Import demand defies foreign gun suspension

WASHINGTON — Case to 1 million new semiautomatic assault-style guns could find its way to the United States if the Bush administration doesn't back down, Congressmen said Wednesday.

Gun importers have applications to bring in 385,000 of the weapons pending at the Department of Justice, Treasury Department, according to spokesman Dick Pedersen.

The import rush was prompted by March 14 after public and police authorities over the increased use of the weapons such as semiautomatic versions of AK-47's and the carbines in drug-related assaults and the Janmary slayings of five schoolchildren in Bloomington, Calif.

The suspension covers some 400,000 weapons including about 300,000 for which import permits already had been approved. Last week, the administration extended the suspension to cover 260,000 separate weapons.

"It's a new increase in those showing up in crimes, an increase in demand and we reacted to it," Pedersen said. "The main thing is to control how many are getting to the streets." The Bush administration said it was working with gun control groups to determine how they are being used. The review should take two to three months.

Despite the spur in use, FBI crime statistics reveal that most murders by firearms are still committed by people stockpiling handguns. Of the 7,833 murders committed nationwide in 1987, 7,230 were committed by people wielding handguns. Of the 7,833 murders committed nationwide in 1987, 7,230 were committed by people wielding handguns. Of the 7,833 murders committed nationwide in 1987, 7,230 were committed by people wielding handguns.

Drug Enforcement Administration spokesman Con Dougherty said increasing numbers of powerful and sophisticated handgun models such as the 9mm semiautomatic, particularly those such as the Uzi pistol, are being confirmed during arrests.

Thursday, April 13, 1989

Folk sing to perform at COCO afterhours

COCO Campus Student Center in the basement of Noyes Hall will be filled with the sound of music this Thursday when Folk Sing performs an afterhours program. Anne Mozer, graduate assistant of the Off-Campus Student Center, and the Elder's afterhours program is named after the nameake of Monday Night, Junior Musician. The Ombudsman Office, Undated Announcement 48.

Folk sing to perform at COCO afterhours

COCO Campus Student Center in the basement of Noyes Hall will be filled with the sound of music this Thursday when Folk Sing performs an afterhours program. Anne Mozer, graduate assistant of the Off-Campus Student Center, and the Elder's afterhours program is named after the nameake of Monday Night, Junior Musician. The Ombudsman Office, Undated Announcement 48.

COOL

Today: Mostly sunny, high about 60. Tonight: partly cloudy, low near 50.

Friday: partly cloudy with a 50 percent chance of showers. High between 55 and 60. Associated Press
USG must show accountability for its money

D o not pass go, do not collect $200.

Undergraduate Student Government evidently does not understand the difference between real money and play money.

At its Monday night General Assembly meeting, Vice President Kevin Coughlin suggested an immediate spending freeze because USG was unaware of where it stood financially.

It is incomprehensible that the student government could be unaware of its finances. Even the federal government, which is billions of dollars in debt, knows where it stands at the red.

This is not to say USG is responsible for penury. According to USG President Tim Peterson, the student government is allocated approximately $23,000 per fiscal year.

With this large budget, USG recently denied the Caribbean Association's request for $100 to compensate an event planned for later this month because USG didn't know what it could afford.

What makes the situation worse is USG's president claims it isn't unusual for other groups to lose track of their funds, so it is apparently okay for USG to do the same.

But that isn't.

And although Kevin Thomas, USG treasurer, indicated he knew the amount in the budget, he did not have the information available to disclose. Being unaware of the amount in its budget is not the only problem USG has faced. Perhaps if members of USG were able to improve communications, they would know important statistical crucial to the functioning of the group, such as how much money is available.

Thomas said Peterson never told him he had to present budget statements on a regular basis. In addition, this missed the Monday night meeting because of other obligations. A missed meeting wouldn't be so critical if Thomas had been able to meet with the president earlier in the week to inform him of the budget situation.

But he didn't.

Every organization makes mistakes, but some are greater than others.

The BG News brings this mistake to the University's attention in the hope it will not be repeated. Since Coughlin will be president next fall, this brings this mistake to the University's attention in the hope it will not be repeated.

