Blood drive in full swing

by Robin Cox
News Staff Writer

The Red Cross Bloodmobile on campus had a considerable amount of blood collected from students during its three visits this week. The smiley-faced bloodmobile collected about 249 pints or blood during its three visits to the student center, with a total of 777 blood donations dropped to 2,433 pints. In 1992 donations dropped to 2,390 pints and in 1993 to 1,903 pints of blood.

Tasha Parks, donor coordinator for the Northwest Ohio region, said the loss of donations has been a national trend.

"Donations dropped because of the AIDS scare specific reason of the personal scare," Parks said.

The loss of blood is unforeseen to Northwest Ohio region, said the loss of donations has been a national trend.

"Donations dropped because of the AIDS scare specific reason of the personal scare," Parks said.

Overall, the students and residents of Bowling Green have a sense of safety and security when walking the streets. Many do not feel a danger in walking to a local bar or even a store.

However, the sense of security may be false. In a period of 24 hours, three University students were the victims of an assault by a group of people. These victims are now questioning just how safe it is to walk the streets.

Russel Hammaker and Bryan C. Hilderbrand were two of the victims of a browsing by a group of people. Hammaker said he and his roommate were walking back from Upson on North Main Street around 1:00 a.m. Sunday morning and were not far from home when five men who they had passed on the other side of the street came up behind them.

Hammaker said one of the men knocked him on the ground. While he was laying on the ground he was punched in the head. Three of the men then ran off while two stayed behind.

Hammaker said while he was laying on the ground two of the men began talking to his roommate. He said he believed his roommate thought they were trying to apologize for the situation. He said he believed his roommate knew he was trying to start a fight because Hilderbrand questioned why the incident had happened.

One of the remaining men then allegedly punched Jim Maile. Hilderbrand was not in need of medical attention, but Hammaker said he needed to see a doctor. They went to Wood County hospital, where Hammaker was diagnosed with minor concussion on the right side of his head.

Hammaker and Hilderbrand were able to identify three of the attackers as black males. They both believe the other two may have been black males as well, although Hammaker said he is not trying to blame anyone.

"I am not trying to lay any blame," Hammaker said. "I do not matter now. There was just too much for it to happen." Hammaker was not the designated driver, the fact that they will do. Hammaker and Hilderbrand do not believe they provoked anything. They are still question-

The other incident happened at 3:00 a.m. Sunday Ryan Nowak and his girlfriend Erika Evans were walking on Ridge Street when four black males approached them.

Nowak said one of the men approached him and punched him in the face. He then fell down. While he was laying on the ground they allegedly kicked him in the back of the head. Nowak said he does not remember much after that. He believes he may have passed out.

He said Evans told him the men were approaching his body as he hit him after she covered his body with her. They apparently decided to leave him before that said, said.

Nowak said he had a lot of scratches after the incident. He said had a bump on the back of his head. He said he never expected anything like this to happen in Bowling Green.

Police Chief Gail Ash said he is concerned about the future and repeated incidents.

"What worries me is what the future is going to bring," he said.

Ash said it is a problem if this kind of thing happens once and two incidents occurred in the last week. He said it needs to be called to the problem but he the situation. It is out of hand, yet.
A fitting tribute equals Billy Jeff

James Walters

Let's see. What else? Well, regardless of what you may have heard, Tony Harding knows absolutely nothing about the attack on Nancy Reagan. Neither did the fact that the gas has admitted some knowledge of the in- and failed to inform au-

This, in fact, is actually a consual, I' m talking about conspiracies, President Kennedy is actually still alive. I know this is hard to believe, but it’s true.

The fact is Elvis and Jack Kenny are both alive and well and are currently on tour with Billy Joel.

You see, I am not really a student here at Bowling Green State University. Shocked?

Actually, this is a high level advisor to President Clinton. In fact, both David Gergen and George Stephanopoulos work for the President. If you really want to know the truth, Al Gore works for me as well.

So, how soon you ask? You see, there is one area in which I really do admire President Clinton.

