legislation which would indemnify all elected public officials, leaving the financial responsibility of coverage to the city. That legislation will also cover paramedics and emergency medical squad liability, she said.

THE CITY is currently under contract for public officials liability coverage with International Surplus Lines Co. but that insurance firm said they could not renew its contract, Smith said.

There are two basic reasons for the non-renewal.

The first is because of the nationwide insurance picture, she said. A recent trend in the courtrooms has seen many cases rewarding plaintiffs large awards.

Municipal Administrator Wes Hoffman agreed.

"Nationwide, the whole aspect of municipal insurance is in turmoil, especially in Ohio," he said. Especially in this state because of the sovereign immunity ruling two years ago in Ohio's supreme court.

In the case of Haverlack vs. Board of Education, the court ruled against having sovereign immunity thus making municipal governments liable for its actions and leaving the responsibility for insurance on each individual city.

Smith said that responsibility is the second reason for the non-renewal. Because of the ruling, insurance companies are in high demand and can't insure as more clients for as much as they would like to, she said.

Nice move, Senate

The U.S. Senate made a wise move Thursday by resoundingly sounding off against President Reagan's $1.9 billion arms sale to Jordan.

The Republican-controlled Senate voted 97-1 to ban the arms deal until March 1 unless Jordan's King Hussein begins "direct and meaningful" peace talks with the Israelis.

While there is nothing wrong with the United States selling weapons to friendly nations, there is something seriously wrong when the United States sells arms to a country which is still technically in a state of war.

Reagan said the arms sales would bolster Jordan's defenses and reward Hussein for his movement toward joining the Middle East peace process. But selling arms to a country at war with Israel is actually fueling that war, not promoting peace.

The Senate sentiment against the sale is admirable, but possibly the action against it should have been even more strict.

Reagan was reluctant in accepting the temporary ban because many senators said his only other alternative was to have the sale nixed altogether.

In fact, the only vote against the measure was cast by Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., who said it didn't go far enough.

We agree.

A permanent ban on the sale would have been a better idea.

But we also realize the Senate needed to make its feelings known without stepping too hard on the feet of everyone involved.

This move could finally give Hussein a reason to talk peace with Israel. If he refuses, he probably wouldn't have used the U.S. weapons peacefully, anyway.

It's about time the United States realize that U.S. weapons should not be sold to warring nations. By fueling a war with Israel, the United States is supporting a war with Israel.

And that, we believe, is wrong.

College life not all fun and games

by Matt Winkeljohn

People have different reasons for coming to college. We might all say we're in college to get an education, but often enough there is an ulterior motive.

Some of us might be in college so we "can make more money upon graduation." Others might be in school because mom and dad are paying for it and they don't have anything better to do with themselves. Some students might be here to find a spouse or even to get away from home. Still others might be here simply to have fun.

While there are many ways to have fun in college, and fun has its rightful place in a college town, too many students abuse these privileges. These students must realize college is a place to learn how to better deal with the future.

It is not a $5,000 a year vacation.

If you're going to pay that kind of money, you may as well build a future while you have the chance. While in college, a student should take advantage of as many opportunities as possible.

There are many opportunities that students are not even aware of.

There is a solution to this problem: ASK QUESTIONS! While there are signs posted around campus explaining much of what goes on, other opportunities will remain uncovered unless asked about. Ask your professors what you could be doing to better prepare yourself for the future. Ask people who are involved in activities that may be related to something that interests you.

For four years I was one of the many University students who was not taking advantage of some of the opportunities available on this campus. I changed my major after my third year here and as a result, I will be here at least another year. I hope to someday make a living writing or broadcasting news or sports. I've decided that since I will be here another year, I may as well learn all I can about newspaper and radio.

There are benefits to being a college student. As students we are constantly learning to live with other people. Another advantage is learning to solve problems. While in college we have to deal with financial problems, academic problems, problems with friends and problems of morality among many others. College helps us learn to cope.

These are some of the obvious benefits of a college education. Certainly every college student profits from them.

However, most students take advantage of only the obvious. Not every student takes full advantage of his or her opportunities. An opportunity is only as good as a person makes it. A journalism major, for example, who does not take advantage of the chance to write for a campus publication is missing out on a positive opportunity to learn.

Any student would be wise to try to gain every possible knowledge of himself and the world that will eventually surround him.

A college education is not, in and of itself, a guarantee for happiness. It is what the individual makes of it.

As the Reverend Jesse Jackson recently told Time magazine, "College is not a ticket to a job, or a meal ticket. It's simply a place to learn values and priorities, to learn why we live and how we live together. Ignorance is a liability."

Turn empty talk into action

Voting could give students an active voice in city government

by Valerie Ciptak

The huffing and puffing of students about city officials and policies seems almost humorous when compared with what students have actually done to improve their position.

Last Thursday, the Bowling Green Chamber of Commerce and League of Women Voters held "candidates night," a forum for candidates and the public to exchange thoughts on issues of the upcoming elections. "Candidates night" replaced the traditional candidates' luncheon, because the Women Voters wanted to increase attendance.

Behind the podium where candidates spoke and answered questions was a banner, "Democracy is Not a Spectator Sport." It was designed, I suppose, to symbolize public active involvement in politics.

But from the attendance, filling less than 10 percent of the available seats, it appeared that democracy is not, indeed, a spectator sport, or a sport at all. In fact, I've seen more people at a Pittsburgh Pirates game.

Maybe it's true what our political science professors have told us all along: the majority of people really don't care.

They really don't care, until it's their apartment that burns down because a train had held up the fire trucks for 2½ minutes, while the flames of the fire doubled every 60 seconds.

They don't care until a friend is struck by a car on a road without a sidewalk.

They don't even care that city taxes may increase, until, of course, they do.

Sure, you've heard it all before. It's analogous to the person who only prays when they're in trouble. Or the student who foregoes studying until the night before an exam and then rages about an "F".

It is easy for me to sit here and write about the lazy, apathetic hypocrisy of towns like Bowling Green because, as a reporter, I had to be there.

But there's got to be a starting place, for some of us, if not all of us, to give an input to what is supposed to be a representative government. A few active students have paved the way for the rest of us, by showing their concern and active response to that concern. Although the Public Officials/Student Rights forum may not have actuated a tangible change, it struck a nerve in us all that maybe we can do something.

Now elections are here. Most of us are represented by the 1st Ward council member. That is, complaints, concerns, and ideas are channeled through that person to the council.

This year there are two candidates for that office, incumbent Cindy Henry and challenger Jim Davidson.

Both have a lot to say about the ward, and about students. They'll be discussing their positions and answering questions tomorrow night in Moseley Hall, for the benefit of us, the students.

With a knowledge of the issues and platforms, we can bring a tangible change, with a well-thought-out vote.

Despite its transience, the student population is vital to the community, and more importantly, it's been taught to be informed.

It's time that students change their attitude toward public policy, and begin acting on their views, instead of simply voicing them. The community would have no choice but to respect a student population which approaches change in a responsible, intelligent manner.

21 law unfavorable

If the drinking age is raised to 21, it will cause more trouble than it is worth.

We believe that if 18 year-olds are allowed to vote and be drafted, they should be able to choose whether or not they want to go have a drink. The government threatens tax payers by telling them they will not give states any more money for the highways if the law isn't changed. Now who is going to want to get less money for highways? The highways are in bad enough condition. The government does not realize that if they pass this law, which we all know they will, that serious consequences are going to follow: There will be more drinking in cars because we won't be allowed to go to the bars.

We are not saying that traffic fatalities will go up, but it is a possibility. Isn't that the reason they are changing the law in the first place?

We feel that there will be more drug use, also, because drugs will be easier to get than alcohol. We know this sounds a bit irresponsible, but let's face the facts. If they are not going to treat us like adults, why should we try to fulfill the expectations of those over 21? A person can be married, have two kids, a good job and not be allowed to go into a nice restaurant and order a glass of wine. We feel that changing the drinking age will not reduce traffic fatalities, but will cause more confusion over who is considered responsible.

ing the Vietnam War.

But in all fairness, let's take a look at the lessons of Grenada. This short "military intervention" showed that we could overpower a country that is one-fifth the size of Wood County in two weeks. Why did we intervene? To save students at an "Uncle Duke" class medical college from being slaughtered. (If the Grenadian forces were going to kill them, why didn't they do it during the preceding six days when there were no U.S. forces around?)

Another reason for intervention was the airport runway the Cubans said would be used for large tourist jets. Reagan said it would be used for Soviet military transports. After the United States "liberated" the island, the first thing they did was complete the airport runway so large tourist jets could land. Unfortunately, the only planes using it now are U.S. C-5A military transports.

Further lessons were learned about the conduct of a military attack. Misdirected shell fire first shot down one of our own helicopters, then destroyed a mental hospital (killing many patients). There were massive communication problems between the branches of the service, the command, and the troops in the field. Remember also that all these lessons came only five days after 241 people were killed in Beirut.

The true lesson of Grenada, however, is that the United States still relies on a policy of gunboat diplomacy, not unlike that used on the Dominican Republic in 1965, Lebanon in 1958, Haiti in 1915-1934, and Nicaragua in 1912 and 1926-1933.