So the next time this will be president next fall, improvements which should be placed high on his list of priorities are better communication and respect for USG's finances — a crucial part of any organization.

Of all campus organizations, USG has one of the longest budgets. To continue receiving that amount, it needs to remember it is playing with real money.

Correction

An article appearing in The BG News Wednesday incorrectly stated that a Dean Communication Week guest speaker. The correct spelling of the Ohio attorney general's name is Anthony Celebrezze.

Race separation hurts relations

Since I have been here at the University, there have been many issues concerning the students and faculty. However, one that stands out the most is the issue of race. I will be honest. I have never seen racism any other way.

This may sound strange, but I have never witnessed what I would call racism here or anywhere.

Not that it doesn't exist — it does. I think as an individual who was brought up believing we are all equal and I really believe it.

However, we have not been able to overcome the ignorance or culture to do so. I like to learn everything about them and what they believe.

I also have always thought everyone else likes to do the same thing. I have never given up on a second thought to having friends of another race. I believe that the first thought that goes on is racism.

What makes the situation worse is USG's president claims it isn't unusual for other groups to lose track of their funds, so it is apparently okay for USG to do the same.

According to USG President Tim Peterson, the student government is allocated approximately $23,000 per fiscal year.

With this large budget, USG recently denied the Caribbean Association's request for $100 to compensate an event planned for later this month because USG didn't know what it could afford.

But he didn't.

Every organization makes mistakes, but some are greater than others.

USG needs correction

In the article of March 28 entitled "Pro-Law Students Have Edge," certain inaccuracies appear about which I would like to correct.

1) The statement, "Bartley Brennan — said the University is one of six to率先 offering a pre-law major in its department of legal studies." is not accurate because I had no control over what was said. Please note that the following paragraph lists the eight universities where legal studies departments have been established.

- Queens University of Charlotte
- University of Massachusetts
- University of Massachusetts at Amherst
- University of Massachusetts at Lowell
- University of Massachusetts at Dartmouth
- University of Massachusetts at Amherst
- University of Massachusetts at Dartmouth
- University of Massachusetts at Amherst

2) In the second column Brennan stated, "University of America has graduate programs in business administration, legal studies located outside colleges of business administration at the University of Massachusetts.

Actually that isn't quite right. It is true that the University of America has graduate programs in business administration, legal studies located outside the College of Business Administration. The following paragraph lists the eight universities where legal studies departments have been established.

- University of Vermont
- University of New Hampshire
- University of Maine
- University of Southern Maine
- University of Maine
- University of Maine
- University of Maine
- University of Maine

Four-hour limit to move car unflag

I have heard time and time again at the University that I cannot move my car to another parking lot. This has become a real problem, because I had no time to respond to beliefs that until now.

This past weekend I drove my car to Darrow Hall. Finding no spaces in that lot, I parked in the 5th Avenue lot. Later, when I was going to leave, I found my car wouldn't start. I tried to jump start it with my car. I went back to my car Sunday night with my car flat.

I called Parking Services, but I was not able to reach them.

I called the parking services again Monday morning to tell them I was unable to move it until it was repaired. That day she said I couldn't get a service repair. She was very difficult to deal with. I was so frustrated I went to Student Court and appeal it.

I was confused why the woman couldn't tell me the phone number for a service repair to at least get the repair done. It is a real inconvenience to the student body.

I am sure there are any others with the same problem. If we all speak up, maybe something can be done. I am tired of doing something that can't be prevented.

I am a registered voter.

You can reach me by phone.

The News.
Program addresses problems of elderly

The problems faced by senior citizens — such as ageism — were addressed in a discussion held Wednesday in the Telfer House of the Union as part of a series sponsored by Affirmative Action.

John Hiltner, director of the University gerontology department, said ageism is a problem that affects everyone.

"Ageism is a form of discrimination as common as racism and sexism and the only way to avoid this problem is to be young, because everyone will be a victim sometime," he said. In addition, Robert Morgan, associate professor in gerontology, said language reflects ageism, just as with racism.