There is, you ask?

Why yes, you there is. I have a problem with crime in this nation. The problem is, you see, we do not have the police force that we need to deal with the crime.

The police force, you see, is not as strong as it should be. They are underpaid and undertrained.

We need to simply understand this.

Talking about problems which I have never seen, I am not in touch with any countries.

But what about the years of talanted immigration in this country? Nope, never happened.

Looking at the headline, you might be wondering what the hell is going on this week. Who, you may ask, is Billy Jeff?

Well, for those of you who do not pay attention to anything most of the time, Billy Jeff is our Illinois national leader. President Jeff Clinton.

O.K., you're asking, but why on earth would I be doing a tribute to President Clinton in my se-

He should really start telling the truth.

James Walters is a weekly columnist for BG 24 News.

Unionization equals academia

BSGU alma mater says students will benefit from collective bargaining

I recently had the opportunity to return to my alma mater, BSGU, to attend a meeting where I heard about the plans of the university to form a union. I was intrigued, as I always am, at the talk about the faculty unionizing, anyone has pointed out that students are going to be one of the biggest beneficiaries.

The problem, you see, is we don't have the police force that we need to deal with the crime.

The police force, you see, is not as strong as it should be. They are underpaid and undertrained.

We need to simply understand this.

Talking about problems which I have never seen, I am not in touch with any countries.

But what about the years of talanted immigration in this country? Nope, never happened.

Looking at the headline, you might be wondering what the hell is going on this week. Who, you may ask, is Billy Jeff?

Well, for those of you who do not pay attention to anything most of the time, Billy Jeff is our Illinois national leader. President Jeff Clinton.

O.K., you're asking, but why on earth would I be doing a tribute to President Clinton in my se-

He should really start telling the truth.

James Walters is a weekly columnist for BG 24 News.

Unionization equals academia

BSGU alma mater says students will benefit from collective bargaining

I recently had the opportunity to return to my alma mater, BSGU, to attend a meeting where I heard about the plans of the university to form a union. I was intrigued, as I always am, at the talk about the faculty unionizing, anyone has pointed out that students are going to be one of the biggest beneficiaries.

The problem, you see, is we don't have the police force that we need to deal with the crime.

The police force, you see, is not as strong as it should be. They are underpaid and undertrained.

We need to simply understand this.

Talking about problems which I have never seen, I am not in touch with any countries.

But what about the years of talanted immigration in this country? Nope, never happened.

Looking at the headline, you might be wondering what the hell is going on this week. Who, you may ask, is Billy Jeff?

Well, for those of you who do not pay attention to anything most of the time, Billy Jeff is our Illinois national leader. President Jeff Clinton.

O.K., you're asking, but why on earth would I be doing a tribute to President Clinton in my se-

He should really start telling the truth.

James Walters is a weekly columnist for BG 24 News.

The BG News Editorial

Jackson said. "When it moves on be unpleasant but it's defiance," and not carry with you some de-

"Gin and Juice," a rap peppered with the words "bitches" and "bom," has drawn the ire of civil rights groups and women's organiza-

"gangsta" rap. As long as it's done for the live show is un-

"Doggystyle" alone justified his success of Snoop's debut album "Doggystyle," which his bodyguard fatally shot a man last August.

When rap deals with issues such as violence, sex and drugs, many of its other songs are laced with profanity. "Gin and Juice," a rap peppered with offensive language and degrad-

Snoop, whose real name is Cal-

"It's subject to huge criticism from those who are not in the business," he said. "There's violence and evil."

Commercialization of the music form is misun-

We are better at imagining countries than we are at imagining communities of people who live together in the same place."

Other scheduled performers include Michael Bolton, Toni Braxton and Rod Stewart, who will receive the International Artist Award. Vince Gill and Glenda Knight will perform a show. Betty White will host a "Celebrity Roast" honoring "Seinfeld" star Michael Richards. Other performers include Will Smith, Meat Loaf and singer Kathy Lee Gifford, who has two country nominations.

