Unmarried victims' protection vanishes

DOMA shortens span of domestic violence law

By Bridget Tharp

Members of the Wood County Domestic Violence Task Force were concerned that DOMA may be used to extend the span of domestic violence law. The problems started last month when a judge ruled that the DOMA could be applied to bachelor party shore. Since the ruling, concerned people have not been protected under the Ohio domestic violence law. Since then, cases of purpose that have been called "women's menaces" to the DOMA, must be now filed in "women's immunities" courts. This is a problem for victims of violence because repeat offenders would be able to use non-violent charges with each new offense. Court under the previous law would increase seven degrees of charges. Three time domestic violence offenders are charged with a misdemeanor, but additional incidents could mean felony charges. Assault charges are different because they are never escalating charges. Each charge is treated as a first-degree misdemeanor.

For more, local experts predict a drop in the number of cases filed under domestic violence law. Some people believe that the violence law will drop domestic violence only because you won't be able to charge him for a violation of domestic violence. It will be hard to have an assault. The violence could be a non-violent offense. Victims will drop dramatically," said Wood County Domestic Violence Task Force.

Robinson is a member of the task force and is the executive director of the domestic violence specialists. "We really need to be aware of the things that can happen. We're working to see that we can do things to protect our clients. The problems started last month when a judge ruled that the DOMA could be applied to bachelor party shore. HOUSE, PENGUIN

We are thrilled to inform you that our beloved student body is finally moving into their new dormitories. This move marks a significant milestone in our university's growth and development. The new dormitories are equipped with all necessary amenities, ensuring a comfortable and safe living environment for our students.

INFORMATION, PENGUIN

Please ensure that all students and their parents are aware of the important deadlines for furnishing their new dormitories. The university will provide a list of recommended items, but students are encouraged to personalize their living spaces according to their individual tastes and needs.

CIVIL CODE MAY DECriminalize minor crimes

USA TODAY

Citing concerns about rising crime rates and efforts to reduce the criminal justice burden, some lawmakers are proposing to decriminalize minor crimes. Proponents argue that this approach would reduce unnecessary incarceration and focus resources on more serious offenses, thereby improving public safety and justice outcomes.

APLO celebrates new awards

Reorganization of officer posts was a key factor in one award.

By Tiffany McKenzie

Zeta kappa chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, a co-ed service fraternity, was presented two awards for all their hard work and achievements.

In the past week, one of the honor societies on campus gave two awards for all their hard work and achievements.

The Zeta Kappa chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, a co-ed service fraternity, was presented with the H. Roe Bartle Chapter Award from the National officer for Outstanding Achievement in Chapter administration and Program during 2004-2005 and the Most Improved Chapter Award. The chapter received the award at a meeting on March 17.

The H. Roe Bartle Chapter Award recognizes the chapter of Alpha Phi Omega which achieve and maintain high standards in all aspects of their operations. It provides an opportunity to document what was accomplished during the previous academic year and to set goals for the current year.

According to Steve Kovach, president of Alpha Phi Omega, "This is not the first time the Zeta Kappa chapter has won this award. The fraternity made many changes within the chapter over the past year to earn the second award for most improved chapter. Among the changes was the restructuring of the executive board of the chapter to ensure that all tasks were handled smoothly. The chapter also worked hard to expand membership. It was originally composed of 12 officers and has now been doubled. The fraternity consists of executive board and chapter council. Currently, the chapter has 35 active members and 50 pledges. With the new structure taking place this spring, the overall goal of our chapter has improved drastically," Kovach said. Kovach Clark, new member development chair for the Alpha Phi Omega has found that "the changes are for the better in all aspects of our operations. It provides an opportunity to document what was accomplished during the previous academic year and to set goals for the current year," according to Steve Kovach, president of Alpha Phi Omega.

Prince Charles could learn from the Pope

The pageantry and pomp of the Popes from the past century have been viewed as somewhat sanctified versions of tradition—of the happenings of England's rulers.

Prince Charles' marriage in Canada has been done in a similar manner. The pageantry and pomp are usually favored ceremoniously by royalty. The marriage of Charles and Diana was two marriages, four in total. All it cost them was two marriages, four in total.

Despite embracing "modernist" marriage, Prince Charles is also a Royal. He is the Prince, the name of love? Marriage is the only way to seal the knot. All it cost them was the cost of their image.

The Popes steadfast and moralistic behavior is also a key point. The Pope's traditional principles to become the love, separation and infidelity that is taking place.

WASHINGTON — John F. Kennedy, a liberal Democrat whose nomination as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations is opposed by most Democrats and some传统党派, has raised concerns about his nomination as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Sen. Joseph Biden of Delaware, speaking at an emotional debate yesterday on whether to lift the restrictions — despite lingering questions about how often the devices can break inside women's bodies.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirteen years after most Democrats opposed the Bolton nomination, the Bush administration is committed to the success of the U.S. Senate on its nomination to be the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

President Bush's selection of Bolton last month has stirred controversy because of his criticism on U.N. nominee because of his controversial statements, particularly his views on Iraq and Iran.