Let's not forget Brown's comment on the suppression of civil rights recently in Nicaragua. Perhaps he would care to explain the suppression of civil rights for the last ten years in such staunch U.S. allies as Chile, Guatemala, South Korea, the Philippines and Haiti. The Soviet style indeed.

Yet I hate to see a person's desire to educate his fellow human beings go to waste. Perhaps, Tim Brown, you would be interested in organizing a "Lessons of Vietnam Year" to help enlighten people of the total folly of war and to contemplate the idea of "dead at 19."

United Way awareness up, contributions down

Campaign response tremendous, official says

by Valerie Ciptak
staff reporter

Student representation for the first time in the United Way campaign has brought something equally as important as money contributions.

Campus awareness of the United Way was the goal of the 20 students who worked on this year's campaign, and the response has been "tremendous," according to James Litwin, director of institutional studies and chairman of the campaign.

Ribbons tied around trees were one reminder of the campaign slogan, "Listen to Your Hearts." An aerobics hour and a self-defense workshop, sponsored by the United Way, also brought more attention to the campaign, he said.

Campaigners did not seek money contributions from students, but sought to educate the campus about the organization, he said.

"If they can't contribute now, (we hope that they) will give in the future," said Kristy Organ, representing the Graduate Student Senate on the campaign's steering committee.

THE SPONSORED events demonstrated the importance of the campaign, she said.

"If they see we contribute our time and effort they'll realize it must be for a good cause," she said.

What was unexpected, according to Litwin, was the reaction of some students who, on learning about the campaign, wanted to get involved financially.

Many students asked why fish bowls weren't made available for those who wanted to contribute in small amounts, and the Undergraduate Student Government expressed an interest in joining with the campaign next year, he said.

Graduate students also confronted Organ with a desire to contribute in some way, so she set up a graduate student contribution fund.

by Valerie Ciptak
staff reporter

The University United Way campaign has fallen short of its $60,000 goal, despite its report that the average donation has increased from prior campaigns.

On Friday, the last official day of the campaign, contributions totaled $44,000, but campaign Chairman Jim Litwin said money will continue coming in this week, and that the increase in the average donation, from $69 to $71 is a positive sign.

Litwin attributes the many contributions that arrive late each year to the fact that "some people are procrastinators."

Last year's campaign also fell short of the a $60,000 goal with a total of $53,000.

SINCE THE United Way concentrates on donations from businesses and their employees, many factors concerning business affect the success of the campaign.

A company's organization, employees' prior experience with contributions, and the financial status of the business affect its contribution, according to Karen Williams, of the Greater Toledo campaign.

When the United Way does not reach its goals, the organizations that it funds may suffer, Williams said. In Wood County, the United Way represents over 50 organizations, including the Link and the Children's Resource Center.

The CRC depends on the United Way for about three percent of its budget, according to R. Anthony Marcson, executive director of the center. That money helps implement two of the programs the center offers for abused, impulsive and aggressive children.

Marcson said most organizations will not experience a cut in funding, but fulfilling requested increases in funding will be difficult.

Robert Hepburn, executive director of the Link, said he expects no significant cuts in United Way funding, which provides about 11 percent of its working budget.

Police recommend costume change

Police requested that two Bowling Green men change their Halloween attire Saturday because it was thought their outfits might be harmful to their health.

One of the men was dressed in a Ku Klux Klan outfit with a lighted cross; the other man had on a mask and was carrying a chainsaw.

The chainsaw was running, and the man was pointing it at people as they walked by. There was no chain in the chainsaw. Police Chief Galen Ash said officers advised that, for their own safety, the men take off the outfits.

The incident occurred at about 10:30 p.m.

USG votes to extend membership

by Zora Johnson
staff reporter

The general assembly of Undergraduate Student Government last night voted unanimously to extend ex-officio membership to the Black Student Union and the Latin Student Union.

"By granting ex-officio membership to these organizations, they will be included in the roll call and will be able to participate in discussion," said Mike

McGreevey, USG president. "The only privilege they will not have will be voting privilege."

Although any organization may send a representative to USG meetings, special invitation was extended to these organizations because of the lack of minority representation within the assembly, McGreevey said.

An ad hoc committee was formed earlier this year to look into amending the USG constitution to provide for permanent minority representation within USG.

"Ex-officio membership would be for this year, until the ad hoc can render a decision on restructuring of representation," McGreevey said.

ACCORDING TO Cole Griffin, chairman of the ad hoc committee, the committee almost has completed a proposal to amend the constitution.

"We have had several meetings and we will have a firm recommendation at the next meeting," he said. "If the general assembly approves it, it will then go to President Olscamp for his approval."

McGreevey said that both BSU and LSU are anxious to become involved with USG again.

"Upon making this recommendation, I have talked with the presidents of both organizations," he said. "They are eager to get back in USG and they see this as the best alternative."

Couple awarded alumnus honor

The Orts were incorrectly identified in a photograph in Friday's BG News as Ray and Pat Browne. The News regrets the error.

by Amy Reyes

The Alumni Association did something out of the ordinary for the University's Homecoming this year. It chose to recognize a married couple with the Honorary Alumnus Award.

This was the first time in the history of the award that it was presented to a married couple, said Larry Weiss, assistant vice president for the University relations and director of Alumni Affairs.

The couple, Lorrene and Vergil Ort, were recognized at an honorary dinner Friday for outstanding achievements and dedication to the University.

The award is honored to a non-Bowling Green graduate for recognition of significant contributions to the University. The Alumni Association introduced the award in 1973.

THE ORTS said their reaction to receiving the award was "utter surprise."

"I was delighted and surprised. I had never given a thought that this would happen," Vergil Ort said.

When they came to Bowling Green in 1956, the Orts were assigned to teach education courses in the University extension program in Mansfield.

Lorrene Ort spent 21 years with the University. As a professor emerita of English, she organized a student teaching program for the Bowling Green City Schools and directed the entire teaching program at the University, from 1961-70, for students majoring in education.

She described her relationship with education as a "love affair," adding she treasures education and enjoyed being a part of the learning process at the University.

She served as national president of Kappa Delta Pi honor society in education from 1970 until 1972. She is currently active with the group as an immediate past president even after retirement in 1977.

Vergil Ort, a professor emeritus of education, spent 14 years working with the College of Education in the University and said his early days of teaching are what inspired him. As the recipient of many honorary awards, he was named assistant to the dean of the College of Education, serving in that position until retirement in 1973.

He assisted students in the College of Education through the direction of program advisement.

The Orts, who now reside in Bowling Green, said they enjoyed teaching at the University because of the students' desire to learn.

Collection named after donors

The Popular Culture Library's research collections will be named after Ray and Pat Browne, who have traveled the Midwest collecting and donating books to the library for almost 20 years, according to William Miller, acting dean of libraries and learning resources.

"The Brownes have donated many thousands of books," Miller said. He said a date has not been set for the renaming, but there will be a formal ceremony sometime next spring.

Ray Browne is professor and chairman of the Popular Culture Library and founder of the Popular Culture Association. His wife Pat is editor and business manager of the University's Popular Press.

"The Brownes have demonstrated a dedication to popular culture studies which makes them most deserving of this honor," Miller said. "We are delighted and proud to be able to name our Popular Culture Research Collections after two people who have been so instrumental in the development of the popular culture movement on an international level."

THE BROWNES started donating books to the library in 1967. They travel in their spare time and buy the books with their own money.

"My wife and I would travel in our station wagon to pick up books," Ray said. "Wherever we are we pick up books because we both love books."

At a booksale in Toledo, the Brownes bought a tent full of books and had to use a truck to transport all the books back to Bowling Green.

"Pat has a great memory and can tell out of hundreds of titles whether or not we have or need the book," Ray Browne said.

The Brownes have contacts all over the country. Ray Browne said he receives calls from people wanting him to look at books.

He started donating books to the library because his students were always borrowing his books and he wanted them to have easier access to them.

WILL RANDLE, a Cleveland disc jockey, donated the first major collection to the Popular Culture Library worth $75,000. The collection consisted of books Randle used while studying for his doctorate degree in American Studies.

Ray Browne is proudest of the detective and science fiction collections at the library. Detective fiction is his favorite.

Recently, the Brownes received the "Ned Guyman" detective fiction series, worth $100,000, which they donated to the library.

Homecoming weekend keeps local police busy

It was a busy Homecoming weekend for Bowling Green police as 64 persons were arrested for various indiscretions, according to the Bowling Green city police.

There were 20 disorderly conduct citations, 17 open container violations, 10 people were charged with littering, and two persons each were cited for using a fake identification card, possessing marijuana and violating the city's noise ordinance. "I can safely say most of them involved alcoholic beverages," said Police Chief Galen Ash.

Ash said that the rate of citations was "nothing special" for a Homecoming weekend. He said that when Bowling Green plays University of Toledo, Ohio University or Miami University, police usually experience more problems.

"HOMECOMING is usually an active weekend," Ash said, "(But) it depends on what school we play."

Police did not increase their patrols this weekend, although they did have special patrols for the parade and football game, Ash said.

Ash said that the nice weather caused there to be more arrests. "We have less (arrests) when it's yucky."

Trial date arranged for accused

A trial date of Nov. 19, has been set for Sherman Garner, one of 11 males arrested in connection with an investigation of restrooms in University and Mosely halls.

