The concert committee involving is going to be busy with a lot of work, but the fun should be looking forward to a fun party, too," said Bill Engelman.

UAI has hired professional public relations staff who have experience with concerts. The committee has also posted flyers around campus describing the concert. Advertisements will also be placed in various places, including liner notes, carausel, moving devices, also on the radio, on buses, in the student union, and on the intranet. Security has also been hired to search the campus for troublemakers. The concert is not required to go to campus students.

If any sexual encounter with an acquaintance, talk about the limits of your relationship. Communicate. Prior to having sex, ask yourself questions such as whether you are straight, gay, lesbian, bisexual, or other. What do you want to do, what would you not want to do? Communicate. If you do not want to participate in any sexual activity, stop at any time. "What matters is what you can work it out with," Ruth Sallee-Gersham said. "If you are afraid, embarrassed and angry."

First Floor of Offenhauer East. 8 a.m. - 4 p.m. "During the conference proceed- ing there will be different voices on the same topic, different perspectives, and different cultures which give the conference a variety of perspectives." Sallee-Gersham, who is the coordinator of the conference planning committee.

The most important thing for a rape victim to keep in mind is to get treated as a person, the rape victim. Do not shower. Save the clothing you were wearing. If you are assaulted:

Anything that you can work it out with. Women don't want to tell, they are afraid, embarrassed and angry."

Barack Obama has been a topic of much discussion in recent years, particularly due to his role as the President of the United States. Obama's presidency was marked by a number of significant events and initiatives, including economic recovery efforts, healthcare reform, and foreign policy decisions. As a leader, he faced numerous challenges and was the subject of both praise and criticism. Obama's legacy continues to be debated and analyzed, with his impact on politics and society being felt in various ways.

The following text contains articles discussing various aspects of Obama's presidency, including his policies, his relations with different countries, and his impact on the United States and the world. The text also includes information about his personal life and career, as well as his contributions to American politics.

As the text delves into the complexities of Obama's presidency, it provides insights into the challenges he faced and the successes he achieved. It also highlights the importance of leadership in times of crisis, and the role of the President in shaping the course of history.
Letter to the Editor

Dear BG News writers and readers—

I have seen your column while I was reading the paper. I wanted to write you a letter about a few things that have been on my mind.

Firstly, I wanted to express my thoughts on the current state of the world. I believe that we need to come together as a community and work towards a better future. I believe that through our collective efforts, we can overcome any obstacle.

Secondly, I wanted to talk about the importance of education. I believe that education is the key to a better life. It is through education that we can learn about the world around us and develop the skills we need to succeed.

Lastly, I wanted to express my gratitude for the opportunities that I have had in life. I am thankful for the support of my family and friends, and I am grateful for the chance to make a difference in the world.

Thank you for reading this letter. I hope that my words will inspire you to take action and make a positive impact on the world.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
Student apathy: It's a matter of control

Ah, once again it's spring. The time of year when the leaves mean, "It's not snowing" and students turn their backs on the University. I'm sure that there are several compensations to the spring climate. The first is the opportunity to pull apart the majorities of the students by race and believe that one group is better than the other, that person is categorizing people by race and believes that one group is more intelligent than the other. This is one of the reasons why being a "hardass" in this school environment is rather difficult. Without it, the argument would not make any sense.

"Only three more bloody-minded opinions out of 2,000 students," a friend told me while I was wandering through the bowels of Classroom A, trying to find a chance to throw away an essay that I had had to produce. But I have enough remaining resolve to be a little more creative.

In response to their students' outdoor specials, more teachers seem to be throwing up their hands in despair and prefsing for more money to buy chairs and face-to-face teaching methods. The net result, of course, is the little change in students' behavior. "You know folks, the semester's only half over, and there's only 30 days until spring break!"

I understand their frustration. After all, the students in their class have to put up with this, right? Why shouldn't they do something about it?

While there are several possible reasons, the first and most obvious is the students themselves. "I'm not the only person you can talk to outside class. You know everyone I know. It is not the test of human nature. However, the results of several studies dis-"
Lots of work, little money angor janitors into striking

The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Frustrated janitors and their unions, worried about the long-term impact of low wages, staged a noisy demonstration Friday for a $1-an-hour raise for the next three years. The janitors' increasing desperation has forced management to agree to negotiate a new contract in the wake of a strike that threatens to paralyze the nation's second-largest city.

The janitors are part of the Service Employees International Union, which has made $10 an hour its goal for janitors across the country. The union has staged demonstrations in Los Angeles, Chicago, New York and San Francisco, as well as in other major cities where contracts expire this year.

The timing is no coincidence. The city, and for four years ago to negotiate contracts around the country that would provide worker protections for all.

The janitors have been warning their employers that workers in some of the most aggressive bargaining campaigns have organized unions to have the 1.3 million-member union owe 3.5 million members of the Teamsters union owe 2.5 million members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

In 1983, the then-striking janitors started a program called "Fen ice for Janitors" under the leadership of John Romero, who later became president of the AFL-CIO. Organized efforts were stymied in the face of powerful management opposition. It was only after the janitors took control of the janitors' union that they were able to negotiate a new contract in the wake of a strike that threatens to paralyze the nation's second-largest city.

Falcons soar to new Texas relays record

DEREK MCCORD
Sports Writer

A 29-year-old in track and field needs no introduction at Zippy's. Buckeye Columbia.