Unmarried and not seeing anyone, a big part of the audience, a big part of the off-

Snoop Doggy Dogg chose to perform at the Grammys. Producer Nick Cark said the success of Snoop's other album "Doggystyle" since justified his presence at tonight's awards show.

"You don't sell three and a half million albums in three weeks and not carry with you some de-

"We Are Better"

The Rev. Felix Haynes Jr. said "He told us Friday that in two days, but psychiatrists refused to treat her until police arrived. "Snoop is scheduled to perform "Gin and Juice," a rap which his bodyguard fatally shot a man last August.

His music has drawn the ire of civil rights groups and women's organizations. Even without the murder charge, Snoop has been slugh-

"Gangsta" rap defenders say they have the First Amendment right to free speech. They believe the "gangsta" rap that is on show. "This race is not an uplifting way to bring in a group," said a 40-day "fast" from negative thinker to become a"n." If it worked out this year, I'll think about retiring this summer."
County needs volunteers

Repeat offender bill debated

Cable channel sparks debate

Campus
AIIA wants faculty to vote down bargaining

by Katie Simmons

ニュース staff writer

With only three days remaining until faculty votes determine the fate of collective bargaining, the AIIA (Academics of Independent Institution) has decided to oppose the collective bargaining process. The AIIA opposes the collective bargaining passage included as an appendix to the 1994-1995 faculty contract. The AIIA claims that the faculty have no advantage in regards to the formation of a union within the faculty and that the faculty administration has determined that many factors, only one of them being administration.

Prof releasees boxed set

Prof releasees boxed set

"As a presenter, David makes a positive impact on our students as well as faculty and administration. The creative dating workshop has been a success among all students as well as faculty and administration." Clemans stated that the faculty administration has determined that many factors, only one of them being administration.

The main idea of the conference was to be sure that a faculty union is not interested in the economic benefit of the faculty. The AIIA states that the voting results in non-unionization that they will work on the improvement of the relationships between the faculty and administration.

"We have to develop a sense of confidence in ourselves as faculty and make the effort to produce a credible faculty voice," Clemans said.

The new release of the creative dating workshop has been a success among all students as well as faculty and administration. The faculty administration has determined that many factors, only one of them being administration.

DREAMGIRLS is a fictionalized recreation of a Black supergroup strikingly similar to the Supremes and was Michael Bennet's follow up to his _American Pie_. Winner of the Tony Award, DREAMGIRLS' creation of high voltage entertainment for all age groups. Once you've heard the music, seen the dancing, laughed at the comedy, you'll know why. If you could see only one Broadway hit in your life, you pick DREAMGIRLS.

DREAMGIRLS is a fictionalized recreation of a Black supergroup strikingly similar to the Supremes and was Michael Bennet's follow up to his _American Pie_. Winner of the Tony Award, DREAMGIRLS' creation of high voltage entertainment for all age groups. Once you've heard the music, seen the dancing, laughed at the comedy, you'll know why. If you could see only one Broadway hit in your life, you pick DREAMGIRLS.

DREAMGIRLS is a fictionalized recreation of a Black supergroup strikingly similar to the Supremes and was Michael Bennet's follow up to his _American Pie_. Winner of the Tony Award, DREAMGIRLS' creation of high voltage entertainment for all age groups. Once you've heard the music, seen the dancing, laughed at the comedy, you'll know why. If you could see only one Broadway hit in your life, you pick DREAMGIRLS.

DREAMGIRLS is a fictionalized recreation of a Black supergroup strikingly similar to the Supremes and was Michael Bennet's follow up to his _American Pie_. Winner of the Tony Award, DREAMGIRLS' creation of high voltage entertainment for all age groups. Once you've heard the music, seen the dancing, laughed at the comedy, you'll know why. If you could see only one Broadway hit in your life, you pick DREAMGIRLS.

DREAMGIRLS is a fictionalized recreation of a Black supergroup strikingly similar to the Supremes and was Michael Bennet's follow up to his _American Pie_. Winner of the Tony Award, DREAMGIRLS' creation of high voltage entertainment for all age groups. Once you've heard the music, seen the dancing, laughed at the comedy, you'll know why. If you could see only one Broadway hit in your life, you pick DREAMGIRLS.