Garner is charged with importuning and was arrested during an undercover investigation by city and University police in which arrests were made between July 17 and Aug. 26.

Arrest

Bess said a source contacted the Toledo Police Department resulting in the arrest of Boatman.

Boatman, an employee of Doehler-Jarvis/Farley Industries Inc., Toledo, was arraigned yesterday and released on his own recognizance. A continuance of the hearing is scheduled for Oct. 30.

Bess said University police have received a report that prior to the attack a man and woman walking through the lot were approached by two males. Bess said police believe there may be a connection between the two incidents. He said he hopes the couple will call police with information on what happened during the encounter.

Anyone with information about the abduction may contact University police at 372-2346.

whose four members ages range from the mid-30s to the mid-50s.

"As long as each guy sticks to his own instrument, it's beautiful," he said. "We've been playin' together for many moons and there have been no problems."

The Organics, who opened their weekend series last Thursday at Howard's Club H, shared the stage for a song with Robin Zander of Cheap Trick. "That guy had stage presence, it was beautiful singing with him," Griswald said. "It was just like playin' with my boy, Stevie Wonder."

FM. Linda Powell, SLS treasurer, said both stations had been contacted and would be contacted again today. She said the panel would not include city officials, but neutral representatives from the community.

"We want to show that we want community input, and we

The board will also run a survey in the Sentinel-Tribune to get community feedback and a similar survey aimed at students is planned for the BG News, Shaffer said.

USG to sponsor forum for candidates, students

by Zora Johnson
staff reporter

Undergraduate Student Government is sponsoring a forum to give students the chance to discuss concerns and issues with the candidates for Bowling Green City Council.

The Candidates Forum will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Off Campus Commuter Center in Moseley Hall.

Ward One candidates Cindy

Henry, Republican, and Jim Davidson, Democrat, will be attending the forum, said Tim Brown, chairman of the USG National State and Community Affairs Committee.

The University is located in Ward One.

The three candidates for the two at-large positions on City Council will also attend. They are John Quinn, a Republican; Joyce Kepke, a Democrat; and Joe Corral, a Democrat.

Candidates will give opening statements with an informal question and answer period following, Brown said.

"There will be a panel made up of representatives of the student body which will ask prepared questions," Brown said. "Members of the audience will also be given the chance to speak."

BROWN SAID USG sponsors the forum because the organization thinks it important that students be given the chance to speak with the candidates representing them.

"These are the people who can do something about student rights in City Council," Brown said. "Students need to know what the candidates can do for them."

Although the candidates in Ward One think the forum could help promote community and student relations, they agree it will only be effective if a large number of students attend.

"I hope that the forum will be well attended, but historically there has been very little interest in off-year elections," Davidson said. "But I hope students will attend, because this is an important year."

"How effective the forum is will depend on how many people come," Henry said. "If students come I think it will be a good way for them to meet the candi-

BROWN SAID that response at last year's forum was good, and USG is hoping for a large turnout this year.

"Last year we were in the height of a national election which may have been part of the reason," he said. "But I would imagine that in light of recent concerns over student rights we should have a good sized crowd."

Tutoring program receives grant

The University's Upward Bound program is the recipient of about $139,000 of state money this year, the last year of a three-year grant, said Joyce Jones, director of Upward Bound and College Access Programs.

Jones took over as director after Richard Frye, the former director, left Oct. 12. Jones was assistant director before taking over Frye's position.

Upward Bound is designed to assist mostly inner-city high school students in Toledo, who come from families with incomes below a set level based on family size, and where neither parent has a college degree, Jones said.

The upper income limit for a family of four with two children is about $15,000 a year, she said. The upper income limits range from $7,470 for a single individual to $25,740 for a nine-member family, she said.

HIGH SCHOOL students receive weekly tutoring in whatever academic areas in which they need help.

At the end of the senior year, each Upward Bound student receives help in filling out college admission applications and financial aid request forms, Jones said.

Upward Bound is budgeted to help 55 students each year. Some students stay for four years, while some enter the program during their junior and senior years of high school and are replaced as the students graduate from high school, she said.

Plant maintains operations full steam ahead year round

'The heat is on' to meet University energy demands

by Patti Skinner
staff reporter

Whether students think their rooms are too warm or too cold, the heat plant is putting out steam 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

"We're producing steam nearly every hour of the year," said Bill Norris, chief engineer for Plant Operations and Maintenance.

Norris said the heat plant simply puts out what the University demands, and steam is produced to heat dryers in the laundry rooms, water for showers, the steam tables and dish washers in the cafeterias as well as the rooms. In the winter, he said, the plant can produce as much as 175,000 pounds of steam an hour and use 180 tons of coal a day.

According to Frank Finch, energy management supervisor for Plant Operations and Maintenance, the heating of administration offices, classrooms and dorms are regulated by computer.

"SECURITY GIVES us the schedule of when the building opens and closes. From experience we know how long it takes to heat or cool the building and the air handler starts about two hours before the building opens," Finch said. "The computer reads the outside temperature so that extremely hot or cold weather causes it to turn on sooner."

The computer in the Centrex Building receives information from thermostats on the outside of buildings and from the weather monitoring equipment on top of the library.

"The computer decides if we need heat or not because of the outside temperature," Finch said.

Plant Operations is working to eliminate all heating in the summer, but Finch said some buildings, such as the Administration Building, are designed so that heating and cooling are required at the same time.

The buildings are cooled to between 50 and 55 degrees, and then the heat comes on. The cooling and heating process also helps wring the humidity out of the air.

Jeff Jackson, air quality technician, said there are many variables and each building has a different type of heating system. "ALMOST EVERY building has equipment that has to be kept cool. And we have to maintain heat for others in the building because of the cooling for the equipment," Jackson said.

Finch said 72 degrees is the optimum temperature for dorms, but in trying to reach 72 degrees the temperature will go above that before the heat shuts off. He said when the heat initially turns on there is lag time before the rooms start to heat up and then they overheat.

"As far as having too hot a building, with steam heat, reaction is a little slow," Finch said. "We can't respond to all the calls and complaints if the temperature goes up or down quickly. If there is great variation in the weather then we can't react fast enough."

Jackson said in the 12 years he has worked at the University there haven't been any major problems with the heating system. He said at times parts of the system have been down for repairs, but the whole University heating system has never broken. In the summer the heating system is shut down for three days for maintenance.

Directory 'speaks out' on over 200 topics

by Linda Hoy
reporter

For the person looking for an expert on astronomy, crime, famine, physical fitness or sororities, the BGSU Speakers directory, now available, contains a variety of speakers on these subjects and many others.

The directory lists 77 campus experts on 220 topics, the largest number of which are business related. The second highest number of topics are related to education.

According to Clifton Boutelle, director of the Office of Public Relations, the directory, now in its second year, is most frequently used by Chambers of Commerce, area libraries and various civics groups.

"These people are looking for speakers, and our campus offers a wide variety of speakers," Boutelle said. "We have a lot of interesting people."

Fee arrangements are made directly between the speakers and the organization requiring their services, Boutelle said, adding that the Office of Public Relations "does not want to become involved as a booking agency."

"EXCELLENCE THROUGH innovation," "Dixieland Jazz," "Ronald Reagan - early life and careers," "The sociology of sport" and "Computer ethics" are just a sampling of the many topics given in the directory.

"All the books that we had available last year were snapped up pretty quickly," Boutelle said, reporting he had heard informal reports of satisfaction with last year's directory.

The directory can be obtained, free of charge, at the Office of Public Relations.

BG defense dominates 26-14 win

by Karl Smith
sports editor

Saturday's Bowling Green-Kent State game had all the makings of an old-fashioned shoot out.

The Falcons boasted the Mid-American Conference's most lethal passing attack led by quarterback Brian McClure. Explosive Eric Wilkerson spearheaded a Golden Flashes offense that scored almost 100 points in KSU's two games prior to the BG contest.

Neither McClure or Wilkerson were instrumental in the final outcome, however, as defense—or lack of offense, in some cases—dominated the Falcons' 26-14 win.

"We were just bad and made a lot of mistakes we usually don't make," BG coach Denny Stolz said. "When McClure and those guys aren't sharp, it doesn't mean our whole team wasn't sharp, our offense wasn't sharp. Our defense came through and won the game for us."

The Flashes had plenty of early opportunities to capitalize on the Falcon errors but had some miscues of their own.

KSU HAD four drives in the first period, all starting in BG territory but the result was far from predictable. The Flashes tallied only one score, a two yard run by Wilkerson, and missed two field goals.

After spending much of the first quarter in the shadow of their own goal post, BG got untracked in the second period. According to Stolz, the reason was field position, much as it would be the remainder of the game.

"What they (KSU) gave us was 15 minutes of horrible field position," Stolz said. "No one can come out from their own one inch line and start a drive."

BG's Melvin Marshall blocked Andy Logan's punt at the KSU 13 early in the second quarter. Three plays later, Bernard White leaped into the end zone from two yards.

The next Flash drive started at their own eight. Four downs later, BG had the ball and began marching downfield. The result was a 47-yard field goal by Paul Silvi, giving the Falcons a lead they never relinquished.

A 19-yard Logan punt gave BG the ball with 1:00 remaining in the half on the Falcon 41. A flea-flicker pass put Silvi in range for his second field goal, this time from 28 yards.