The Bowling Green men's sprint medley relay team of Dave Wottle, Rex Howard, Rah'Sheen, and Mike Wottle set a new school record of 3:59.54 in the 4 x 400 relay. This is the first time in school history that a 4 x 400 relay has run under 3:59.

The record was held by Olympic sprint medley relay team of Dave Wottle, Ted Martin, and Dave Wottle. The record was first set in 1974 with a time of 3:59.6. This is the first time in school history that a 4 x 400 relay has run under 3:59.

The relay was started by Rah'Sheen, who ran the first leg. Rah'Sheen was followed by Mike Wottle, who ran the second leg. Mike Wottle was then followed by Dave Wottle, who ran the third leg. Dave Wottle was then followed by Rex Howard, who ran the final leg.

The record was broken by the Bowling Green men's 4 x 400 relay team of Dave Wottle, Rex Howard, Rah'Sheen, and Mike Wottle. The team finished the race with a time of 3:59.54, breaking the previous record of 3:59.6 set in 1974.

Cleveland — The Cleveland Indians last night declared the 2000 season at Jacobs Field sold out 40 days before the team's home season opener Friday against the Royals.

The Indians have sold out 373 straight home games, the longest such streak in the majors. The season opener April 28 against the Royals is the 374th consecutive home game with tickets sold out.

Season ticket holders are locked at 38,000. The Indians announced earlier this week that they had added 1,370 season tickets to the 35,000 already sold.

CART championship

B. J. Brehfield's first CART win of the season wasn't enough to change the balance of power in Indianapolis. Instead, it put him in first place in the series' standings.

"I've been doing things on other tracks for a really long time," said Brehfield, who finished second in last year's CART championship and now our "front runner" in the series. "It's nice to hopefully have a shot at it... not to be a back-up."

He added, "You can't win the Indy 500 if you're not out there."
Latino awareness events to explore and ‘jazz up’ culture

Yesterday’s “Growing Up Latino” program kicked-off the second annual Latino Awareness Week (LAW), a five-day event series which aims to explore the various Latino cultures in innovative ways. Like last year, LAW offers many education-disguised-as-entertainment events. From a cultural version of Jeopardy! (Do you know the real reason why Cinco de Mayo is celebrated?) to a fashion and variety show, LAW makes learning about another culture fun and fascinating.

The highlight of the event series is the nationally-recognized Latino Issues Conference which annually examines Latino contributions to politics, art and education. Lunch at the conference costs $5; the conference sessions and all other events are free. For more information on any of these events, contact LSU at (419) 372-2385.

CAMPUS INVASION BRINGS INTERACTIVE VILLAGE

Push and Moby won’t be the only stars invading BGSU today. The MTV Interactive Village—a free event open to all—will be held on the lawn behind Anderson Arena from 12 p.m.-5 p.m. The rec center has been set up as a rain site.

Many events and programs will be held at the Village. MTV Career Counseling, sponsored by Monster.com, will give students a chance to audition with a director to be on MTV VI. Also, there will be computer monitors set up with access to Monster.com.

MTV House of Style, sponsored by Neutrogena, will offer health, skin and beauty tips. Also, get your photo taken with a special sun damage camera and get expert advice by an on-site dermatologist who will analyze and advise on skin protection and damage. There will be a free raffle for MTV and Neutrogena products.

MTV Spankin' New Music, sponsored by CIBA Vision, will feature self-contained music sampling stations, where videos are shown on monitors using the latest technology.

MTV Music Generator, sponsored by Arid, will teach students how to use a variety of music-focused software which will allow them to create and mix music under the guidance of professional DJs. Stop by MTV Choose or Lose, a test dedicated to MTV’s campaign to spread awareness among college-age students of the issues in the upcoming presidential campaign. Students will be able to register to vote. Presented jointly with local cable affiliate and Youth Vote Coalition.

For more information on other highlights, call (419) 372-2486.

SENIORS SALUTED BY FULL WEEK OF PROGRAMS

Once again, the time has come for Beyond BG. This year the event, themed the Millennium Masquerade, will be held on April 27, 2000 from 8-10 p.m., in Anderson Arena. Beyond BG is a grand celebration for all students, especially seniors. Graduating seniors will be recognized for all their hard work and dedication to Bowling Green State University at Beyond BG. Over 1000 students, faculty, staff, administrators and community members will be in attendance.

Tricia Courtney from WVKS 92.5 FM Toledo will emcee the evening. Courtney is part of the Breakfast Club on Kiss FM and is also a 1987 graduate of BGSU.

PEOPLE UNITE!
TAKE BACK THE NIGHT!
THURSDAY, APRIL 13
7 P.M.
CLOCKTOWER MALL

No more silence! Stop the violence! Women unite! Take Back the Night! Join us for the annual Take Back the March and say that violence against women will not be tolerated. Women no longer have to accept violence as an inevitable part of life nor do they have to depend on others for protection. March with us and help recognize that women can protect themselves and work together to instigate a change. With unity comes strength! Open mics for survivor speak outs, the BGSU Gospel Choir (directed by Nathan McDonald) and the Africana Dance Troupe will be part of this years program. Men will have a discussion on Rape Prevention with two representatives from the Counseling Center while the women march. Also, the keynote speaker will be Ruth Saline-Gresham from Ohio State University. She has been involved in the work of Rape Education since 1983.

For more information, call the Women's Action Coalition office at (419) 372-2281.