DREAMGIRLS is a fictionalized recreation of a Black supergroup strikingly similar to the Supremes and was Michael Bennet's follow up to his _American Pie_. Winner of the Tony Award, DREAMGIRLS' creation of high voltage entertainment for all age groups. Once you've heard the music, seen the dancing, laughed at the comedy, you'll know why. If you could see only one Broadway hit in your life, you pick DREAMGIRLS.

DREAMGIRLS is a fictionalized recreation of a Black supergroup strikingly similar to the Supremes and was Michael Bennet's follow up to his _American Pie_. Winner of the Tony Award, DREAMGIRLS' creation of high voltage entertainment for all age groups. Once you've heard the music, seen the dancing, laughed at the comedy, you'll know why. If you could see only one Broadway hit in your life, you pick DREAMGIRLS.

DREAMGIRLS is a fictionalized recreation of a Black supergroup strikingly similar to the Supremes and was Michael Bennet's follow up to his _American Pie_. Winner of the Tony Award, DREAMGIRLS' creation of high voltage entertainment for all age groups. Once you've heard the music, seen the dancing, laughed at the comedy, you'll know why. If you could see only one Broadway hit in your life, you pick DREAMGIRLS.
UPS workers go on strike

By Mitch Weiss
The Associated Press

Teamsters workers at a central Ohio United Parcel Service center on Monday joined other workers nationwide in a strike against an increase in the weight limit on packages.

Union members at other UPS facilities in Ohio were on the job — in part because the warehouse defined a new order. "I think we should be on the picket line," Ron Johnson said outside a UPS distribution center in the Toledo suburb of Maumee. Johnson, 27, of Toledo. "Who's going to support their families?"

"I got bills to pay," said His friend, Bill Kenney, 27, of Toledo. "We have to stick together on this thing. And if they get hurt, how are they going to support their families?"

Company spokesman Bob Kenney said the new limit is safe and is used by competitors of UPS.

About 1,300 people decided not to join the national strike. About 1,300 people work at the Maumee center. "I'm not going to pay," said Johnson, 21, of Toledo. "Who's going to support a family?"

Johnson said the workers, who have to lift packages from 70 pounds to 150 pounds, were not striking because a federal judge Friday prohibited any job action for five days.

"This is a tough job already. Lifting 150 pounds is no problem for me," Johnson said.

"But a lot of people are going to hurt themselves with this thing. And if they get hurt, how are they going to support their families?"

Company spokesman Bob Kenney said the new limit is safe and is used by competitors of UPS.

Other Teamsters officials in Ohio said they were not striking because a federal judge Friday prohibited any job action for five days.

Striking United Parcel Service workers Pam Chilcote, left and Theresa Taylor stand on the picket line outside a Columbus, Ohio, terminal.

COLUMBUS — The greatest population gains in Ohio from 1990 to 1992 were in central and southwestern counties, while the biggest losses were in the northwest and east, according to census figures released Monday.

Six of the 10 biggest population gains among cities also were in central Ohio, mostly Columbus suburbs. And six of the 10 greatest population losses were recorded in metropolitan Cleveland.

Delaware County in central Ohio showed the most growth among counties. The U.S. Census Bureau estimated that the county's population grew by 6.7 percent since 1990. Licking County, also in central Ohio, was second in growth, at 5.7 percent.

Three other central Ohio counties — Union, Madison and Pickaway — were among the top 10 growth counties, as were three in southwest Ohio — Clermont, Warren and Butler.

Paulding County in northwest Ohio showed the greatest population loss, 4.3 percent. It was followed by Monroe in southeast Ohio, at minus 1.4 percent.

Five of the 10 counties that posted the biggest losses were in northwest Ohio — Paulding, Van Wert, Crawford, Lucas and Wyandot. Three were in southern Ohio — Harrison, Jefferson and Belmont.