BETWEEN LOGAN'S 35.1 punting average, plus his blocked kick, and Jim Nimtz's two missed field goals, KSU coach Dick Scesniak was far from pleased.

"Our kicking game was spotty at best," Scesniak said. "That's what happens when you have young kids in there."

Little changed after intermission as the teams punted five times before McClure found Gerald Bayless in the end zone for a 20 yard scoring strike with only 1:29 remaining in the third period.

McClure finished the day an uncharacteristic 16 of 33 for 129 yards. White piled up 118 yards on 25 carries to pace the otherwise dormant Falcon offense.

"They run that four-three pro defense and its hard to prepare for," McClure said. "Bernard's one of the best backs in the country, he can nuke the game wide open by himself."

White gained 54 yards in the fourth quarter, enabling BG to consume valuable time as the teams traded touchdowns.

"We felt that if we could escape the third quarter and still be relatively close, we would have had a little bit of an advantage," Scesniak said. "Then we fumbled and that was the turning point. BG capitalized by eating up the clock and scoring."

ON KSU'S first drive of the final quarter, Vince Villanucci pried the ball from Wilkerson and Dean Bryson pounced on the fumble. The Falcons marched 56 yards, 35 via White, in 4:52 for their final score, a two-yard pass from McClure to Bill Kuhl.

Flash in hand

Bowling Green's Phil Walker (59) closes in to wrap up Kent State's Eric Wilkerson (40) during the Falcons' 26-14 Homecoming win. BG's

Spikers sweep MAC matches

by Tom Skernivitz
sports reporter

Bowling Green coach Denise Van de Walle's promise of a solid Falcon volleyball team has come true. But Father Time isn't siding with the Falcons.

BG's late season surge continued last weekend on the road. After sweeping Kent State in three close games Friday, the Falcons put together its best all-around match of the season, destroying Ohio University in three games, also.

BG has now won three matches in a row and all nine games in those contests. The wins upped the Falcons record to 5-8 in the Mid-American Conference and 9-10 overall.

But the improved Falcon team Van de Walle had hoped for all season has only five conference games remaining. Preseason plans for a fourth place finish in the MAC appear remote.

But any negative thoughts of past matches were left behind in northwest Ohio, last weekend.

While much of Athens was celebrating their annual tradition of Halloween rioting Saturday night, BG was doing some dismantling of their own. The Falcons gave no mercy to the Bobcats, massacring them 15-5, 15-4, 15-4.

VAN DE WALLE said the Falcons played close to perfection in the lopsided defeat.

"Against OU Saturday, it seemed we were nearly faultless," Van de Walle said. "It was definitely our biggest point spread of the year."

Adding more kick to the win was the fact BG had never beaten the Bobcats twice in one season and never in Convocation Center.

Unlike the Cleveland Browns' situation in Three River's Stadium, Van de Walle made sure the jinx didn't put any pressure on the team.

"We had never beaten OU there, but we didn't even talk about it. Only a few people even knew about it," the BG coach said.

One player who didn't believe in OU superstitions was setter Barb Baker. Baker, a sophomore, set the tempo of the match, leading BG with a fast paced offense.

"Barb Baker had one of her best setting games," Van de Walle said. "She ran a lot of quick plays and mixed things up."

The momentum which BG used to defeat OU carried over from the first game in Friday's match in Kent.

THE GOLDEN Flashes, who lost to BG in three games earlier in the season, jumped to a 12-3 lead in the first game. With KSU narrowing in on the victory, Falcon Kelly Ellett took charge.

Ellett, a freshman, made five kills in the comeback which tied the score at 12. The game then went into overtime with BG.

Barber stars in split with Michigan

by Ron Fritz
sports reporter

Bowling Green wing Don Barber wasn't satisfied with his performance against Michigan last Friday and neither was Falcon coach Jerry York.

Saturday, Barber was moved from the starting line down to the third line and responded with four goals, including three in BG's seven-goal second period, to help the Falcons down the Wolverines 11-5 at the BGSU Ice Arena.

The win enabled BG to gain a split in the home-and-home series after UM beat the Falcons 7-5 at Yost Ice Arena in Ann Arbor, Mich., last Friday.

"I didn't play real well the first night and got a talking to from the coach," Barber said. "Plus, the move to Greg Parks' line made a big difference."

Barber, a sophomore, and Parks were teammates two years ago on the St. Albert Saints of the Alberta Junior B League.

"Greg certainly does make you look good," Barber said. "I beared down a little more the second night and played with more intensity."

THE WOLVERINES took a 1-0 lead in the first period on a Brad Jones power play goal at the 18:10 mark, but Barber and BG stunned UM with six straight goals in the second period.

BG News/Alex Horvath

just 39 seconds into the second period with a slap shot from the point. Senior Jamie Wansbrough and sophomore Paul Ysebaert assisted on the goal.

Less than a minute later, Barber lifted the puck over UM goalie Bob Lindgren after a scramble in front of the net.

Junior tri-captain Iain Duncan, after sitting out Friday night's game with a muscle pull, scored at the three-minute mark to give BG a 3-1 lead.

McKee added his second power play goal of the period at 6:11 on assists from junior Mark Lori and Ysebaert. Incidentally, red his knee last January against the Wolverines and missed the second half of the season.

"The goals don't feel as good because of last night's loss (Friday) against them," McKee said. "I'm about 95 percent back."

Patience pays for Kuhlman

by Tom Reed
assistant sports editor

Like any avid fisherman, Bowling Green's Bill Kuhlman knows the value of patience.

Despite rarely getting a bite in over three years, Kuhlman never became discouraged. Then, Saturday his waiting finally paid off as Kuhlman reeled in the biggest catch of his life.

The second-string senior fullback snared his first collegiate touchdown, a two-yard pass from Falcon quarterback Brian McClure. Kuhlman's score proved to be the insurance TD in BG's 26-14 win over Kent State at Doyt L. Perry Stadium.

"I haven't played a lot during my four years," Kuhlman said. "But it hasn't bothered me, I just stay ready and wait for my opportunity. Today I got it and tried to make the best of it."

With 8:38 remaining, Kuhlman feigned a block at the line and drifted into right corner of the end zone. McClure rolled right, spotted Kuhlman and hit him with the pass.

Falcon booters foil floundering Flyers

by Ron Fritz
sports reporter

Bowling Green's soccer team broke a three-game losing streak by pummeling Dayton 8-0 at Mickey Cochrane Field in its Homecoming game Saturday.

The Falcons, after being shut out by Cleveland State 2-0 last week, shocked the Flyers with six goals in the first half.

"I think our kids were determined emotionally to win the game," BG coach Gary Palmisano said. "It's hard to believe it's almost November and we are just getting our third win (the Falcons are now 3-8-4) of the season."

Freshmen Tom Kasten and Kevin McGrath, who were inserted in the Falcons' starting line-up following the loss to CSU, hooked up on BG's first goal at 4:39. Kasten sent a crossing pass to McGrath in front of the UD net and he booted it past goalkeeper Dan Ness to give the Falcons a 1-0 advantage.

Just 40 seconds later junior midfielder Nan Chul Shin scored for BG on a pass from freshman defenseman Brian Cook. It was Cook's first collegiate point.

Falcons' senior co-captain Mark Jackson, who has been held scoreless in the past four games, gave BG a 3-0 advantage at 19:04 when he took a pass from freshman midfielder Roy Sternwellier and beat Ness into the right side of the net. It was also Sternwellier's first point as a collegian.

SHIN SCORED his second goal of the game on a penalty kick at 22:57. Kasten was tripped from behind in the penalty box, giving Shin the penalty kick and BG a 4-0 edge.

Jackson, a Dayton native, kept up the Falcons' relentless scoring attack when he stole a Flyer pass deep in their territory, faked out Ness and hammered it into the goal for a five-point BG margin.

"Mark has always been tough," said UD coach Pete Hayes. "In high school he was unbelievable and he is even better for BG."

Palmisano pulled most of his starters following Jackson's goal, but at 36:33 freshman Joey D'Agostino scored the Falcons' sixth goal of the first half on an assist from fellow freshman Rick Childress.

"BG really caught us flat," Hayes said. "I think that Homecoming had a lot to do with them being fired-up the way they were."

Following halftime, the Flyers' defense employed a offside trap which caught the Falcons 12 times. Despite less scoring opportunities because of the trap, BG still managed two more goals.

AT 49:09, Jackson completed his second hat trick of the season when he took a perfect pass from Kasten and scored over a fallen Ness to give the Falcons a 7-0 lead. It was Jackson's 13th goal and 28th point of the season, but he is still 10 points away from Neil Ridgway's career scoring mark of 107.

Cook capped BG's rout with an unassisted goal at 68:41 after he had dribbled the ball almost the length of the field.

Freshman netminder Jeff Vincent recorded his third shutout of the season by making three saves.

Despite the Falcons' scoring eruption, Palmisano was disappointed with his team's failure to handle the offside trap.

"We had some poor decision making in the second half," he said. "We didn't adjust to the trap and it cost us some scoring opportunities. If it was a close game, that would have hurt us bad."

Hayes, whose team fell to 3-11-2, was wondering who was celebrating Homecoming - the Falcons or his own team.