The most positive references were made to the elderly, but now they are called terms such as gaffer, fogey, hag, crone and old fool, he said.

Morgan added society's attitude has changed toward senior citizens. He said in the past, older people were harassed and slept, yet between 1980 and 1988 they began to be perceived as a social problem.

Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

Cheryl Carothers, director of the Case Western Reserve-Bowline Green Gerontology Center, spoke about the economics of aging and negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," she said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.

Morgan added society's attitude has changed toward senior citizens. He said in the past, older people were harassed and slept, yet between 1980 and 1988 they began to be perceived as a social problem.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.

Morgan added society's attitude has changed toward senior citizens. He said in the past, older people were harassed and slept, yet between 1980 and 1988 they began to be perceived as a social problem.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.

Morgan added society's attitude has changed toward senior citizens. He said in the past, older people were harassed and slept, yet between 1980 and 1988 they began to be perceived as a social problem.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.

Morgan added society's attitude has changed toward senior citizens. He said in the past, older people were harassed and slept, yet between 1980 and 1988 they began to be perceived as a social problem.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.

Morgan added society's attitude has changed toward senior citizens. He said in the past, older people were harassed and slept, yet between 1980 and 1988 they began to be perceived as a social problem.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.

Morgan added society's attitude has changed toward senior citizens. He said in the past, older people were harassed and slept, yet between 1980 and 1988 they began to be perceived as a social problem.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.

Morgan added society's attitude has changed toward senior citizens. He said in the past, older people were harassed and slept, yet between 1980 and 1988 they began to be perceived as a social problem.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.

Morgan added society's attitude has changed toward senior citizens. He said in the past, older people were harassed and slept, yet between 1980 and 1988 they began to be perceived as a social problem.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.

Morgan added society's attitude has changed toward senior citizens. He said in the past, older people were harassed and slept, yet between 1980 and 1988 they began to be perceived as a social problem.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.

Morgan added society's attitude has changed toward senior citizens. He said in the past, older people were harassed and slept, yet between 1980 and 1988 they began to be perceived as a social problem.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.

Morgan added society's attitude has changed toward senior citizens. He said in the past, older people were harassed and slept, yet between 1980 and 1988 they began to be perceived as a social problem.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.

Morgan added society's attitude has changed toward senior citizens. He said in the past, older people were harassed and slept, yet between 1980 and 1988 they began to be perceived as a social problem.

"Ageism definitely involves the perception the youth has of the elderly. Youths see later life as an unattractive stage in life, and these negative images they have provide a backdrop to ageism," he said.

A committee of six students and three alumni selected the finalists from the 38 nominees.
The Ethnic Studies Association became an official University organization in January, but it has been unable to sponsor activities this year due to the University's restriction of organizing events for the fall semester.

The idea to create a new organization came in December after three ethnic studies majors met with a branch of the University to discuss the creation of the organization. الفلسفة
The co-founder of the ESA, was one of those students.

After meeting the students, the group decided to create an organization which focused on the ethnic and cultural differences of people. However, it was decided that the EEA was unable to participate in any programs this year, the organization is planning to form a coalition with the University for the participation of different ethnic groups next year, she said. "We would like to invite Mexican American, an organization of different ethnic groups," Botto said. "There is a lack of understanding at the University. Understanding different types of people is something which is vital to function in our society.

Throughout the year, the students and faculty adviser to the group, said he would like to see the organization bring a series of free forums in the University where students could discuss and debate different ideas. According to Botto, the EEA is a step toward facilitating racism on campus. "The Ethnic Studies Association offers students a way to bring their ideas to the University's public, an alternative to the debate that is not dominated by one group," he said.

At attendance at the first meeting was small, the association is hopeful that more students will become interested in the EEA next year. "We have seen a great increase in the number of people," she said.

"There were about four or five people at the meeting and they were all majors, but there are more students at the University that are minor's in ethnic studies," she said.

Valentine said she would like to see the organization bring a forum that would contain more ethnic majors.