Among metropolitan areas, Columbus and Cincinnati recorded the greatest gains by percentage, 3.6 and 2.6, respectively. Metropolitan Toledo had the largest gain, 5.0 percent.

Central and southwest Ohio are growing because they are key to service industries during the recession, said Mike Koren, a deputy director of the state Development Department.

"A lot of people come to school here and they stay because the jobs are here," he said. "A lot of people come to school here and they stay because the jobs are here," he said.

The BG News
Tuesday, February 8, 1994

is Your Professor #1?
Let us know!!

The Undergraduate Alumni Association is seeking nominations for the 1994 Master Teacher Award.

This prestigious award is given annually to a Bowling Green Professor who demonstrates an outstanding commitment to students and the art of teaching.

Applications are available at:
The Miletich Alumni Center
The Dean's Office in the Colleges of:
Arts and Sciences, Business, Education & Allied Professions, Health & Human Services, Music, Technology and the Graduate College.

RIGHT HERE...TOMORROW!!
Skater’s brother pleads not guilty to murder of father

by Lisa Cornelii

The Associated Press

LOMAI, Ohio — Olympic ice dancer Elizabeth Punsalan pleaded Monday to try her father twice in the chest in a minor accident as it left the courthouse parking lot. There were no reports of injuries, and police said they could not release details of the crash.

There was no answer Monday when a reporter knocked on the door of the family’s white-and-blue Victorian-style house on the Erie Shore when the Special Assistant to the Governor’s Sleeping Board, said the plan to finance work in-

Ronald Keller, executive director of the Capitol Square Re-

Keller said two other parts of the project remain: construction

Keller said the future of the University is in your hands. Be sure to vote in the election on February 9 and 10 on the union issue.

The Associated Press

DAYTON - State regulators are making rules to go with a new law that requires finger-

“Everybody is very con-

The Associated Press

The future of the University is in your hands. Be sure to vote in the election on February 9 and 10 on the union issue.

Locations

Alumni Room, 3rd Fl. University Union

Library Conference Room

East Building, Firelands College

February 9, 6-8 pm

February 10, 6-8 p.m.

The Associated Press

February 9, 6-8 pm

February 10, 6-8 p.m.

Kaplan students will be.

Free Informational Seminar

including Free test taking tips

Room 208 Hanna

Don’t risk being partially prepared.

Call 1-800-KAP-EST.

KAPLAN

The answer to the test question.

Classes start at 8G March 2

Money released for Statehouse repairs

by John Chalfant

The Associated Press

COLUMBUS — A legislative panel released $35 million Monday for renovation of Ohio’s Statehouse, an amount that represents the final large chunk of cash needed for the project.

Renovation officials said the total cost remained within the $110 million revised price tag set last October.

The state Controlling Board waived competitive bidding re-

There also is confusion over the law, she said.

“Everybody is very con-

The Associated Press

The future of the University is in your hands. Be sure to vote in the election on February 9 and 10 on the union issue.

Locations

Alumni Room, 3rd Fl. University Union

Library Conference Room

East Building, Firelands College

February 9, 6-8 pm

February 10, 6-8 p.m.

The Associated Press

DAYTON - State regulators are making rules to go with a new law that requires finger-

“Everybody is very con-

The Associated Press

The future of the University is in your hands. Be sure to vote in the election on February 9 and 10 on the union issue.

Locations

Alumni Room, 3rd Fl. University Union

Library Conference Room

East Building, Firelands College

February 9, 6-8 pm

February 10, 6-8 p.m.

The Associated Press

The future of the University is in your hands. Be sure to vote in the election on February 9 and 10 on the union issue.

Locations

Alumni Room, 3rd Fl. University Union

Library Conference Room

East Building, Firelands College

February 9, 6-8 pm

February 10, 6-8 p.m.

The Associated Press

The future of the University is in your hands. Be sure to vote in the election on February 9 and 10 on the union issue.