"Judging by the way we played, you would have thought my team was out celebrating Homecoming the night before the game," Hayes said. "You have to give BG credit, though. They are a young team, but they are well-rounded. They are going to be extremely tough next year."

BG travels to East Lansing tomorrow to face Michigan State, who is having its best year ever with a 11-3-1 mark.

BG News/Joe Phelan

Bowling Green sophomore midfielder Larry Valbuena eyes up the ball against Dayton's Vernon Wells, a sophomore forward. The Falcons gained a 8-0 Homecoming victory over the Flyers Saturday on Mickey Cochrane Field. The win raised BG's record to 3-8-4 with four games remaining.

UT tickets available early

The Athletic Department has announced that All-Sports Passes (ASP) will not be accepted for admission for the Nov. 16 Toledo football game. However, every ASP holder will be guaranteed admission to the game by presenting their pass at the Memorial Hall ticket office in order to pick up a special ASP exchange ticket.

Also, regular student general admission tickets for the UT which would normally not be sold until the week of the game are on sale now. Students may purchase one ticket per BGSU ID card presented. The ASP exchange period is Monday through Friday this week, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Timers needed

The Bowling Green swim team is looking for timers for the 1985-86 season. Those interested should contact Rich Draper or Don Lukart at 372-2660 or 372-7478, preferably in the morning.

LUNCH BOX.

Remember your school lunch box? Little metal box clutched tightly in your sweaty little hand. Remember what was in it? Big baloney on white bread with mayo. One small, bruised apple. Remnants of an unnameable cookie destroyed by the ride. Thermos of room temperature milk.

Not at all what you'll find in our lunch box. In ours resides a slice of Rocky Rococo Pan Style Pizza. Fresh. Hot. Fast. Cheesy, saucy, chewy, crunchy. A celebration for your mouth. A culinary carouse. A box full of lunch. No baloney.

Pacers excited over Tisdale

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Wayman Tisdale's million-dollar smile and unabashed enthusiasm for basketball must be contagious. Even stone-faced Herb Williams can't resist it.

Tisdale "really excites me. I like all those high fives and all that jumping around. I like playing excited," Williams, the Indiana Pacers' co-captain, said of the 6-foot-8 rookie forward.

Tisdale, the first reserve off the Indiana bench, had nine points in his National Basketball Association debut Saturday night as the Pacers beat the New Jersey Nets 119-92. The two teams will play again on Wednesday night at New Jersey.

"I was really ready to get started in the NBA," said Tisdale, the second player chosen in this year's college draft. "The first victory means a lot to me. The veterans played a lot better than I did, but I'm just trying to fit in. It's a lot of fun."

The victory Saturday night was Indiana's first in a season-opener in three years. A year ago, the Pacers finished 22-60, the worst record in the NBA.

WILLIAMS, THE senior Pacer in terms of years with the team, said, "This year's team has more talent. We have a lot of good players off last year's team that's have some experience. And when we added our new players like Wayman, Quinn (Buckner, from Boston) and Clint (Richardson, from Philadelphia) and our other rookies, that only helps."

"I think (guards) Vern (Fleming) and Terrence (Stansbury) have really responded to their roles," Williams added. "Now we don't lose anything when the starters go to the bench and you have guys like Wayman and Bill Garnett coming off the bench. You can sit there and relax while you're in there."

And Tisdale, although a rookie, isn't going to be intimidated by anyone. Just ask 11-year veteran Mickey Johnson of the Nets.

"Mickey just pushed me, and I wasn't going to stand there, so I pushed him back," Tisdale said. "You can't let anyone intimidate you and not show some emotion."

Who'll be Browns' QB?

BEREA, Ohio (AP) — Coach Marty Schottenheimer knows who'll be starting at quarterback for the Cleveland Browns next Sunday. He just isn't letting on.

"I think we've shown that both of them are capable of winning," Schottenheimer said Monday, referring to veteran Gary Danielson and rookie Bernie Kosar.

Both Danielson and Kosar have also proved capable of losing. Kosar was benched at halftime of Sunday's 14-7 loss to the Washington Redskins, but Danielson, who had not played since injuring his shoulder Oct. 6, was unable to rally the Browns to victory in the second half.

Schottenheimer has delayed naming a permanent starter since Danielson's injury, but he indicated Monday that the starter at Pittsburgh on Sunday would be the Browns' starter indefinitely.

"This will be the decision, yes," Schottenheimer said.

Falcons drop EMU, fall to UM

by Jeff McSherry
sports reporter

Michigan showed the Bowling Green women's cross country team why they are one of the best squads in the country this year.

The double dual meet, run on BG's Forest Creason Golf Course, had the UM women beating BG (19-40) and Eastern Michigan (16-43). The Falcon harriers only win came against EMU (24-43).

"This meet wasn't as close as we thought it would be," BG's coach Sid Sink said. "But we didn't let them run away with it."

The Wolverine harriers looked especially strong by placing six of their runners in the top seven places. Michigan's Sue Schroeder, the individual winner in 17:40.4, was especially impressive in beating BG's Sara Collas. Collas, who has been seemingly invincible this year, finished 25 seconds back (18:05) for second place.

"Schroeder ran a super good race," Sink said. "I think she's one of the top five runners in the nation this year."

OTHER TOP finishers for the Falcons were Rachelle Curran and Lori Grey, who finished ninth and 10th, respectively. Some of BG's top runners did not run well, however. Jill Soster and Suzie Dieters, who have been consistent high finishers this year, had to endure stomach cramps at the end of the race and their performances suffered accordingly Sink commented.

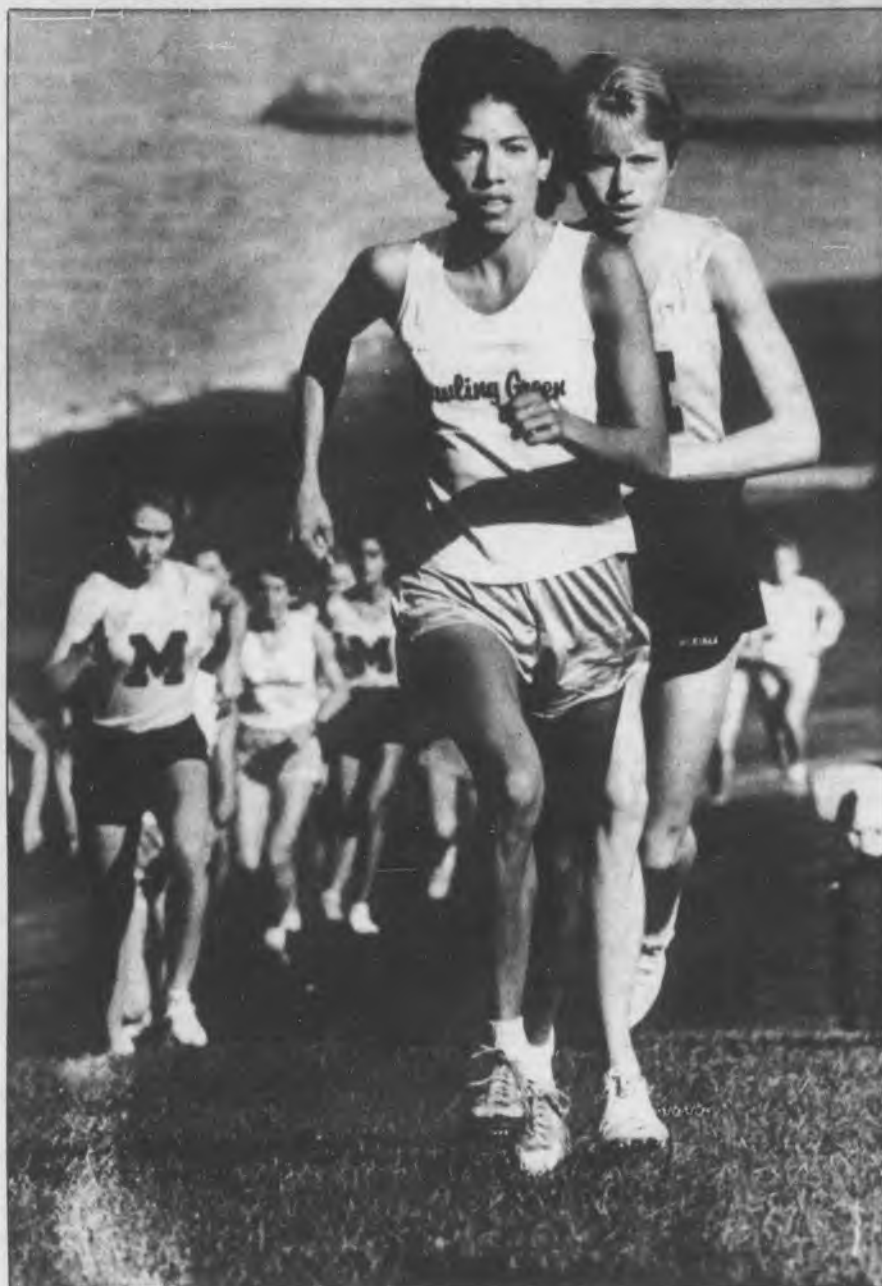

While BG struggled somewhat this weekend, EMU surprised the other squads with a respectable performance. Earlier in the season, the Hurons looked as if they were going nowhere fast, but there seems to be a complete turnaround now as the Mid-American Conference meet approaches.