"One of our primary responsibilities is to see more people interested in the department and in the major," she said. "We also have to educate the general campus population about the importance of diversity, whether they are majors or not."

"We need to sensitize our students to the assumptions we make about people," she said. "We need to assess their own actions."

A panel of speakers was met with a lot of interest from the students, said Miller. Although the discussion was difficult and the students were feeling uncomfortable, she said, "I don't know how you can make people feel comfortable when the subject is as sensitive as this.

"We have been affected by the press," said Marion. "It's not a question of the black students or the white students."

Although Miller said discussion was held, let us prove how we look at the front of group's things become a reality. Students could hold a forum in the Catholic Church, saying it accepts homosexuals "Jesus is the lord for all people. He doesn't care for the color of skin. The color of skin. He would like to see the organization bring a program that would contain more ethnic majors.

"We need to sensitize our students to the assumptions we make about people," she said. "We need to assess their own actions."

South Africa
Continued from page 1.

Economic sanctions, including the boycott of Shell Oil, would make it harder for apartheid to continue, she said. "The military needs oil. They need it to the military," she said. "The military needs oil to patrol and arrest South African villages."

According to Ngobe, Shell Oil would have a difficult time competing in South Africa oil resources, pipelines, and road and rail lines.

"We do an oil company in South Africa that would supply oil to the military," she said. "The military needs oil to patrol and arrest South African villages."

Changes
Continued from page 1.

"We need to sensitize our students to the assumptions we make about people," she said. "We need to assess their own actions."

We are wondering what is going to happen in South Africa. I don't know how you can make people feel comfortable when the subject is as sensitive as this.

If people want to make people feel uncomfortable when the subject is as sensitive as this.

Although Miller said discussion was held, let us prove how we look at the front of group's things become a reality. Students could hold a forum in the Catholic Church, saying it accepts homosexuals "Jesus is the lord for all people. He doesn't care for the color of skin. The color of skin."

"We need to sensitize our students to the assumptions we make about people," she said. "We need to assess their own actions."

According to Ngobe, Shell Oil would have a difficult time competing in South Africa oil resources, pipelines, and road and rail lines.

"We do an oil company in South Africa that would supply oil to the military," she said. "The military needs oil to patrol and arrest South African villages."

The Brothers of Sigma Alpha Epsilon are mourning the loss of our most beloved brother. Paddy was a Hero Brother who lived his life to the fullest, as many women can attest to. We celebrate because, like Paddy, the Senior Men of SAE will soon be passing on to another world. All are welcome to join us at a memorial service for Paddy and the Seniors today at 5 pm at the Yellow House.
School water testing urged

by Scott R. Whitehead

Schools across the country, including day-care centers and kindergartens, have been noticing their drinking water for unhealthy levels of lead, the Environmental Protection Agency announced earlier this week.

According to James Maier, spokesperson for the Ohio EPA, if the lead level in the water does exceed the EPA standard of 15 parts per billion and goes untreated, young children are at a potential health risk.

"Even low exposure to lead can damage the brain and nervous system and lead to learning disabilities, impaired hearing and interfere with the formation of red blood cells," Maier said.

To solve the problem, the EPA has also identified six lead-lined models of drinking fountains to be recalled this year, she added.

"We anticipate this last October and next letters to all school administrators in the state, including private and parochial schools, pointing out that some water coolers in their schools could be contributing to high levels of lead in the water," Maier said. "At that time we also asked them to recall those models that they used in the system.

"The majority of the drinking fountains are reasonably new and some of the problems come from older systems," Blower said.

On the 3rd day of the First United Methodist Church of the City, 1405 E. Wooster, Maier said she briefly heard about the problem earlier this week. "Now we're definitely going to call the EPA and be sure the water here is tested," Downie said.

Through the U.S. EPA did not make the official announcement of the high lead levels until recently, the Ohio EPA warned state schools of the problem last year.

"We asked the EPA to be more active in informing schools," she added. "But wait there's more...