Locations

Alumni Room, 3rd Fl. University Union

Library Conference Room

East Building, Firelands College

February 9, 6-8 pm

February 10, 6-8 p.m.
Elders endorses legislation

by Larry Margasak

CINCINNATI - The U.S. Surgeon General, who has endorsed legislation to make public health arc required in virtually every nonresidential building in the country.

The current surgeon general, Dr. Joycelyn Elders, joined other witnesses in expressing concern over the effect of secondhand smoke on children.

The act would be enforced through citizen lawsuits, to avoid creation of a new federal bureaucracy.

A preliminary analysis presented to the committee by EPA Administrator Carol Browner estimated the legislation would cost less than $1 billion annually.

Browner estimated between $2 billion and $3 billion per year were not exposed to secondhand smoke.

She valued the savings in medical costs and reduced lost earnings for nonsmokers at $3 billion to $8 billion annually.

Browner placed the economic value of the reduced death rate at $22 billion to $43 billion annually.

This added to potential savings in housekeeping and maintenance expenses of smokefree buildings could range from $1 billion to $10 billion annually.

WASHINGTON - The U.S. Surgeon General and five of her predecessors endorsed legislation Monday to protect non-smokers, through secondhand-smoke restrictions in virtually every nonresidential building in the country.

A tobacco industry representative denounced the proposal as government "social engineering on a vast scale."

The conflicts expressed before the House Energy and Commerce Health and Environment Subcommittee on Health and the Environment which was holding today's hearing.

"We must do something to protect our children," said Dr. C. Everett Koop, perhaps the best known former surgeon general.

"Secondhand smoke causes 100,000 lung cancer deaths annually and as many as 300,000 cases of bronchitis and pneumonia in children."

"Secondhand smoke on children. "When we smoke around our children, then our children are smoking" she said, warning that children are vulnerable to asthma, bronchial problems and the future risk of lung cancer.

The committee chairman, Rep. Henry A. Waxman, D-Calif., responded to such pleas with a bill to ban smoking inside residential buildings, regularly entered by 10 or more persons, to either ban smoking inside the building or restrict it to small rooms.

Dr. Joycelyn Elders, joined by former Surgeon General Joycelyn Elders, left, is joined by former surgeon generals as she testifies on Capitol Hill before the House Commerce Health and Environment Subcommittee on Health and the Environment which was holding hearings on the Smoke-Free Environment Act of 1993.

Sen. Mike Enzi, R-Wyo., responded to such pleas with a bill to ban smoking inside residential buildings, regularly entered by 10 or more persons, to either ban smoking inside the building or restrict it to small rooms.

The act would be enforced through citizen lawsuits, to avoid creation of a new federal bureaucracy.

A preliminary analysis presented to the committee by EPA Administrator Carol Browner estimated the legislation would cost less than $1 billion annually.

Browner estimated between $2 billion and $3 billion per year were not exposed to secondhand smoke.

She valued the savings in medical costs and reduced lost earnings for nonsmokers at $3 billion to $8 billion annually.

Browner placed the economic value of the reduced death rate at $22 billion to $43 billion annually.

This added to potential savings in housekeeping and maintenance expenses of smokefree buildings could range from $1 billion to $10 billion annually.

"We must do something to protect our children," said Dr. C. Everett Koop, perhaps the best known former surgeon general.

"Secondhand smoke causes 100,000 lung cancer deaths annually and as many as 300,000 cases of bronchitis and pneumonia in children."

"Secondhand smoke on children. "When we smoke around our children, then our children are smoking" she said, warning that children are vulnerable to asthma, bronchial problems and the future risk of lung cancer.

The committee chairman, Rep. Henry A. Waxman, D-Calif., responded to such pleas with a bill to ban smoking inside residential buildings, regularly entered by 10 or more persons, to either ban smoking inside the building or restrict it to small rooms.

Dr. Joycelyn Elders, joined by former Surgeon General Joycelyn Elders, left, is joined by former surgeon generals as she testifies on Capitol Hill before the House Commerce Health and Environment Subcommittee on Health and the Environment which was holding hearings on the Smoke-Free Environment Act of 1993.
Shaved Cardinals slip past men's swim team

by Mark Leonard DeChant

Don't bother counseling men's swim coach Brian Gordon about his team's defeat at the hands of Ball State this weekend.