"EMU could challenge for the MAC title now if they stay healthy," Sink said. "One of their runners, Donna Donakowski (a transfer student), just became eligible and she is one of their best."

The Falcon women, who didn't have one of their best meets, aren't letting the loss bother them according to Sink.

"I really didn't expect us to run that great the week before the conference," Sink said.

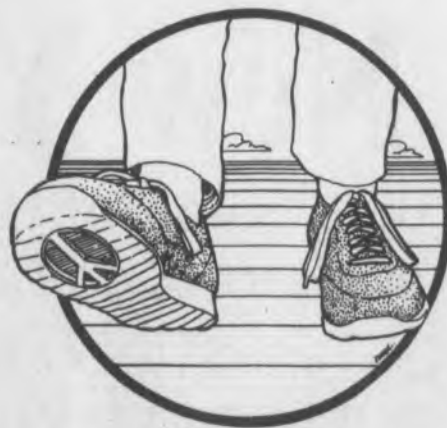

This weekend the BG men and women harriers will travel to Ohio University in Athens, to compete in the MAC meet.

BG News/Joe Phelan

Bowling Green's Sara Collas did not enjoy this lead over Michigan's Sue Schroder for very long. Schroder won the race, leading the Wolverines over BG and Eastern Michigan.

PEACE ON FOOT

On Sunday, November 3rd, all of us, here at Bowling Green have a chance to do something about nuclear weapons that could really make a difference. By participating in the November 3rd College Peacewalk you'll be giving your moral and financial support to next year's historic, 9-month Great Peace March. On March 1, 1986, five thousand people will leave their jobs, schools, homes, and families to walk 3,235 miles across this country, from Los Angeles to Washington, D.C. Their goal: to rid the earth of nuclear weapons for good.

The nuclear arms race is not just another issue, and the November 3rd College Peacewalk is not just another walk-a-thon. So tie your shoe laces. We're going after peace. On foot.

Nordique mystique unique

NEW YORK (AP) - Coach Michel Bergeron had no outward reason for optimism in training camp, considering that high-scoring Michel Goulet was a contract holdout and some key veterans had suffered serious injuries.

Bergeron still believed in his team, however, and now the Quebec Nordiques have made believers of the rest of the National Hockey League.

"I still felt we had plenty of talent left, despite the absence of those players," the Nordiques coach said recently on a road trip to New York, "and we've proved it."

In winning their first seven games of the season to tie a club record for most wins at the start of a season, the Nordiques for the most part did it without the services of Goulet, who had contributed 113 goals the past two seasons. Other key players like Dale Hunter, Wilf Palement and Brent Ashton were slow rounding into shape because of their injuries.

Still, it did not keep the Nordiques from being the talk of the league in the first two weeks.

EVEN A 6-5 loss to the New York Islanders and a 4-4 tie with the Pittsburgh Penguins last week haven't diminished the luster of the best start in the NHL this year, 7-1-1 which has placed the Nordiques at the top of the Adams Division.

Moreover, it was not so much that the Nordiques are winning, but how they are winning. Before their last two games, they had allowed a paltry 11 goals in their first seven contests. For Bergeron, it proved a point.

"They always say about the Nordiques that we have a great offense, but no defense," Bergeron said. "But I always felt our defense was better than what most people thought. Last year, we were ranked fifth in the league."

"We're getting a solid team effort. And we've gotten great goaltending from (Mario) Gosselin and (Richard) Sevigny."

from the injury, but I'm more physically mature than I was last year."

BARBER STRETCHED the Falcons' lead to 5-1 when he took a pass from sophomore defenseman Scott Paluch, who saw his first action since BG's first game because of a broken wrist, and beat Lindgren at 10:05. Just 17 seconds later, Barber again tripped the red light on a pass from Parks for the first hat trick of his college career.

UM finally ended the Falcons' six-goal spurt when Todd Brost beat freshman goalie Dan Kwilas from the right circle at 12:05. Kwilas was making his second start in place of injured BG goalie Gary Kruzich, who has a broken hand.

Jones scored another goal for the Wolverines to make the score 6-3, but Falcon freshman Chad Arthur scored his first collegiate goal with less than a minute to play in the second period to give BG a 7-3 lead going into the locker room.

York said the second period outburst was just a continuation of the first period, despite the fact the Falcons were held scoreless.

"I thought the first period was our best period of the year," BG coach Jerry York

BG ADDED four more goals in the third period, including two by Wansbrough. Barber added his fourth goal with less than a minute to go in the game.

Kwilas, who made 31 saves against the Wolverines the second night, was relieved to get his first collegiate win.

"I thought the whole team did a great job," Kwilas said. "I was hoping we'd keep rolling in the second period, but they got two towards the end which made me concentrate more. But it feels great to finally get my first win here."

winning 16-14. The Flashes never recovered losing 15-13 and 15-11 in the second and third games, respectively.

Van de Walle said she was proud of Ellett and the squad's come back, something they have done well in all year.

"Kelly had three, four, five kills in a row. She got us back into the action," Van de Walle said. "The comeback showed confidence by the whole team."

UM coach Red Berensen was pleased with his team's first period effort, but not with the way they played the rest of the game.

"We really played well in the first period," Berensen said. "But we just gave up too many easy goals after that. BG played well. It's tough for a visiting team to win here (in BG), but I thought we learned something about playing on the road."

On Friday, the Wolverines were led by Jones, who had three goals and three assists. Tom Stiles added a goal and four assists for UM. Parks had two goals and an assist for the Falcons. Kwilas saved 28 shots, but allowed six goals. The Wolverines' final goal was scored into an empty net.

UM's Tim Makris was in goal for the first game and made 28 saves. Berensen said the switch in goalies made a big difference in the two games.

The Central Collegiate Hockey Association games leave BG with a 4-2 record (4-2 in the CCHA) while UM sports a 3-3 ledger (3-3 in the CCHA).

Confidence is the main factor in the Falcons' recent showings according to their coach.

"The confidence level we have been stressing all year is paying dividends now," Van de Walle said. "We are reaching a higher level of maturity."

The Falcons will try and cash in on these dividends this weekend when they play second place Central Michigan and Eastern Michigan in Anderson Arena.

Western wins first game

(AP) - Ball State football coach Paul Schudel could only shake his head and mutter, "I've always thought that Jack (Harbaugh) had a good team, but I was hoping they wouldn't prove it against us."

Harbaugh's Western Michigan Broncos hadn't won a game all season, but on Saturday they proved themselves to Schudel and his Cardinals with a 34-0 Mid-American Conference victory.

"Western has had people open all year and today, finally, they got the ball to them," lamented Schudel, whose team fell to 3-5 overall and 3-4 in conference play. "They had third-and-10 and third-and-20 plays, and they kept making them because our guys didn't play the ball well enough."

Western quarterback Chris Conklin keyed the victory with a school record 315 yards in passing. He completed 20 of 30 passes, including a pair of first-quarter TD passes to Kelly Spielmaker and one in the final period to Dave Faverman.

"IT'S NICE to see our offense come alive," said Harbaugh, who watched as his team moved to 1-5-1 and 1-3-1. "I thought Chris Conklin did a tremendous job. The first half he was throwing the ball about as well as I've ever seen him. He did a good job with poise of hitting the open people."

Elsewhere around the MAC, it was Toledo over Ohio U. 24-10, Bowling Green topping Kent State 26-14, Central Michigan over Eastern Michigan 17-10 and Miami over Northern Illinois 32-15.

Toledo intercepted seven Ohio passes - including two returned for touchdowns by Tim Inglis and Harold McGuire - to keep the Bobcats winless on the season and snap a four-game Rocket losing streak. The Toledo defense forced Ohio to the air by limiting the Bobcats to 48 rushing yards on 31 attempts.

Toledo is 2-5, 1-4, while the loss plunged Ohio U. to 0-7, 0-5.

Central Michigan's defense forced five turnovers and quarterback Ron Fillmore had two scoring passes in a Chippewa win that left a bad taste in the mouth of Eastern Michigan Coach Jim Harkema.

"YOU'VE EITHER got to make some plays or get some calls and we didn't do either," Harkema said. "We played harder than they did and we took it to them. We're not satisfied with earning people's respect anymore."

Western Michigan quarterback Chris Conklin and Bowling Green tackle Vince Villanucci have been selected as the Mid-American Conference players of the week.

Villanucci, a senior from Lorain, led the Bowling Green defense that held Kent State to 77 yards rushing in the Falcons' 26-14 victory. Villanucci made six solo tackles and assisted on four others. He had three tackles behind the line of scrimmage for minus-9 yards.

Kuhlman

The senior said he once landed a 15-pound Northern Pike, but that doesn't measure up to Saturday's catch.

"It's been one of my biggest goals and dreams to score a touchdown in college," Kuhlman said. "I can't even believe it happened, when I scored I didn't even know what to do."

Kuhlman had no polished dance routine prepared. There were no moon walks or head spins like resident break dancing expert Bernard White. Kuhlman simply handed the referee the ball.

However, his teammates mobbed Kuhlman as if he had just pitched the final out in the World Series.

"The guys tend to get excited when a player who isn't expected to score does," Kuhlman said.