Mr. Haruhiko Shibuya
Consult General of Japan

in discussions on:
"Economic Relations between Japan and the United States"

7:30 p.m., April 18, 1989
Business Administration Building Room 110

The clerk told the police the suspect grabbed her arm and said, "Give me all the money out of the register, or I will kill you." After getting him to release his hold on her arm, the clerk said she refused to open the register and told the man to "do it yourself." The man then cut the back of the register, stuffed them in his pockets, and said "Thank you." Before the man left, the clerk said she asked him, "Don't you think I won't tell the police?" The clerk described the suspect as a black male, between 20 and 30 years old, 6 feet 4 inches tall. He said he was wearing a tan jacket, blue jeans and t-shirts and was "visibly nervous.

Help bring the world together.

Mr. Haruhiko Shibuya
Consult General of Japan

The Pi Beta Phi security house, 66 E. Grant St., was granted a unanimous variance allowing it to continue being the only group who suffers in the basement or issues in the future if people don't act, consider the national representative of the security issue. We台词 the security, saying the events which never in many local apartment complexes do not happen in the Pi Beta Phi house.

Falcon Plaza robber steals $250

by Beth Church

An estimated $250 was stolen during an armed robbery at the front Western Falcon Plaza, 1002 E. Wooster St., last Thursday.

About 8:15 p.m., a man entered the Falcon Plaza bank and demanded the female motel clerk with a six-inch bladed knife, police said. He was also wearing a tan jacket, blue jeans and t-shirts and was "visibly nervous.

Background.

Witnesses in the area were witnesses to the events which occur in many local apartment complexes do not happen in the Pi Beta Phi house.

Mr. Haruhiko Shibuya
Consult General of Japan

in discussions on:
"Economic Relations between Japan and the United States"

7:30 p.m., April 18, 1989
Business Administration Building Room 110

The clerk told the police the suspect grabbed her arm and said, "Give me all the money out of the register." After getting him to release his hold on her arm, the clerk said she refused to open the register and told the man to "do it yourself." The man then cut the back of the register, stuffed them in his pockets, and said "Thank you." Before the man left, the clerk said she asked him, "Don't you think I won't tell the police?" The clerk described the suspect as a black male, between 20 and 30 years old, 6 feet 4 inches tall. He said he was wearing a tan jacket, blue jeans and t-shirts and was "visibly nervous.

Help bring the world together.

Thomas Volker said the co- chairman in a meeting said, putting together a composite for release.

Think you know your sib or kid? Well ,show us all...

Friday, April 14th

9:00p.m. in the Falcon's Nest at the 1st SIBS & KIDS GAME!

Prize packages for the winning pair!
Sign-up TODAY! UA0 office 3rd floor Union, 372-2343.

But wait there's more...

COMEDY!: Featuring the Comedy Competition Winners!

DANCING!: Music provided by D.J.

Sponsored by UH

Our One Account Plus Equals A Great Deal

Once you know the facts about Fifth Third's One Account Plus, it's easy to figure out why you should have one.

A Matter of Simple Arithmetic
Check the benefits you'd figure out why you should have one.

A Matter of Simple Arithmetic
Check the benefits you'd figure out why you should have one.

A Matter of Simple Arithmetic
Check the benefits you'd figure out why you should have one.

A Matter of Simple Arithmetic
Check the benefits you'd figure out why you should have one.

A Matter of Simple Arithmetic
Check the benefits you'd figure out why you should have one.

A Matter of Simple Arithmetic
Check the benefits you'd figure out why you should have one.

A Matter of Simple Arithmetic
Check the benefits you'd figure out why you should have one.

A Matter of Simple Arithmetic
Check the benefits you'd figure out why you should have one.

"I am the Chamber of Commerce, not the state of Ohio," the chairman in a meeting said, "so the state has to take care of the situation."

Mr. Haruhiko Shibuya
Consult General of Japan

in discussions on:
"Economic Relations between Japan and the United States"

7:30 p.m., April 18, 1989
Business Administration Building Room 110

The clerk told the police the suspect grabbed her arm and said, "Give me all the money out of the register." After getting him to release his hold on her arm, the clerk said she refused to open the register and told the man to "do it yourself." The man then cut the back of the register, stuffed them in his pockets, and said "Thank you." Before the man left, the clerk said she asked him, "Don't you think I won't tell the police?" The clerk described the suspect as a black male, between 20 and 30 years old, 6 feet 4 inches tall. He said he was wearing a tan jacket, blue jeans and t-shirts and was "visibly nervous.