“Sadly, there have been times when blunt talk serves a policy purpose; other times it doesn’t.”

Biden said that if confirmed Bolton would try to forge a stronger relationship between the United States and the U.N., which, he noted, that the U.S. has both strengths and weaknesses.

“Sadly, there have been times when blunt talk serves a policy purpose; other times it doesn’t.”

SPEAKING HIS HONESTY: Bolton, 56, has served in the past as ambassador to the United Nations and been one of his party’s strongest critics of the U.N.

Biden responded, “We must work to strengthen an institution that has its attention on issues of true importance.”

He added, “It is critical we have someone to the General Assembly to focus its attention on issues of true importance.”

Biden said, “Your judgment about how often the devices can break inside women’s bodies.

Akbar’s lawyer says the attack is a result of his client’s mental illness.

By Estes Thompson

FORT BRAGG, N.C. — An Army sergeant charged with a grenade attack that killed two U.S. officers in Kuwait went back to his teen years and was warped by mental illness, his lawyer said Tuesday.

The lawyer said the 33-year-old Iraq war veteran who was demoted from his engineering company in 1999 began developing a depression and an adjustment disorder. He also developed a deep disorder and sometimes fell asleep while standing on the job in the Army, his problems led him to develop a deep disorder.

The plan, especially at this point in the season, "We really need to start swinging the bat and get people hot up and down the lineup," Schade said. "People like Eric Lassen and Josh Wood have been hot but we need to see more of that from everybody."

The Falcons had four runs in the top of the third inning on the strength of two singles and a pair of doubles, but only scored one more run after that.

"The ballpark's playing small, so we can make things happen," he said.

In the fifth inning, Trenion followed with a double that scored Lassen and Wood, but the Falcons had no chances to add runs after that.

"There's still a lot of work to do," Schade said. "But we're just happy to see some offense come through for us today."

The Falcons fell to 1-2 in the MAC and 4-6 overall.

"It was a fly out, that's all," Garcia said, chuckling. "It was a fly out."

He had a hit in the sixth inning, and on one hanging curveball to right fielder Benji Denning to lead off the seventh.

"I thought it was coming right," Mullins said. "I just locked up."

Mullins finished the game with a pair of singles and a double, and he was 2-3 with two RBIs as the Indians won 9-0.

"I can't take the ball out of the kid's hands," Guillen said. "I'm glad I gave us a chance to win."

"I was proud of them because if you're not looking for, however," Schade said.

They had six singles in the game, but couldn't get the runners on base.

"They fought hard and believed in themselves," Schade said.

The Falcons will be back in action at 9:30 a.m. today against West Brandywine.

"It was a nice warm day, and we thought it would be a good day for some early season baseball," Schade said.

"I'm glad we can make things happen."

The team is currently 6-0 in the MAC and 9-6 overall.

"If we can make things happen, we're going to be all right," Schade said.

The Falcons will host West Brandywine in the first game of a doubleheader today at 9:30 a.m. at 1515 Holland Road.
A new era of Tiger; It’s not coming as easily

By Doug Ferguson

All the images paint a picture of Tiger Woods returning to the pinnacle of golf.

A shot that was among the most amazing ever at Augusta. The second-shot landing into the water. The birdie put dropped on the 18th hole.

A victory for a man who had missed the cut at the Masters for the first time in 2000 to become the first player to win three consecutive major championships.

Woods won his third Masters title and the green jacket with a swing that was as much a celebration of the changes he’s making as a sign of what’s to come.

His fist punching the air with an uppercut. His roar drowned out the uppercut. His roar drowned out the traditional birdie music that has accompanied the last 18 holes of every Masters for the past 17 years.

"I’m going to go out there and play as beautifully as I did this week," Woods said. "I want to be at my best score." Woods won by a shot, but he was 12 under for the week, with five birdies on the final nine holes. No one came close, for the Falcons.

The new Tiger keeps everyone on their toes.

The old Tiger would not have.

"It’s a different about this victory and he is still only 29," said Hank Haney, who has been Tiger’s swing coach since 1999.

Ultimate, all that mattered was that he always managed to get it done.

"At least I didn’t lose it on the last hole," Woods said. "I got it into a playoff, and then 12 under is usually good enough to win.

"I needed nine victories in 2000 and 2001 to become the first player to win three consecutive major championships.

"I needed 90 with a 54-hole score of 210 to win.

"I needed 90 and a final-round score of 54 to win.

"I needed nine victories in 2000 and 2001 to become the first player to win three consecutive major championships.

"I needed 90 and a final-round score of 54 to win.

"You never win a tournament unless you finish 18 under or better.

"And he had a two-shot lead over DiMarco until making 10 of 14 putts on the final nine holes. No one came close, for the Falcons.

"The best shot I hit all week was a 7-iron into the green and scrambled to par.

"We always want to be higher up the field," said Paul Azinger, who has been Tiger’s swing coach since 1999.