The Van Wert native hadn't even expected to play let alone score. But a first quarter shoulder injury to starting fullback George Schmeizle forced Kuhlman into the line-up.

While McClure had several passes dropped Saturday, Kuhlman caught a five-yard screen at midfield on a critical third down and five situation which sustained a fourth quarter scoring drive.

"I have plenty of confidence in Bill," McClure said. "I know he can do what he is supposed to. He made a couple nice catches for us."

Kuhlman hasn't enjoyed so much notoriety since he rushed for 1,561 yards in his final two years at Van Wert High School. At Van Wert the 6-1 225 pounder played tailback, but due to his size, Stoiz recruited him as a fullback.

IN THE PASS oriented Falcon offense, fullbacks are utilized primarily as blockers for McClure and White. Schmeizle is considered the best blocking back in the Mid-American Conference.

"George is a great blocker," Kuhlman said. "When I get my chance, I try to contribute. I'm not a star but I work to be part of the supporting cast."

Kuhlman certainly knows a lot about casting, he's been flinging lines and lures into the Maumee River for four years.

"I love to go fishing, especially for walleye," Kuhlman said. "I've been fishing all my life. It's my favorite hobby."

Kuhlman said the serenity of fishing provides a nice contrast to his hectic college life.

"Fishing gives me a chance to go out and just get away from it all," he said.

Kuhlman said he doesn't mind playing behind Schmeizle, but some things do upset him.

"I hate when I lose my three dollar lures on the first cast," Kuhlman said.

HOMECOMING

A weekend of fun and games

The home team won. The weather was perfect. There could hardly have been a better backdrop for last weekend's homecoming events.

The Anniversary Alumni Award was designed this year to commemorate the 75th anniversary of both Kent State and the University. The rotating trophy will be presented annually to the winner of Bowling Green-Kent State game. BGSU took possession of the trophy with their 20-14 victory.

Seniors Patrick Lee and Marilee Dillon were crowned as Homecoming King and Queen during pre-game ceremonies. Lee is an elementary education major, and Dillon is a marketing major.

In the homecoming parade, Harshman Quad won the float competition. Prout had the first place banner followed by Conklin and Founders.

While the Resident Student Association did not break the world's record as advertised, the snake dance lured 1,069 enthusiastic Falcon fans to College Park for the bonfire and pep rally.

The evening ended with a four minute fireworks display provided by the Office of Student Activities and Orientation.

Saturday morning 50 people ran in the Rec Center's 7.5k with the oldest participant, James Heininger, running in the category of Alumni from 1946-1950.

At the game Saturday the largest alumni band ever assembled with over 150 members played during pre-game. Edith Ludwig Bell directed the band as they played the alma mater which she wrote in 1958.

The game ball was biked about 150 miles from Kent to Bowling Green by the University's Resident Student Association, Kreischer Community Council and Kent's Interhall Council.

During halftime more awards were handed out. Richard Doll received the University's Alumni Service Award which goes to an alumnus who has contributed to the University and the Alumni Association.

Hussein, Arafat assess future peace

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) - King Hussein and PLO chairman Yasser Arafat met yesterday to reassess their relationship and the future of their faltering joint bid to make peace with Israel.

Arafat and eight other top officials of the Palestine Liberation Organization went to the royal palace for meetings with Hussein, who told reporters last week that he was reconsidering his relations with the PLO after a new cycle of violence and diplomatic setbacks.

The king also had said it was up to the Palestinian people to decide whether the PLO should continue to represent them.

However, Arafat's chief military deputy, Khalil Wazir, told reporters he believed "everything will be solved after the meeting" with Hussein. Wazir, who is also known as Abu Jihad, predicted the accord Hussein and Arafat signed Feb. 11 to pursue a joint negotiating strategy would not be affected.

Hussein told a news conference last Thursday he was "re-assessing the entire situation" of his relations with the PLO in the light of recent events.

THOSE INCLUDE the Sept. 25 slaying by PLO guerrillas of three Israelis aboard a yacht in Cyprus, Israel's retaliatory bombing of PLO headquarters in Tunis on Oct. 1 and the killing of an American passenger aboard an Italian cruise ship hijacked by Palestinian gunmen.

Hussein also was upset by the cancellation of a meeting between British Foreign Secretary Geoffrey Howe and senior PLO officials, an encounter that had been intended to ease the way for eventual contacts between the PLO and the United States.

The Feb. 11 agreement between Hussein and Arafat called for peace with Israel in return for its withdrawal from all land occupied in the 1967 war and the creation of a Palestinian state. This plan called for details to be worked out at a conference sponsored by the United Nations.

Efforts to involve the United States, a critical player in the plan, have been stymied in part by PLO refusal to recognize two United Nations resolutions which imply recognition of Israel but fail to mention Palestinian rights to a state.

PRIME MINISTER Shimon Peres of Israel hinted last week he would make concessions on the demand for an international conference if Jordan would drop its insistence on including the PLO in any peace settlement between Israel and Jordan.

But he told the Israeli Parliament yesterday that "no international forum can replace direct negotiations" and said that "automatically excludes" the PLO.

Peres faced a vote of confidence on his proposals for peace, but it was expected the coalition government he heads would survive.

Dad, son plead guilty to spy charges

BALTIMORE (AP) - John Anthony Walker Jr. and the sailor son he recruited into spying for the Soviet Union pleaded guilty to espionage charges yesterday in an arrangement that will mean the father must serve at least 10 years of a life prison sentence and his son more than eight years.

For the deal to stand, John Walker must cooperate fully with the government in future proceedings, including the espionage trial of his Navy buddy Jerry Whitworth. That trial is scheduled Jan. 13 in San Francisco.

"The reason we entered into this agreement is because John Walker has something of vital interest to this country," said Assistant U.S. Attorney Michael Schatzow. "We need to know what has been broken and what needs to be fixed."

The principal beneficiary of the arrangement is the 22-year-old Michael, who was subject to two life terms plus 30 years if he had been convicted in a later trial.

"The only thing we had to offer Mr. Walker would be some concession for his son," Schatzow said.

THE TRIAL of the older Walker had been scheduled for yesterday, but the plea session was held instead.

The agreement specified that the sentences, to be imposed later by U.S. District Judge Alexander Harvey II, will be two life terms plus 10 years for John Walker and two 25-year terms plus three 10-year terms for Michael.

The sentences will be served concurrently, making John Walker eligible for parole in 10 years and his son after eight years and four months.

Harvey said he does not usually allow prosecutors and the defense to work out sentences, but that there are exceptional circumstances in the Walker cases.

"The most significant aspect is the full and frank consideration John Walker has agreed to give the government. The information he has furnished should be of great, incalculable value to the government. If he doesn't fulfill his commitments, the agreements can be stricken," Harvey said.

NEITHER WALKER nor his son spoke at the three-hour session except to answer the judge's questions on whether they understood their pleas and the sentences that would be imposed.

Fred Warren Bennett, the public defender appearing for John Walker, said the government's case was "exceptionally strong, if not overwhelming," and his client might have gotten a much longer sentence had he gone to trial.

"Another factor from the defendant's standpoint was that a guilty plea would be, for him, an act of redemption. . . . Mr. Walker does have feelings for his country," Bennett said.

Bennett said the sentence means Michael will serve no longer than 16 years eight months, with good behavior, meaning that he will be out of jail before his 40th birthday.

"John Walker loves his son very much," Bennett said. "When he was arrested, followed by his son's arrest, Mr. Walker was more concerned for his son's future than his own."

WALKER, 48, pleaded guilty to three counts, including a new charge of conspiracy that extends his espionage activities over a 17-year period beginning in 1968 until his arrest in May. The initial indictment covered only a two-year period beginning in 1983.

With yesterday's guilty pleas, Whitworth remains the only person still charged in the case. Arthur Walker, John's older brother, was convicted Aug. 9 of seven espionage counts and awaits sentencing Nov. 12.

News Briefs

Union votes on railroad contract

CLEVELAND (AP) - Officials of the United Transportation Union began tallying votes yesterday on a national contract covering most of the railroad industry except Amtrak and Conrail.

"At this point I really don't know how close they are to having the vote," said Art Hanford, director of internal communications for the union. "Probably there won't be any announcement until tomorrow."

The balloting followed an Oct. 2 agreement between the National Railway Labor Conference and the union, which represents 68,000 brakemen, conductors, engineers, firemen, hostlers, switchmen and other railroad employees.

The contract calls for pay raises of 10.5 percent over the next three years but also calls for the phase-out through promotion, resignation and retirement of 5,000 firemen and 3,000 hostlers. The industry contends those jobs are not needed because of technological advances.

Prof unmasks holiday fears

NEW YORK (AP) - Fears about "Halloween sadists" who give trick-or-treaters candy containing sharp objects or poisons are exaggerated, based on a myth that diverts attention from greater dangers to children, a sociologist says.

"We've blown this thing way out of proportion," said Joel Best, a sociology professor at California State University at Fresno, who described what he called the urban legend of the Halloween sadist in the November issue of Psychology Today.

While incidents of tainted candy occur occasionally, "there is no reason to feel that Halloween sadism is a major threat to children," Best said Sunday in a telephone interview.

In the magazine, Best wrote, "Everyone knows that Halloween sadists have been responsible for countless deaths and serious injuries. Fortunately, everyone is wrong."