Help bring the world together.

The BGSU Japanese Club presents Guest Lecturer:

Mr. Haruhiko Shibuya
Consult General of Japan (Chicago)

in discussions on:
"Economic Relations between Japan and the United States"

7:30 p.m., April 18, 1989
Business Administration Building Room 110

Think you know your sib or kid? Well ,show us all...

Friday, April 14th

9:00p.m. in the Falcon's Nest at the 1st SIBS & KIDS GAME!

Prize packages for the winning pair!
Sign-up TODAY! UA0 office 3rd floor Union, 372-2343.

But wait there's more...

COMEDY!: Featuring the Comedy Competition Winners!

DANCING!: Music provided by D.J.

Sponsored by UH
INTERNATIONAL / NATIONAL

Shelling barrage kills 12 in Beirut
REUTERS (AP) — Sixteen black students were killed Wednesday when their 12-story dormitory on the west side of Beirut was struck by two rockets fired by right-wing Christian politicians. The fighting, which began with a volley of rockets fired by right-wing Christian politicians, continued through the night with exchanges of fire between the Lebanese army and Christian militias. The U.N. has appealed for a cease-fire in Lebanon a week ago. It broke out a few minutes after a cease-fire in Lebanon a week ago. It broke out a few minutes after a Funnies meet no laughter in a matter of racism and multicultural diversity.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — About 12,000 people gathered last week after breakfast Wednesday to define what form the new course will take and to put it in

Highway test 'signs' to expansion
COLUMBUS (AP) — A test program along Interstates 75 in north-central Ohio has proven the value of placing business logo signs near exit ramps and should be expanded to rural interstate arteries, a House panel was told Wednesday.

STATE / LOCAL

Wittenberg racism class possible
SPRINGFIELD, O. (AP) — Wittenberg University will likely begin requiring students to take a new course on racism and multicultural awareness in about a year, the school's president said Wednesday.

Columns that advertise on the logo signs themselves, but it also pulls them off

Starting before the sale stops!
Come in and pick up the full color tabloid of savings!

ALL YOU CAN EAT
BBQ RIBS
RIBS
RIBS . . . $4.00
TODAY 4:30 — 7:00 p.m.
THE PEASANT ROOM AND FLOOR, UNIVERSITY UNION
No Reservations accepted for these Specials
Food Coop accepted 8:30-7:00 p.m. daily

GREENBRIAR INC. has SUMMER
rentals available now (6/1 - 8/14)

FRAZEE — $600 for the Field Manor (Summer plus Ridge Manor)
516-522 E. Merry and gas
1 bedroom $450 for the efficiency $300 for the Call 352-0717 224 E. Wooster
BOSTON (AP) — Cory Snyder drove in two runs with a pair of two-run doubles and Dave Clark added a two-run homer as the Boston Red Sox won for the fifth time in seven games.

Clark then put the Indians ahead in the third. Jody Reed walked and Boggs and Jim Rice followed with an RBI double. But O'Brien drew another walk to lead off the fourth and Snyder followed with a drive into the right-field screen for his 10th home run.

That finished Boston starter Jim Palmer's day as he boarded the bus in disgust. The Indians added another run off reliever Ron Gardner in the ninth on a sacrifice fly by George Foster.

The Indians added another run off reliever Ron Gardner in the ninth on a sacrifice fly by Fern Joyner that scored Snyder, who reached on a fielder's choice.

The Indians added another run off reliever Ron Gardner in the ninth on a sacrifice fly by Fern Joyner that scored Snyder, who reached on a fielder's choice.
Tuesday at Christ Hospital in regards his latest knee operation because of shoulder surgery. Brian Bento was forced to give up the game because of a burned-hand injury. John Sullivan graduated.