He and the rest of the Cardinals have already put the loss behind them, and have set their sights on the upcoming Mid-American Championships.

In their final tune-up before the all-important MAC meet, an unshaven, unbeaten BG squad was outpaced by the Cardinals' 153-87 Saturday at Cooper Pool.

Despite the final score's lopsided margin, Gordon said it was "closer than a 60-point meet."

"We're going to go north and south, but the important thing for us was just to learn how to win," Gordon said.

One of BG's best efforts came in the 200 medley relay with a time of 1:49.00. Ball State's relay had 2:00.31.

"I was really surprised with our medley," Gordon said. "The medley is one of our strong points this year."

The Falcons took off from the blocks with wins in the first three events: the 50 free, 100 free and 200 fly.

"I think it's a real minefield," Gordon said of the medley. "I never thought we would meet to decide if Harding remains on squad

by Andy Dugan

As the senior and captain of the women's swim team, Ball State's Josie McCulloch expected big things from herself.

McCulloch finished the dual season as the top swimmer on her career — by leading her team out with a bang. She and her teammates batted out the fastest time in the 100 free.

"I was really surprised with the time in the 100," McCulloch said. "I didn't think I had that much speed. I felt strong in the water. Looking at this meet as a whole, I'm excited about the confidence meet because we showed that we can get up and do a much better job than we have in the past this season."

McCulloch leads Falcons to victory with a time of 1.80.37. She then right back up for the third event of the meet, the 200 free, and took second behind teammate Lynne Rathbun by a touch of a second. Rathbun won with a splitting of 1.80.92.

Swimming

by Larry Edsall

Once a King, always a King.

Harding remains on squad

by Andy Dugan

As the senior and captain of the women's swim team, Ball State's Josie McCulloch expected big things from herself.

McCulloch finished the dual season as the top swimmer on her career — by leading her team out with a bang. She and her teammates batted out the fastest time in the 100 free.

"I was really surprised with the time in the 100," McCulloch said. "I didn't think I had that much speed. I felt strong in the water. Looking at this meet as a whole, I'm excited about the confidence meet because we showed that we can get up and do a much better job than we have in the past this season."

McCulloch leads Falcons to victory with a time of 1.80.37. She then right back up for the third event of the meet, the 200 free, and took second behind teammate Lynne Rathbun by a touch of a second. Rathbun won with a splitting of 1.80.92.

Moving into the 100 backstroke, BG came up with the win again when O'Rourke busted out a time of 1.00.35. McCulloch experienced her second of four victories that day in the 100 breaststroke with a time of 1.04.89.

The Falcons took off from the blocks with wins in the first three events: the 50 free, 100 free and 200 fly. O'Rourke started her only victory of the day with a 2.03.90 swim in the 50 free.

Ball State was able to slow down BG winning with wins in the next three events the 80 free, 1 meter diving, and the 100 free. O'Rourke restarted the Falcons' victory campaign when she won the 200 back with a time of 2.00.39. Followed by teammates Kerrin McCarthy in second with 2.12.21. McCulloch then reclaimed the field in the 300 breast to win with 2:30.46, fol- lowed by Al顿ie Koin in second with 2:32.90. Belinda Pilling in the 300 free, Rathbun and her Sat- urday secured second and third place for BG with times of 3:12.37 and 3:14.12.

From there on, Ball State won out until finally McCulloch swam the 1000 freestyle with a time of 10.36. She then right back up for the third event of the meet, the 200 free, and took second behind teammate Lynne Rathbun by a touch of a second. Rathbun won with a splitting of 1.80.92.

Swimming
The best AD may already be here

The job is prestigious on its own, but the AD will take on even more meaning if he leads Bowling Green to the Mid-American Conference tournament championship this season. The search has been on for almost a year, and the list of possibilities is endless.