Ohio reinstates public workers

COLUMBUS (AP) - The state yesterday agreed to reinstate five former Ohio Bureau of Employment Services workers and pay more than $343,000 to settle a lawsuit brought by a public employees union.

OBES spokeswoman Karen Michaels said the reinstated workers are among 13 who lost their jobs more than a year ago, when the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act was phased out and a new Job Training Partnership Act program begun.

Four of the 13 former workers were subsequently rehired, and five others were reinstated yesterday, Michaels said. Four workers have either found other jobs or have decided not to return, she said.

The department also agreed to pay $243,487 in back wages to 12 former OBES employees, plus $100,000 to Douglas Weakley, another former worker. Michaels said Weakley had the highest-paying position among those who lost their jobs.

Ohioan's heart transplanted

DAYTON (AP) - A family that "wanted to help as many people as possible" allowed doctors to quickly remove the heart of an Ohioan killed in an auto accident and transport it to Pittsburgh for a heart transplant, officials said.

The family of James Randall Riege, who died Sunday night from injuries he suffered in a car accident that killed another family member, donated his heart to make possible the transplant operation at Pittsburgh's Presbyterian-University Hospital.

Riege, 26, of West Alexandria near Dayton, died as a result of a two-car collision Saturday in western Ohio's Mercer County, said officials at Dayton's Miami Valley Hospital.

Auto workers support contract, end walkout

(AP) - Some 5,000 autoworkers at three Chrysler plants in Ohio went back to work yesterday after voting overwhelmingly in favor of a national contract to end a 12-day walkout.

"When you're looking at parity plus at the smallest of the major automakers, there's a lot to feel good about," said Bill Bon, president of United Auto Workers Local 122 at Chrysler's stamping plant in Twinsburg, near Cleveland.

The accord gives the 70,000

Chrysler U.S. employees wage parity with their counterparts at General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. National union leaders Sunday said the three-year pact was approved by 87 percent of Chrysler members.

Pete Crookall, an international UAW representative who once worked at Twinsburg, said the national agreement was only the second that had been approved by Local 122 members. The local approved, Sunday, the national contract by a 2,534-to-410 vote. James Mack Davis, the first Twinsburg worker to serve on the national negotiating team, called the experience "wonderful" and was full of praise for UAW president Owen Bieber.

LOCAL 122 will vote Thursday on a tentative agreement reached over the weekend on a local contract covering work rules at the plant. Bon said the local agreement would be recommended to the local's membership.

"We have a happy (negotiating) committee," he said. In November 1983, workers at Twinsburg went on strike for seven days over the local agreement.

Bon said hourly workers at the Twinsburg plant returned to work with the third shift Sunday night. He said a few workers failed to report because they hadn't heard that the contract was ratified nationally.

"Everything's returning to normal," said Bon yesterday.

Officials at the Chrysler's Toledo Manufacturing plant in Perrysburg Township, where 1,200 UAW members struck, and at the Van Wert plant, where 400 workers struck, reported yesterday that workers had returned to work. Local 1435, which represents workers at Perrysburg, near Toledo, approved the pact 1,024-65. Local 1331 at Van Wert voted 263-9 in favor of the contract.

LOCAL 1435 President Tom Neal said workers ratified a local contract at the same time they approved the national pact.

Asked if everything was back to normal at the plant yesterday, he said, "It's better than normal - everyone's happy."

Chrysler has about 6,800 hourly workers at five plants in Ohio. The 120 hourly workers at the Chrysler Plastic Products Corp. plant in Sandusky are UAW members but are not covered by the national UAW contract.

Death toll doubles in S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) - South Africa completed its first 100 days under a state of emergency yesterday, with the death rate from rioting more than double that of earlier months.

A total of 334 people have been killed in the 100 days of the emergency, a rate of 3.34 per day, according to the South African Institute of Race Relations. That compares with 509 people who died in the preceding 323 days of unrest - a rate of 1.54 per day - between Sept. 1, 1984, and the beginning of the emergency decree, the institute's records show.

Jennifer Shindler, a researcher at the institute, said yesterday the figures were based on press clippings and police reports. She also said that 845 people have been killed in South Africa's racial violence since mid-1984, well above the figure of 761 disclosed early this month by President P.W. Botha.

The dead include 14 black policemen and one white soldier, as well as several black community councilors, regarded by black militants as having sold out to the white regime.

THE GOVERNMENT says about one-third of the victims were killed by other blacks, mainly because they were suspected of being collaborators and informers, while about two-thirds were shot by police in the continuing violence.

Police reported rioting in 13 black and mixed-race townships yesterday and said they arrested 80 people on charges of public violence, mainly in case of rock-throwing.

In downtown Johannesburg, a band of 15 blacks smashed several shop windows in a brief rampage, and police arrested seven of them, according to a report from police headquarters.

Police said that a man delivering vegetables shot dead a 17-year-old youth with a shotgun yesterday when a crowd of youths allegedly stoned the man's delivery truck in the mixed-race Hanover Park suburb of Cape Town. Both the man who opened fire and the victim were of mixed race, a police spokesman at headquarters in Pretoria said.

On Sunday, the white minority government banned meetings by 102 opposition groups in the Cape Town region, one day after extending the emergency.

Metzenbaum threatens filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) - Annoyed at the number of abortion-related proposals introduced in the Senate, Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, has threatened to use filibuster power against such measures.

"Every time I turn around in this body, I find that there is a new amendment, somebody has a new idea, a new concept about abortion," Metzenbaum said on the Senate floor late last week.

"I am here to say publicly, without rancor, without excitement and certainly with a total lack of enthusiasm that I am prepared to spend as much time as necessary - and some might call that a filibuster - to keep any more new abortion amendments or laws being enacted," he said.

Metzenbaum's statement was triggered by an amendment offered by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., to a state, commerce, justice appropriations bill.

Helms' amendment would have barred the use of any of the appropriations in the bill for abortions. Helms said the curb is needed because the U.S. Bureau of Prisons is funding abortions among inmates without any congressional restrictions.

"IN OTHER words," Helms said, "the taxpayers are paying for abortion on demand in the federal prison system."

Metzenbaum indicated that the Senate has other important issues to consider besides abortion.

"It seems to me that there are a few other things that the Senate ought to be addressing itself to besides that issue, notwithstanding the fact that I recognize that many feel that it is a very important issue," Metzenbaum said. "It just seems to me that enough is enough."

Metzenbaum aide Drew Von Bergen said yesterday that the senator's new policy would probably apply to legislation introduced through the end of the year. Von Bergen said the move is a signal to Senate Republican leaders that they face legislative delays if they continue attempts to pass abortion-related bills.

Metzenbaum said there have been 431 separate abortion proposals introduced in the Senate in the past nine years.

OU stadium burns

Damage may jeopardize home games

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) - A structural engineer will determine whether the school's Peden Stadium, damaged in a weekend fire, can be used for two remaining home football games, Ohio University officials yesterday said.

Officials said the fire, reported at 1:34 a.m. Sunday, did an estimated $350,000 damage to a wooden storage building under the stadium. Athletic Director Harold McElhaney said the fire started in or near the ROTC equipment room under the northeast bleachers and that there was some fire damage to most of the underside of the east stands.

While Fire Capt. Ron Burngardner described the fire as suspicious, authorities said there was no apparent connection between the fire and a weekend Halloween party that attracted thousands of revelers to this college town.

Officials said the party attracted 8,000 people from at least four states. Party sponsors estimated the crowd at 25,000.

There were 103 misdemeanor arrests among partygoers Saturday and 38 arrests Friday, Police Chief Ted Jones said. Police cited dozens of others who were not taken into custody.

MCELHANEY SAID a structural engineer would examine the 17,500-seat stadium tomorrow to determine whether it is safe to use. The Ohio University football team is scheduled to play its next home game against Western Michigan on Nov. 9.

A $3 million, two-year renovation began last April, which includes expanding the stadium and adding aluminum seats. McElhaney said there was no damage to any of the new structures.

One firefighter, William Barber of Athens, was injured when he stepped on a nail. Law enforcement officers from Athens County and Logan, and security officers from Ohio University and Hocking Technical College assisted Athens police in maintaining order at the unsanctioned Halloween party, which forced the closing of Court Street downtown.

Scheduling On-Campus Interview Appointments

The first day of sign-ups for interviews during the period of November 12 through November 22 will be held on Wednesday, October 30 at 4:00 p.m. in the North East Commons. All registrants must have a First Choice Interview Card in order to participate in the first day of sign-up. After the first day, students and alumni/ae may sign-up for interviews from 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM at University Placement Services, 360 Student Services Building.

A Credential Form must be submitted for each interview scheduled at the time of sign-up.

If for any reason you cannot keep your appointment, please call the University Placement Services Office no later than 9:00 a.m. one work day before your scheduled interview. The telephone number is 372-2356. Failure to do so will be considered insufficient notice. Two insufficient notices will be considered a "No show" and result in forfeiture of sign-up privileges for the next recruiting period.

No Show Policy

Failure to appear for a scheduled interview will result in immediate suspension of your sign-up privileges for the next recruiting period. You are required to send a letter of apology to the employer and file a copy of this letter with the University Placement Services. Any student who twice fails to honor their interview commitments will be denied interviewing privileges for the remainder of the academic year.