But Herman still will struggle for playing time against Derek Hussey, Orlando Craig, Derek Rice, Brent Johnson and John Martin. Herman says that expectations are a heavy load for an 18-year-old.

"I can't really say with my heart that I'm not happy with the way I played, for one, and I certainly wasn't happy with the team's overall concept of the defense. Maybe he was thrown to the lions a little too soon.

"If it was going to happen, I'm not going to change my ways of playing the game. It's almost a matter of bad luck. Anything can happen in football. If there was a chance that he could have had a shot at the starting job, he should have had a shot at the starting job. That just put pressure on me to know what I had to live up to. I didn't worry so much about what other people say about me, but it was the pressure I put on myself.

"If I was going to go down with an injury, it would be a shame for the team to lose. I'm glad that, his accident occurred when it did.

"If it was going to happen, I'm glad it happened early in the season," Bell said.

Bruce set to start building at CSU

POLT CORTES, Colo. (AP) — Earle Bruce is approaching his new job at Colorado State head football coach with typical hands-on energy.

Bruce was head coach at Ohio State University in Columbus for nine years until he was fired last Dec. 30, at which point the university had a no-contact period until Jan. 1.

Herman set to emerge for OSU

CINCINNATI (AP) — Buddy Herman set to emerge for a starting inside linebacker spot during Ohio State's spring workouts.

Chris Spielman's number.

A year older, a year wiser and a year heavier, Herman is competing for the Buckeyes' starting inside linebacker job vacated by former Denver Broncos Craig Pomponio, New England Patriots' Chris White, Indiana State freshman Kevian Jones and other players.

Bruce said he is not looking for any particular type of player, but he does want someones with some ability to bring the ball to the ground.

"I'm a lot better," said full- back Todd Vert. "The main difference I see is because Coach Bruce is the offensive coordinator. There's no chain of command like before where you had a position coach and an offensive coordinator and head coach. That is a lot of hard work and a lot of hard work, that is a lot of pressure.

"It's a lot better," said full- back Todd Vert.

Bell, who was traded by the Reds to Houston last season and has signed with the Texas Rangers as a free agent, said he

"We were hurting at linebacker. It was the perfect time for a

Freshman to come in," Gurd said last week. "Judah may not have in and be an "impact player" as a freshman. Instead, he saw spot

CINCINNATI (AP) — Buddy

"I'm not going to change my ways of playing the game. It's almost a matter of bad luck. Anything can happen in football. If there was a chance that he could have had a shot at the starting job, he should have had a shot at the starting job. That just put pressure on me to know what I had to live up to. I didn't worry so much about what other people say about me, but it was the pressure I put on myself."

"There's no chain of command like before where you had a position coach and an offensive coordinator and head coach. That is a lot of hard work and a lot of hard work, that is a lot of pressure."

"If it was going to happen, I'm glad it happened early in the season," Bell said.
Boxing legend dies

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, whose name and style spawned a generation of imitators, died Wednesday. He was 67, the world's greatest middleweight boxer and one of the pound-for-pound greats who ever lived.

Ray Robinson, who fought under the name of Sugar Ray Robinson, died of a heart attack Wednesday night at a Los Angeles hospital. Robinson's troubles started in Las Vegas when he was ambushed by a group of muggers in 1973.

Robinson retired from boxing in 1966 after a record of 200-6-1, which included a 15-round decision with Joe Louis. In 1961, he picked up where he had left off as a lightweight and middleweight. He took on world champion Jake LaMotta in 1960 and won the title.

Robinson was a middleweight champion when he was killed in a car crash in 1966. He was 67. Robinson was known for his fast hands and potent right.

Robinson's family said he had been hospitalized for weeks with a heart condition.

Robinson was the first black boxer to be considered for induction into the International Boxing Hall of Fame.

Robinson's death came one day after the United States Supreme Court ruled that boxing promote...
DO THE WILD THING THIS SUMMER
Make $80 a day
SUMMER WORK INTERVIEWS
3:30 & 6:30
Rm. 303 Eppler North
Thursday