Sports

Owen Wise

The Associated Press

Trevino's troops remain loyal

Lee Trevino was the best in not only bowling but also the sport of golf. And when he won the 1974 U.S. Open with the longest drive of his career, the famous golf course was the site of another display of his skills. One of his famous drives at the 1974 Open was 476 yards, which is one of the world's longest drives. His drive was followed by a second drive that was even longer, and he scored a birdie on both drives.

Leaves the Keys to Golf

Lee Trevino celebrates after being presented with the Royal Caribbean Trophy on Sunday at The Links Key Biscayne. The trophy is reserved for the player who wins the highest percentage of games in the season. Trevino's drive on the first hole was a mere 301 yards, but he scored a birdie on the hole.

SWIMMERS can order the three-day meeting, the 100 fly and the 400 free relay. O'Leary reflected on the outstanding season finals.

"It was great," she said. "We all came together as a team and got behind the other and we all got up for a team at the same time. I think we're going to do great at MAC.

Assistant coach Carolyn Stahl agreed that the achieving dual competition was competitive because of the team members' abilities.

"Everyone swam well," Scott said. "They were all cheering and supporting each other. For Jolene it was a great moment, winning all her events and the relay. I was just so happy to be a part of that." The Falcons now begin drop-ins and practices, so new and returning swimmers are encouraged to participate in the Conference Championships meet. The season will continue as the swimmers prepare for the Conference Championships meet on February 19th in Columbus.
Four feet of snow turns Lillehammer into ideal site for the Winter Games

Yeah, all the signs were there Monday on Lillehammer's main drag. The XVIIIth Winter Olympic Games — and the accompanying 100,000 tourists per day — are descending on this small Norwegian town.

Opening Ceremonies, there was a 20-second stretch from the first snowflake to the last. Snow, snow, and more snow. Over-priced souvenirs, from the $21 official Olympic swag to a $700 fur-lined girl's dress, p nearly 500 officially licensed items are all.

There were the omnipresent mascots, Haakon and Kristin. Locals ripped around the streets on snow sleds, an art device where the rider stands atop two connected sled runners and pushes around town.

At the babes' completion of the opening ceremonia — a little touch of Times Square — was Main Street, Lillehammer, where an advertisement showed a tensile performer Timmi Blue iteming on an electric stage.

— A 12-foot High Jumper block of snow, where visitors carved their names for posterity (or at least until spring thaw). One fan paid homage to the PVC's favorite frozen victim by etching the name of "Howard Stern" on the extra "s" on an apparent nod to his Stern's hosts.

— Compact discs by Michael and Janet Jackson for sale alongside "Vingungens Guld," a two-CD set of the greatest hits by a school-banded group dressed in the wedding band from hell.

— A countdown cake in the city's Landbary. The collection featured figures, hockey players and an Olympic runner outlined in icy and the number 5. A ski-jumping gingerbred man — his legs baked into a V-century loop — sits above in the front window.

— At the Berkelheimer Press Club, a television planted on a table played a video loop of free jumping off burning logs. Somebody seemed to mind the fake faces.

Unlike the 1992 Games in Alberville or the 1988 Games in Calgary, there is plenty of winter weather in Lillehammer: More than four feet of snow is expected at a site for the Winter Games. The atmosphere included a striking shot of snow-covered mountains and a frozen lake.

— Treks — sort of the local equivalent of skiing feet — were for Terrell Brandon. There were treks of all shapes and sizes, made of all sorts of materials, setting for all sorts of prices.

While the appearance of shock jock Stern's name on the wall was one sign that the Americans were in town, there was plenty of proof that U.S. pop culture had arrived on.

"Beavis and Butthead" — yea, they're billed the same way in Norway — are available via MTV's European arm. And a video store on the Storgata offered three choices: "Buckaroo Viggo 3" and "Nadellose Ideen.

That's "Lethal Weapon 3" and "The Unforgiven."

Uh, all the games begin.
“I had a good time tonight... let’s do it again sometime. I’ll call you.”

(yeah, right.)